"A word to the wise is sufficient." We will here say that if you are wise you will call early at Deemer's Saturday, Oct. 10th, the day of their wrap opening, thereby avoiding the crowd they always have later in the day.

Esq. M. M. Davis and wife drove to Brookville Thursday to attend the fair. Their horse got sick after they reached Brookville and they had to return home in the train. The animal was well enough to drive home the next day.

At a conference held in Lindsey on Thursday of last week, the Populists of the 37th Senatorial District, which is composed of Jefferson and Indiana counties, nominated Thos. R. Holt, of Stanton, Jefferson Co., Pa., for State Senator.

A number of Reynoldsville ladies went to the Brookville fair last Thursday, carrying boxes well filled with good things to eat, and were met there by ladies from New Bethlehem, Brookville and Driftwood and they held a little picnic on the fair grounds at noon.

There was one notable feature of the Brookville fair last week and that was the absence of gambling schemes. The fair was well attended Thursday but the attendance was small the other three days, and it is doubtful if the association realized enough out of the fair to pay the expenses of the same.

The following ladies of New Bethlehem were guests of Mrs. George Mollinger in this place last Thursday night and Friday: Mrs. Dr. J. A. Wick, Mrs. Dr. Geo. H. Wood, Mrs. J. B. Thompson, Mrs. S. B. Corbett, Mrs. J. B. Anderson, Mrs. S. Taylor Shaffer, Mrs. J. R. Foster and Mrs. Will Andrews.

The A. V. R'y Co. is putting in weigh scales at the Dixon Switch, near Falls Creek. Clarence Henry, of Hamilton, Pa., who was elected by the Winslow township school board as teacher of the Sandy Valley school, resigned that school to accept a similar position nearer his home, and the directors had to elect another teacher last Saturday. Milton Demsey, of West Reynoldsville, was elected to teach the Sandy Valley school.

Misses Roberta Ayres and Barbara Gene Waite gave a musical and elocutionary entertainment in the Baptist church in Sykesville Tuesday evening of last week. The entertainment was greeted with a good sized crowd, considering the inclement weather, and was well received by those who did attend. These young ladies give a good entertainment.

A large covered wagon with four horses attached thereto, stopped on Fourth street, in front of Hotel Belnap, Friday evening, where it remained until Sunday. The wagon contained a petri-fied body and a wax figure of Sitting Bull. A would-be-funny negro was along to hold the crowd and those who wanted to see the curiosities in the wagon paid a nickle and took a look.

Mrs. Thomas Brink, whose maiden name was Emma Solida, died at the home of her mother on Worth street on Wednesday evening of consumption. The man died several hours afterwards. The remains were identified as those of Adam Saunders, of Marietta, Lancaster Co., Pa.

Home From Europe.

Hon. S. B. Elliott returned yesterday afternoon from a three months' trip through England, Scotland, Ireland and Switzerland.

Caught Between Two Logs.

Charles Kreider, a woodsman who is employed in Degnan & McDonald's Beechwoods camp, had his right knee badly injured last Friday forenoon by being caught between two logs.

Caught a Porcupine.

As John L. Brennan, who has a lumber camp several miles south of Reynoldsville, was coming into town Saturday he found a porcupine waddling along near the public road and caught it alive and brought it into town.

Won the Championship.

Harry Copping, of this place, did some fast bicycle riding at the Brookville and Clearfield fairs last week. In the "one mile open" bicycle race at Brookville Wednesday afternoon he won third prize. At Clearfield on Thursday he won the "Central Pennsylvania District Championship," also first prize in a "one-fourth mile dash" and second prize in a "half mile open."

Collision on Main St.

Monday evening Frank Sutter and Harry Bryan, who were driving in opposite directions, in buggies, had a collision near the Presbyterian church. The front wheel of Sutter's buggy was a complete wreck and four or five spokes were knocked out of the hind wheel of Bryan's buggy. It was very dark where the accident happened and the drivers thought they were out of each other's way.

Rev. Metzenthin Resigns.

Rev. Paul W. Metzenthin, who has been preaching in the Trinity Lutheran church at this place about two years, and who was installed regular pastor of the church fifteen months ago, tendered his resignation to his congregation last Sunday, to take effect within three months. Rev. Metzenthin has five or six places from which to select a new pastor, but at present he has not fully decided where he will locate.

Human Pin Cushion.

