A defluite idea of the increased interest in bicycling all over the country is obtained by noting the increase in the applications at Washington for patents on bicycles and bicycle parts. In 1894 there were about two hundred cases awaiting action in the division in which bicycles are classed. There are now some 1,100 cases awaiting action, and the work is three months behind. During the last few months the weekly issue of patents has been about four hundred and fifty ; twenty-five of these were for bicycles and bicycle parts: the greatest number for tires, to which inventors are just now devoting their attention. To the layman the issuing of twenty-five patents weekly for bievcles and bicycle parts may not seem a great number; how great it is one can understand only by comparing this issue with the issues for other patents. To twenty-five patents for bicles and bicycle parts there are issued five for engines, twelve for electrical apparatus, four for elevators, eleven for farm implements, for four sewing machines, five for car fenders, seven for wagons, etc.

The Atlantic Journal says: In 1867 George Peabody died, leaving $2,000,-000 for the cause of common school education in the South. The fund has been admirably managed, and the good that has been accomplished by it would be hard to estimate. Undoubtedly it has been very great, especially as the South began to enjoy the benefits of Mr. Peabody's gift at a period when it was first beginning to recover from the ravages of war. During the past twenty-eight years over $2,000,000 has been received by southern schools as the income from the Peabody fund. The administration of the fund has always been in the hands of able and distinguished men. There have been among the trustees of the Peabody fund at different times three presidents of the United States, two chief justices of the supreme court, several distinguished state judges, famous military men of both the Union and Confederate armies, congressmen, cabinet ministers, bishops, financiers like Drexel and Morgan, popular heroes like Grant and Farragut, educators like Mr. Winthrop, Dr. Mayo, and President Gilman of Johns Hopkins. Dr. J. L. M. Currie of Virginia, who has been the general agent of the Peabody fund for many years, with the exception of the time when he was Minister to Spain under President Cleveland's first administration, is preparing a complete history of the work of education in the South which has been accomplished through this has been accomplished through this great enterprise. It will be a very valuable book and will probably in-duce other men of means to make liberal contributions to the cause of education. At the close of next year the original $2,000,000 donated by Mr. Pesbody is to be distributed among such educational agencies and institu-tions in the Sonth as shall be desig-nated by two-thirds of the trustees of the inud. This is in accordance with the terms of the gift.

Through the Air. The first free teat of Octave Chanuth Alba-tross soaring machine, invented and con-structed by William Paul, was made at Mil-lers, Ind., under favorable conditions. While the machine was heavily loaded with builast so as to prevent if from flying any great dis-tance, was anchored by four ropes each 200 feet long, the three points which the trial was to decide-first, as to whether it would leave the chute evenly, second, whether it would right itself in the air, and third, whether when it commenced to descend it would move downward slowly and alight easily, were all determined in a manner gratifying both to its inventor and owner. The flight was less than 100 feet, but the descent and Lasi alighting on the sand were as graterial and even as those of the bird from which the machine was patterned. The trial proved that the machine is perfectly safe, a proof which was the more acceptable inasenuch as it has been asserted that the machine was dangerous and that an attempt to fly it would be sure to result in the death of the operator. of the operator.

The French public ridicule the whole story of the existence of a dynamite conspiracy, which they declare is an English political trick intended to inter-fere with the proposed visit to France of the an angular pointeal trick intended to infor-fere with the proposed visit to France of the Crar. The French cabinet gives so little credence to the English police officials' story of a dynamite conspiracy that it will prob-ably roluse to grant the request for Tynan's extradition.

Electricity for Cleaning Wells.

Electricity for Cleaning Wells. The new electric appliance to clean paraf-fine out of clogged oil wells was successfully tried at Butler, Pa., by F. A. Flanagan, of Washington, D. C. The apparatus consists of a cartridge or heater 4 feet long and 215 inches in diameter over which is a galvanized iron jacket which atmost fills the casing. The re-mainder of the outfit consists of a reel of in-sulated cable, a Crocker-Wheeler dynamo of 125 volts and a small engine, all of which can be mounted on the ordinary teamster's wagon and hauled to any point in the oil held with a single team of horses. The first and very successful experiment was made on the Powel Ash farm, in Forward township

Restores the Dead to Life.

William Young, an iron worker of Youngs-town, O., claims to have discovered a pro-cess by which he can restore life to persons who have been drowned. He has been making experiments with rats and cats by placing them in a rain barret until appar-ently dead, and then bringing them to life. The preparation is a secret, which Young claims he discovered in making experiments.
