REALM OF STYLE.

A MIRROR OF FASHION FOR DRESSY WOMEN.

New York's "Matinee Girl"-Her Fads and Foibles-Gowns Seen at the Bazaar of the Red Cross Society.

(Special New York Letter.) THAT would New York be without its matince? And what would a matinee be without the matinee girl? Armed with her opera glasses, her bon-bon box and bunch of violets, she can make most anything, if she be bright and pretty. For she is a merry, winsome, saucy and audacious little sinner, with a world of subtle plans blossoming under the sunshine of her fluffy bang. She is going to outdo all the other matinee girls or die, and, when her aim is conquest, those of the masculine persuasion might as well give up the fight. Being a woman myself, the study of the matinee girl species of my sex has been a keen and interesting pleasure. Not that I have any curiosity about her, you understand, nor about anything else, so far as that is concerned ! Miss Matinee Blossom's programme for a Saturday afternoon is a varied one. It usually starts with a curtain raiser in the shape of a luncheon at one of the popular luncheon resorts in the neighborhood of Twenty-third street. After this comes a promenade intermission just long enough for a jaunt to the confectioner to have the bon-bon box filled, and then the hurry and flurry to reach the theatre in time to have five or ten minutes in the foyer in which to gossip with the other mat-inee girls, show off pretty tailor-made costumes and criticise those that are not strictly "en regle." At last the play begins-and so do the praises and criticisms. If a popular actorthat is, if he be handsome, which is the height of popularity in the mat ince girl's eyes-is in the cast, praise predominate, and woe betide th and then a little more gossip, consid-crable more criticism and final y the promenade up and down Fifth avenue the glass of soda water and a chat with the young men who, knowing the habits of these coquettish maidens, never fail to make a call at the confectioners about this time every matince day.

Last Saturday, however, there was a change in the programme, for instead of pursning the uninterrupted promenade the matinee girl stopped at Waldorf to take a peep at the dainty noveltics on exhibition at the fair given by the Red Cross Society in the beautiful ball rooms of this hotel. The bazaar was managed by mem bers of New York's "Four Hundred ;" consequently the gowns were beauti-ful and interesting. Mrs. George F. Shrady, the wite of one of Gotham's most noted physicians, wore a very opalline passmenterie, was cut away in picturesque lines and showed a full front of opal green velvet jeweled with real opals until it looked almost Oriental in its vivid colorings. The close-fitting collar fastened with a claspl of exquisite Eastern opals, showing splendid restless fires within their glowing passionate hearts. A similar beautiful clasp fastened the belt, and on the cuffs there were lovely opal buttons in the form of buckles.

A small gathered opal velvet turban was worn with this artistic gown, and the whole effect was charming in the extreme.

Let me tell you of a dainty bit of headgear I saw at the fair. The crown is that of a liliputian Napoleon hat, trimmed at the back with two immense bunches of velvet dahlias. A large bow of green velvet much on the Alsatian order spreads its loops across the front and one large plume sur rounded at the base by several small ones completed the garniture. The short collarette worn with this hat was made of rose-colored cloth embroidered with heavy black braid and edged with a flounce of plaited black chiffon over rose-colored taffeta. One of my matinee girls was as chie as possible in a smart tailor-made frock of black broadcloth made perfectly plain, save for the numerous rows of fine statching, that showed the tailor's art off to advantage. Her hat was made of dark Empire green velvet, trimmed with an immense bunch of red roses resting upon her hair in the back and a couple of rich, dark plumes on the left side of the brim.

Another stunning girl wore a jacket of stem green cloth, braided with black cord and finished with an edging of Persian lamb ; her companion was radiant in the janutiest of English walking coats, made of tan Kersey and finished with large carved pearl buttons. The costumes illustrated herewith were designed by the National Cloak Co., of New York.

The World's Largest Tree.

The largest tree in the world lies broken and petrified at the end of a defile in Northwestern Nevada. Its dimensions are so great that those who know of its existence hesitate to tell the story because they hardly expect to be believed ; but there is sufficient evidence to give the tale credit, im-probable though it may seem.

This tree makes the monarchs of the Mariposa Grove seem like imposters, and, compared to it. "the tallest pine grown on Norwegian hills to be the mast of some great admiral" is but a wand. As for the story of its dis-covery, it is thus told by "Dad" Lynn, of Fresno, and supported by other equally well known people: "Back in 1866 a company of about forty-five left Rod Bluff to prospect the then unknown country beyond Honey Lake and Surprise Valley. There were in the party lawyers, butchers and shoemakers, but we were one-sided on one point-each individual felt positive that this was the turn ing point of his existence, and that bright, shining gold in unlimited quantities would reward the rather unpleasant jaunt.

"The Indians-we call them Ban nocks-were at that time raising hair, and very many sudden moves were a times necessary in order to get rid of their unwelcome attentions. Finding but little gold in this section, we traveled toward Baker County, Orea country enti through nuded of timber, except a few dwarf cottonwoods along the waterways. Close to the Baker County line we came to an opening in the rocks, about wide enough for our wagons to go through, and on either side loomed precipices 500 and 600 feet high. The crevasse was about fifteen miles long, and at its end. just to the right of the trail we found a number of petrified stumps of different heights and sizes. "In their midst on the ground lay a monster tree, somewhat imbedded in the soil. It was completely petrified, and from the clean cut fractures of the trunk seemed to have fallen after after petrification. At its butt this tree was quite sixty feet in diameter. We measured its length with a tape line. It was just 666 feet long. No limbs remained, but in the trunk were clefts where apparently limbs had broken off. Amber-like beads of pet-rified pitch or gum adhered to the sides of the trauk for a distance of 100 feet or more. "Where the huge trank was broken squarely off the centre seemed transparent, and the growth marks showed in beautiful concentrie rings. Its nat-ural appearance was handsomer than any dressed marble or mosaic I have ever seen, and we all expressed the opinion that it would make a wonder-fully beautiful floor and interior finish for some grand building."-Mineral Collector.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-lour hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compalled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. ## CURE THAT COLDI

An Old Physician Gives Some Timely Advice.

A cold in the head is regarded as such a simple matter that few people pay any attention to it. The majority of cases recover entirely from the effects of a cold in a few weeks at most, and thus confirm the general against the devil, no matter how things | idea that a cold amounts to very little. But there are a great number of apparently trivial colds that do not disappear. The cold lingers week after weak, and the patient finally discovers to his horror that he has chronic catarrh. This state of things could easily have been prevented by taking a few doses of Pe-ru-na when the cold was contracted. Po-ru-na invariably cures colds in a few days and saves incalculable suffering. No one should neglect to keep Pe-ru-na constantly in the house during the winter, as its value in entarrhal affections is certain.
