A WONDERFUL GUN.

Pail the Trigger and it Fires Eight Shots in Succession. ' What is claimed to be a most remarkable weapon and one which is as great an improvement over the ordinary revolver for military purposes as was the revolver over the old-time horse-pistol, has been brought out by a Beri'z firm. The construction of this latest development in firearms manufacture is upon entirely new lines, so far as regards small arms. The cartridges, which are eight in number, are contained within a magazine in the grip. The action of the piece is so rapid that the eye cannot follow the movements, and the whole eight shots can be ared before the first shell ejected bas struck the ground.

The cartridges are brought to the front of the breech lock, when the latter is moved to the rear in opening the breech, and closing the breech places the eartridge in its proper position in t ) firing chamber. The recoil at firing drives the barrel and breech machanism to the rear, the three friction rolls of the rear link strike against the curved butt and are forced downward, the middle joint of toggle is raised and the breech block recedes, taking with it on empty shell by means of the extractor. until the ejector strikes the shell from below and throws it out, and the surplus momentum of the recoiling parts is taken up by the recoil spring against which the friction rolls impinge.

As soon as the recoil, which is so eased as to be scarcely noticeable to the hand, is spent, the spring draws the toggle link forward and downward, the breech block pushes the upper cartridge into the barrel and the firing bolt is ar-rested and held cocked by the sera.

The safety plece prevents accidents when the arm is not in action, otherwise the pistol is always cocked and ready for service.

The pistol weighs two and threequarter pounds, with a six-inch barrel, and two and four-fifths with a seven and a half inch barrel. The projectile weighs eighty-five grains and is prolected by the cartridge at about 1,200 fect per second .- Cincinnati Enquirer.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 6.

Lesson Text: "David's Love for God's House," I Chron. xxil., 6, 16-Golden Text: Paalm lxxxlv, 4 - Commentary.

6. "Then is called for Solomon, his son, and charged him to build a house for the Lord God of Israel." It is written of David that the Lord preserved him whithersoever he weat, and that he reigned over all Israel, excenting judgment and justice among all his people (I Chron, xviit. 19, 14). His hater years were given to making preparation for the teople which he desired to build for the Lord and which was built by Solomon on Mount Moriab, where Abraham offered up Israe, and which David afterward bought from Arannah or Orona the Jelusite. T. "And David said to Solomon, my son, as for me, it was in my mind to build a house unto the name of the Lord, my God." In chapter axviil, 2, he calls it, "An house of rest for the ark of the ownmant of the Lord." The ark was the symbol of the presence of God, for He told Mozes that He would meet with him and commune with him from above the merey seat, from between the cherubin, and that there He would dwell among them (Ex. xxv. 8, 29). Nathan the said, "Do all that is in thine heart, for God is with thes" (chanter xvii, 2).
8. "Thou shalt not build an house unto My name, because to David through Nathan. Compare chapter xviil, 3. There was a semonial uncleanness connected with him from booke the merey seat, from between the cherubin, and that there He would dwell among them (Ex. xxv. 8, 29). Nathan the said, "Do all that is in thine heart, for God. Is with thes" (chanter xvii, 2).

wise one wars that were about him on every side, and the temple must wait for a time of rest. The tabernacle of Moses and its lessons are very applicable to the times in which we live, while the temple of Solomon rather points to the next age, the time of earth's rest, when the true Solomon shall reign. 9. "His name shall be Solomon (penceable), and I will give peace and quietness unto lerael in his days." Thus said the Lord of him who should build the temple, cuiling him a man of rest, and saying that he should have rest from all his encentes. The other name of Solomon, Jedediah (beloved of the Lord) (H Sam, xil., 25, and margin) is also very suggestive of Him who is the true he-loved and also the Frince of Peace. "He shall bear the glory and shall sit and rale upon his throne, and he shall be a priest up-on his throne." Behold the man whose name is The Branch (Zesh, vi., 12, 13). Compare Jer. xxiit, 6, 6.

