Giovanni Pravosto, an Italian who was employed as a coal miner at Crenshaw, ended his life one day last week by drinking carbolic acid in mistake for whiskey. A number of the licks had been drinking freely of the cup that intoxicates and in their hilarious condition one of the party received a bullet in his left shoulder either by accident or otherwise. A doctor was called who had a three pint bottle of carbolic acid with him from which he poured a few drops into a basin of water to cleanse the wound, and while the doctor had his back turned the intoxicated Italian took a hasty pull at the contents of the bottle. Giovanni, who had swallowed about four ounces of the acid, died soon afterwards, although the doctor hastily applied the proper antidotes.

Played a Joke on Their Sister.
The boys in a good family near Allens Mills decided to have some sport last Friday night by arranging sleigh bells, cow bells, tin pails, and a number of other noise-producing articles in the hall of their home so that when their sister and her beau opened the front door there would be racket enough to frighten a yellow cat into fits. In the mean time a big storm came up and while the lightning flashed and the thunder rolled the lad and lassie opened the door that had a whole calithumpian band hitched thereto. Shades of darkness! Such a racket! The young couple who had set off the trap and the older members of the household, who knew nothing of the joke, thought lightning had struck the house, sure pop.

London Reunion.

For several weeks before she died was not able to talk much and about the only thing she said that could be understood was "Thursday." This she repeatedly uttered. The mortal remains of this widow and mother were taken to the Catholic church Sunday morning and after the services there were buried in the Catholic cemetery. Ellen Tigue, was born in County Roscommon, Ireland, in 1826. Came to America when twenty years old and after two years stay in Baltimore, Md., moved to Pittsburg where she met Patrick Walsh and was married to him April 25th, 1849. May 27, 1857, while in Philadelphia buying goods Mr. Walsh died suddenly of heart trouble, and Mrs. Walsh was left a widow. Eight children had been born unto this couple but four of them, three girls and one boy, preceded their father to the eternal shores. A boy and girl of the four who died were twins. Mrs. Walsh and her four sons moved to Reynoldsville in 1875, where she ever afterwards resided. She was a loving mother, kind neighbor and a patient sufferer. The four sons who survive her are: Edward M., Miles H., proprietor of Burns House, Patrick T., Main street grocer, and Joseph A. Walsh, of Pittsburg.

AN EXCELLENT HOTEL.
Frank J. Black has had Decided Improvements Made in Hotel McConnell.
Last Saturday morning the scribe of this paper, while meandering for news, stepped into the spacious new office of Hotel McConnell to wait until a very wet shower passed by. Frank J. Black, the genial proprietor, was in the office and kindly offered to show the pencil pusher through his large and popular hotel, in which he has made some decided improvements. An addition of 22x36 feet has been built on to the front of the hotel, giving it a Main street frontage of 90 feet. The office has been enlarged and is now the largest hotel office in this section of the country. A costly and pretty cherry and maple counter, with a French plate glass show case in one end of it, is one of the conspicuous improvements in the office. An umbrella and over-shoe cabinet, of Mr. Black's own device, occupies a place back of the counter and the coat room is in the rear of the office. The office and writing room are finished in oak. The entire hotel has been repapered and repainted from top to bottom. As Mine Host Black has a keen eye for pretty things it is hardly necessary to add that the walls and ceilings of halls, offices, dining room, parlors and bed rooms are adorned with the prettiest and latest patterns of paper, and new carpets and linoleums cover the floors. This hostelry now has thirty-five neat, clean and well furnished bed rooms for the exclusive use of guests. Another sample room has been fitted up which gives the hotel three sample rooms. Some time ago Hotel McConnell was supplied with all the modern improvements, steam heat, gas lights, closets, &c., and with the improvements just completed Mr. Black, who has proven himself to be an up-to-date hotel man, now has one of the finest and most convenient hotels in this section.

The billiard room, in connection with the hotel, is being remodeled and will be ready to open about the first of October.

Barnum and Bailey Excursion.
All railroads recognizing the importance of Barnum & Bailey's Circus will place extra trains in service and offer special low rates, in most instances including admission to the show, when the "Greatest on Earth" visits DuBois, Sept. 28th.
The Barnum & Bailey enterprise, the biggest and grandest of its kind in all the world, offers a great many novel features this year, original and unique, including two female clowns. There are 50 horses trained to perform almost incredible feats, the whole number appearing in one ring at one time, besides 24 elephants, which occupy three rings, eight in each one at the same moment. In the double menageria tent is one of the most delightful entertainments ever dreamed of, consisting of a whole lot of curious East Indian natives girl and boy dancers, families of Singhalese and others, who give characteristic exhibitions of their home life and occupations. To faithfully portray this, Buddhist temples, native weapons, utensils, implements, musical instruments and the many huts and houses of the natives are used, and the whole exhibition, which is called Oriental India, is of the kind to please, instruct and interest everyone. Three rings, three stages, and a racing track will be used this season to show the 100 circus, aerial, acrobatic, gymnastic, and hippodromatic acts, feats, and performances, and there are besides more objects of interest in the 50 cages of wild beasts, Johanna, the gorilla, the dens of performing animals, and the curious natives. The big show is larger this year than ever, contains more meritorious attractions than were ever before presented, requires more cars to transport it than any other show owns, while its street parade is not only the largest, but the most magnificent.

Communicated.
MR. EDITOR:—Have we any borough ordinance regulating the too fast speeding of bicycles through our principal streets? If so it should be enforced before some innocent party loses their life or receives lasting injury. A few evenings since a little daughter of Mr. Dennis Bolger in crossing Main st. was run into by some scapegrace, thrown down and quite severely injured. This person showed a brutish recklessness of disposition by speeding away without stopping to inquire the extent of the child's injuries. Such reckless indifference bodes ill to public safety, and should not be tolerated. It requires some skill to cross Main street in safety.
