The remains of J. J. Best, who died at Youngsville, Pa., Saturday of cancer of the stomach, were brought to this place yesterday for burial. The deceased was a brother-in-law of F. D. Hoover, of West Reynoldsville.
There is a house on Mabel street that needs close watching by the officials of this borough. One of the inmates, at least, has a reputation that is anything but creditable. Reynoldsville has no room for such characters.
Miss Mabel Strauss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Strauss, of Paradise Settlement, and Frank H. Gallagher, son of James H. Gallagher, of Dayton, Ky., were married by Rev. Loughy, at his residence in Allegheny City, Pa., on Wednesday, Sept. 9th, 1896.

One hundred hogs have died in one township, Center county, from a strange disease at first believed to be cholera. The afflicted hog gets a cold in the head, wheezes, cannot eat because of a sore throat, and in forty-eight hours dies. The carcass turns black. The disease spreads rapidly.
An exchange remarks that the man who gets the fewest letters complains the most of the postoffice; the man who complains the most of the neighbors is the meanest neighbor, and the man who has the least sense is the most condescending. It may also be added that the man who borrows his neighbors paper has the most fault to find with the way it is run.
Joseph J. Young, of Punxsutawney, ex-sheriff of Jefferson county and Democratic nominee for the general election, Nov. 3rd, 1896, was in Reynoldsville last week shaking hands with his numerous friends in this place and requesting their support and influence for re-election. His announcement will be found under the proper heading in another column of this issue.
A boy can sit still on a sleigh six inches square, tied to a sled going eight miles an hour, who couldn't sit still on a sofa for five minutes for a dollar. A man will sit on an edge of an inch board fence and talk politics for three hours. Put him in a church pew forty minutes and he gets nervous, twists, turns and goes to sleep. A man will fill his mouth with tobacco until the juice of it runs down his chin, but a hair in his butter kills him.—Ex.

Can't Help it, You Know.
Everybody concedes that Reynoldsville has the finest public school building in Western Pennsylvania.—Punxsutawney Spirit. It bears testimony for itself.

Will Join the Bryan Club.
The Populists of this place met in the Nolan block last Thursday evening and unanimously decided to join the Bryan Club of this place instead of organizing a new club.

One Less.
Mrs. Annie Harman and three children, who have been a charge on this borough for several years, were shipped to Ramsey, Ill., last week, where the woman's sister lives.

Hit With Sledge Hammer.
Frank Smith, a woodsman employed in the Degnan & McDonald camp in Beechwoods, was accidentally hit on the forehead with a sledge hammer one day last week. Smith has had a very sore head since the accident.

Draught of Fish.
E. W. McMillen, E. C. Sencor and several other gentlemen let the water out of the dam at McMillen's mill, near this place, Saturday and caught quite a nice draught of large fish. The largest one weighed twelve pounds.

Pay Your Taxes.
Everybody will want to vote this fall, and everybody who wants to vote must be qualified. Therefore pay your taxes. They must be paid at least thirty days before election, or prior to October 3. It is necessary to have paid a State or county tax within two years, and those who owe for 1895 should be sure and pay them before October 3.

Ten Dollars Short.
The amount of cash raised to put up flag pole, buy new flag and pay the necessary expenses in connection with the dedication of our new school building Sept. 4th, was $158.64. The amount of cash raised for that purpose was $148.60, which leaves the finance committee with a debt of $10.04 on their hands and no money in the treasury to pay it.

Ballot Fraud Case.
Punxsutawney's ballot fraud case will come up at this term of court. The Spirit says eighty witnesses have been or will be subpoenaed. Geo. Carter, who is charged with falsifying the returns in the spring election by reading the name Graffius for constable when the name Record appeared, and by so doing counted Record out, was placed under $600.00 bail week before last for his appearance at court.

Responded Quickley.
The clang of the fire alarm brought the lads out on quick time Friday afternoon, but they were not needed. A small son of Groceriesman J. M. Dunn had dropped a match into the wood box back of the kitchen stove, which is over the stove, and when discovered there was quite a blaze crawling up the wall and the house was full of smoke. Our firemen deserve praise for their promptness in responding to fire alarms.

Advertising Scheme.
Frank J. Black, proprietor of Hotel McConnell, who has always been noted for his liberality, is now giving the guests of his hotel one dollar for fifty cents, or its equivalent. Any one who gets a meal and gives Mr. Black one dollar, cancels the debt for the meal and gets a silver dollar in change. Or any person buying fifty cents worth of cigars, gets the cigars and a silver dollar in exchange for the dollar paid. The bright new silver dollars that Mr. Black is giving to his patrons bear the Mexican stamp.

Teachers Banquet.
Prof. G. W. Lenker, principal of our schools, gave the corps of teachers a banquet at Hotel McConnell last Friday night. The Prof. and teachers meet in the parlors of the hotel at an early hour and spent the evening pleasantly in profitable conversation until 9:30 when they were invited to the spacious dining room where a sumptuous banquet was awaiting them. Beautiful flowers were conspicuous in the dining room. At a reasonable hour the Prof. and his guests separated for their respective homes feeling better acquainted with each other and well pleased with the social evening spent together.