A young man who is no "slouch" as a contentionsist gave exhibitions on Main street Saturday afternoon and evening. Besides the contortion tricks he claimed to be a human pin cushion and allowed bystanders to stick pins into him. He put the back of his neck on to one chair, his feet on another chair and while stretched in that position had a large rock placed on his breast and broken there with a sledge hammer by Frank Sutter. The performances were free, but he always passed the hat and whenever he gave notice that he would take up a collection the crowd soon began getting small.

Admitted to the Bar.

Smith M. McCright, son of Thos. McCright, one of Winslow township's most successful farmers, was admitted to the Jefferson county bar last Thursday as a full fledged lawyer. Smith is a bright and studious young man, one whom we believe will be a credit to the profession he has chosen. He graduated at the Grove City College in the class of '93. He entered the law offices of Carmalt & Strong in Brookville two years ago as a law student and applied himself strictly to the work before him and as a result he passed a good examination and has been granted the privilege of being a practitioner in the courts of this county.

Changed His Mind.

About the 19th inst. a fellow named Shugarts applied to the poor overseers of West Reynoldsville borough for support. The overseers took charge of him and on investigation found that the man belonged to the Lindsey borough, Jefferson county, and the overseers of that borough were notified of what had been done and where they would find their man. Saturday W. B. Sutter, poor overseer of Lindsey, came over to see about Shugarts and to pay what was due the West Reynoldsville borough. When notified that he would be sent to the Clearfield poorhouse if the Lindsey poor overseers had to keep him, Shugarts informed Mr. Sutter that he could get along without aid from that borough.

Dogs Create Excitement.

James Cox, of Washington township, who owns a ferocious bull dog, was in Reynoldsville last Wednesday afternoon and the dog was with him. Jim and his dog were at Hartman's blacksmith shop when Morris Huth, brother of Huth, the baker, passed the shop and Jim hissed his dog on to the baker's spaniel dog. The bull dog grabbed the spaniel by the throat and would have soon sent him to "dogland" had it not been that they were separated. An attempt was made to "slug" the bull dog in the head with a sledge hammer. Being unsuccessful in that Morris Huth went into the bakery and got a revolver and returned to the street and shot four times at the dog, but failed to kill him. One shot entered the dog's side and another caught him on a front leg. Morris was somewhat excited and the dog kept close to its master, therefore, it is a wonder some of the shots did not lodge in Jim's body.

Work Increasing.

In some sections of the country tanneries are shutting down and others are reducing the forces about one-half. We are glad to note that such is not the case at the tannery in West Reynoldsville, but it is just the opposite. Up until last week the tannery was working 368 sides daily when it was increased to 496 sides daily, with good prospects for a continuance of that number of sides. One reason for the increased work at this place and why it is likely to continue is because they turn out better leather than any other tannery in this section, which is to the credit of those who have charge of the Reynoldsville tannery.

Our Columns Are Open.

There are very few people, if any, who are not interested in the political questions of the day and are eager to read up on them, but as THE STAR is independent we cannot take sides in the matter. We have, however, decided to open our columns to any of our readers who wish to express their opinions on the money questions from now until election day. This privilege is granted to all, but we cannot devote more than two columns each week to this department.

Contributors must avoid any personal remarks, as all such matter will be consigned to the waste basket. Writer's name must accompany all communications. We ask that you be as brief as possible, write on only one side of the paper, and have copy in not later than Saturday noon.

Ab. Reynolds' New Ordinance.

Albert Reynolds, who is a member of the Reynoldsville town council, while talking Saturday about the ordinance forbidding the shooting of firearms in the borough, said he thought there should be an ordinance passed making it unlawful for lightning to strike anywhere within the borough limits, as an electric bolt makes more noise than the crack of a revolver and is likely to do more damage. Ab. is thinking of framing an ordinance of the above nature to present to council. Any person well acquainted with Mr. Reynolds, knows that if it were possible to provide some way whereby he could feel perfectly safe from lightning during a storm, that he would gladly aid in providing for it.

Church Notices.

Under this heading will be found the subjects and texts of the pastors of the various churches of Reynoldsville for the following Sunday:

TRINITY LUTHERAN.
Rev. Rosenbaum, of DuBois, will preach in the Trinity Lutheran church at 3:00 P. M. next Sunday, Oct. 4th, and on the following Sunday, Oct. 11th, Rev. Ekblad, of DuBois, will preach at the same hour. On the two Sundays mentioned Sunday school will be held at 2:00 P. M.

Bride is Known Here.