on his throne." Behold the man whose name is The Branch (Zesh. vi., 12, 13). Compare Jer. xxiii., 5, 6.
10. "He shall build an bonse for My name,
• and I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel forever." While Solomon is surely referred to in these words and in this lesson, and also the temple which he builded, we may well say in the words of our Lord, "A greater than Solomon is here" (Luke xi., 31). A throne established forever eould not be for any mortal man, but David, being a prophet, knew that God had sworn with an each to him that of the fruit of his loins, according to the flesh, He would raise up Christ to sit on His throne (Acts II., 30).
11. "Now, my son, the Lord be with thee, and prosper thou and build the house of the Lord thy God, as He bath said of thee." We come back from the prophotio and Messianio outlook to the temple theia about to be builded at Jerusaiem. The whole story of the temple and kingdom of Israel bad ooth a near and a far off fulfilment, the near be-ing partial, but the tar off being complete.

Herrick's Loye of Music. It has been remarked by Mr. Goss that Herrick "is alive as no poet before or since to the picturesquesness of dress," and the statement, though sweeping, is correct. He takes note of each fold in Julia's gown, he writes lines upon the ribbon round her walst, he describes the rustling of her walk, and is in fine as quick to perceive the beauty that lies in dress as to comprehend the splendor of a full-blown rose Music, too, did not go without appreclation from him. It would have been difficult to imagine Herrick dull to the influence of music, sithough some of our poets have been credited with inability to distinguish one tune from another. But on the other hand, there are many musical poets-Milton, Gray, Browning, and a host of others. Speak ing of Milton, reminds us that Herrick addresses one of his poems to Harry Lawes, who was the subject of one of Milton's sonnets Lawes wrote the music to "Comus," and received from the poet the praise that he "First taught our English music how to span

A Wise Word to Mothers.

When the school days are finished and the home-coming over, many girls are more or less discontended in the home because there seems no special place for them to fill. In school they have had duties and occupations, and have become accustomed to regular hours of employment. Wise is the mother who at this trying time is willing to make a place in the house for the little would-be re former, or the enthusiast who would like to put into practice some way her ideas of house keeping and home-making. Let the new ways and the new ideas be tried, and show some hospitallty to them and some sympathy to other views than your own,

A division of labors and responsibilities is a happier way of meeting the difficulty than a giving up and over of one's ideas and domain to the perhaps overzealous young woman who should have gained tact and sympathy and some knowledge of how to live happily with others if her school days have been of any value. Encourage her to use her gifts, not only in her own home, but for others. The New York Evening Post says that the girl who has plenty of room for expansion in her own home is usually the least anxious to try home-making under an other roof.

Fish Stop a Tug.

The sea tug Thomas J. Smith, of Philadelphia, was rendered almost helpless for a time the other day by getting into a tremendous school of bluefish. She could not steer, and when her propeller was worked ahead or astern, the blood of the fish slashed by its sharp blades spouted up, coloring the water all about the tug's hull. The middle of the school was held together by the outer edges pushing toward the center. As the tug got into the thickest part of the school she almost stopped, and it was impossible to handle her. Hundreds were ground up by the propellers. Suddenly, as daylight dawned, they dis-persed, and their fluttering in the water was visible for mlles.-New York Tribune.

Pistols and Pestles.

The duelling pistol now occupies its proper place, in the museum of the collector of relics of barbarism. The pistol ought to have beside it the pestle that turned out pills like builets, to be shot like bullets at the target of the liver. But the pestle is still in evidence, and will be, probably, until everybody has tested the virtue of Ayer's sugar coated pills. They treat the liver as a friend, not as an enemy. Instead of driving it, they coax it. They are compounded on the theory that the liver does its work thoroughly and faithfully under obstructing conditions, and if the obstructions are removed, the liver will do its daily duty. When your liver wants help, get "the pill that will,"