Change in Business.
J. C. Froehlich, merchant tailor, who has been in business in Reynoldsville six years, sold his establishment to A. Z. Snyder and J. O. Johns, two young men of Brookville, last week. The new firm will be known as Snyder & Johns. These young men understand the tailoring business, both having worked at the trade sometime, so there is no doubt but that they will keep up the reputation of the establishment they have purchased and give good satisfaction to their patrons. Mr. Froehlich is a first-class workman and also a hard worker. He has attended strictly to business during his stay in this place. He has not yet decided where he will locate in the future. He will remain in Reynoldsville several months, and perhaps longer, to get some business affairs settled. Mr. Froehlich has made many friends here who will be sorry to see him leave the place.

Gone to China.
Last Friday Wah Sing, the Chinaman who has been in the laundry business in this place about two years, went to Pittsburgh and from there he will start in a few days to China. Wah says his mother died and left him some property and he is going to his native land to look after it. The Chinese do everything backward. Their surname comes first. Wah Sing's given name is Sing, so the American way of saying it would be Sing Wah. Their compass points to the south instead of the north. The men wear skirts and the women trousers; the men wear their hair long, the women coil theirs in a knot. The dressmakers are men; the women carry burdens. White is used for mourning, and the bridesmaids wear black. Instead of being maidens, these functionaries are old women. They shake their own hands instead of the hand of the one whom they would greet. Dinners end up with fish and soup.

Struck by Lightning.
During the storm that visited this place Saturday afternoon lightning struck the residence of Joseph Hamblet, on Jackson street, and it is almost a miracle that the electric bolt did not carry death into Hamblet's family. Mrs. Hamblet was lying in the hammock on the front porch and the two children were sleeping on the floor in the parlor when the house was struck. The children both received a slight shock from the electrical bolt that ran into the room where they were sleeping. The lightning struck the chimney, ran down it and out of the stove pipe hole into the parlor, tore the paper off in two corners of the parlor, rent the front screen door in twain, left its tracks in the hall, both up and down stairs, and in the kitchen, and yet there was no serious damage done to the house. A new brussels carpet and two or three rugs in the parlor were ruined with soot.

A Nest of Gold.
Yesterday while George and John Rudolph and William Pifer were engaged in repairing the wall of a cave on the farm of Thomas Pifer, of Winslow township, they found five twenty-dollar gold pieces. They were all clean and bright. When Mr. Pifer was informed of the fact he explained how it happened. In 1887 he sold a team of fine horses receiving $520 for it. Part of the money, $160, was in gold, and the rest in paper. He placed it all in a little tin bucket and hid it in the cave. He afterwards took the paper money out and left the gold there. In 1889 the cave burned down, and Mr. Pifer had forgotten all about his gold, and never had thought of it until yesterday when the finding of the five twenties recalled the circumstances to his mind. The gold was found amongst the ashes and debris of the old cave, and a thorough search is being made for the other $60, which is supposed to be there also.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

Good Talent.
Misses Barbara Gene Waite and Roberta Ayres, of Reynoldsville, will give musical and elocutionary entertainments in the church at Eleanor on Monday evening, Sept. 21st, and in the Baptist church at Sykesville on Tuesday evening, Sept. 22nd. The entertainments will consist of some of the latest productions in both musical and elocutionary lines. Miss Waite is a graduate of the elocutionary school of Ada, Ohio, and is excellent in that line. Miss Ayres has gained quite a reputation as a singer. There is no doubt but that these two young ladies will delight the people of the above named places, or any other place where they may give their entertainments.

Two Cases of Assault.
There were two assault and battery cases tried before Squire W. L. Johnson's tribunal in West Reynoldsville last Friday forenoon, the defendants and plaintiffs being Italians, and the fracas occurred at Big Soldier on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 6th. Dominick Chiarello charged Dominick Cartardo and Frank Leo for unlawfully assaulting him with revolver and hand ax with intent to kill, and that they did injure and use him roughly. Frank Poloski brought charges against Frank Leo for assault and battery, which occurred at the same time and place where the first mentioned assault took place, Big Soldier, Sunday, Sept. 6th. The defendants in both cases have been booned over to the December term of court. It is not an unfrequent thing for the Italians to have a "loud time" at Big Soldier on Sunday. The row, of which the two assault cases are the outcome, occurred near the school house where Rev. J. C. McEntire, of West Reynoldsville, was holding religious services.

Cinder Guards.
The mail cars on the A. V. R'y have been fitted with cinder guards, an appliance which is fastened on the side of the car near the door to prevent cinders from the locomotive blowing into the eyes of the mail clerks at the satch stations. The guard is made of heavy tin with a square of heavy glass in the center, through which the postal clerk can look without danger of having his eyes filled with cinders.