Miss Panzy Woodward, of New Bethlehem, who is well known in Reynoldsville, having visited her brother, A. M. Woodward, in this place frequently, was married at the home of her father, A. Woodward, in New Bethlehem, on Tuesday morning of last week to Sam'l E. McDonald, a business man of Clearfield. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald will move to Washington, D. C., Mr. McDonald having disposed of his business in Clearfield.

An Explanation.

The Reynoldsville papers run church notices. This week only one minister makes use of them. Are the other preachers out of town enjoying themselves, sick in bed, or too indifferent to announce their services?—DuBois Express.

Two of our churches are at present without pastors, one preacher was out of town and one pastor never announces his subject. See! Is that satisfactory?

Improvements at London Mines.

The Jefferson & Clearfield coal mining company are making extensive improvements at London mine. The coal has been hauled out by a small engine, but a rope haulage system will be introduced in the near future. A side track five hundred feet in length near the face of the coal is being made which will hold fifty loaded cars.—DuBois Express.

A very small lad came into THE STAR office Saturday morning and hinted thusly for a penny: "Do you remember that 'all day sucker' I had yesterday?" When answered in the affirmative he said: "I didn't have one to-day."

AUTUMN ARBOR DAY.

To Directors, Superintendents, Teachers and Pupils of Pennsylvania.

It is characteristic of civilized man to prepare for the remote future. This is one of the most striking differences between him and the barbarian, who lives only for the present. In the struggle for supremacy civilization has won because it anticipated the future and met its events as they appeared.

It is a function of our public schools to train pupils to lead in such movements as will best perpetuate the state. For this reason, each succeeding autumn you, the pupils, are enjoined by public proclamation to turn aside for one day and consider the relations which the woodlands of the commonwealth will have to your prosperity when you are citizens and rulers of the state. For this you are asked to encourage, by your example, the planting of trees, which will grow into a source of wealth and power. Thus you may transmit influences for good, not only to the next generation, but those which succeed it.

A waste acre which produces nothing is a reproach to any country, as a wasted life is to him who has led it. Therefore, lend the weight of your character and example to the public duty of covering the barren hills and mountain-tops of the state with trees, whose leaves will distill moisture into the air, whose trunks and bark will furnish material for our industries, and whose roots will aid in producing fresh soil to replace that which is washed from our fields, down the streams and rivers into the ocean.

If you, in your day and generation, fail to do this, the order of nature will be violated and a penalty will inevitably be invited upon the land for whose prosperity you will be responsible.

The abundance, in future, of the matured fruit of orchards, forests and fields, will be in proportion to your individual activity in tree planting and in forest restoration.

Trees may be planted both in the spring and in the fall of the year. In accordance with a time-honored custom, I appoint Friday, October 23, 1896, as Autumn Arbor Day, and earnestly urge directors, superintendents, teachers and pupils to observe the day with appropriate exercises, both by planting of trees and by the dissemination of information on the growth and care of trees and their value to present and future generations. NATHAN C. SHAFER, Supt. Pub. Instruction.

Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, September 15, 1896.

Song of Swelled Head.

Sing a song of swelled head, a fellow full of gin, coming home at 4 A. M., his wife won't let him in.

His feet are full of tangle-foot, his head is full of wheels; the keyhole runs around the knob; he a funny feeling feels.

He puts his feet upon the porch, his head upon the ground, and all the time within his "mug" the wheels are going round.

He thinks that he is sober and every one is tight, and he thinks he's in his bedroom, instead of out all night.

He thinks the moon's a dollar and will buy a dozen drinks, and various other minor thoughts he thinks and thinks and thinks.

But when the morning cometh, and it cometh soon at that, he looks around and murmurs, "Great snakes! where am I at?"—Ex.

The Mines Running Steadily.

Last week the force of miners at the Brock mines was increased to about 100. Previous to that about 80 diggers were employed. Including outside men the total force at the Brock is now 125. The mines are running every day, and about fourteen cars are loaded daily.

The equipment of the plant has also been improved and increased during the past two weeks. A new electric dynamo of 75 horse power has replaced the one of 30 horse power hitherto in use. This gives a lot more power and another motor has been placed on the tram road from the drift mouth to the tipple and chutes. This addition was necessary to handle the increased output with the larger force.—Brookwayville Record.

Brown Autumn.

We come again to the time when the season makes a noticeable change. From this date on till the snow flies we call it autumn. The days and nights now become equal in length, and henceforward, till the vernal equinox, we shall have that period, so much enjoyed, when the evenings are long and the people have more time to cultivate the social and domestic amenities. Brown autumn is just at hand, a part of the year which frequently in this latitude proves to be the most delightful in the whole circuit of the seasons.
