Supper was served at one of the hotels. There were a number of former residents of Reynoldsville, who reside elsewhere now, present.

It was stated in THE STAR last week that Judge Reed had granted H. S. Belnap wholesale liquor license. Mr. Belnap's license was only extended to April 1st, 1897, to enable him to dispose of what goods he has on hand. Some people censured Judge Reed for refusing this license and afterwards granting it, as the general impression was that it was granted for another year. The above will show that Judge Reed was not deserving of the censure given him.

A large crowd attended the old fashioned party, with new fangled ideas, in the Reynolds block last Thursday evening. Both large rooms on the second floor were used to "trip the light fantastic" in, the one room not being large enough to accommodate all who wanted to whirl in the mazy dance. Sometime during the night there was such a large crowd in the room over Milliren's clothing store that the steel ceiling gave way enough to break two pieces of steel moulding off the ceiling in about the middle of the store room.

Farmer's institute held at Allens Mills last Thursday and Friday was a grand success. R. F. Morrison, who was general manager of the institute, and the others who assisted in the matter, are to be congratulated on the successful meeting. The State officials present were so well pleased with the institute that it was settled then and there that Allens Mills could have the institute next year again. Every session was well attended, but on Thursday evening the crowd was so large that even standing room was at par. The program, which was published in THE STAR several weeks ago, was carried out just about as published.

MET A HORRIBLE DEATH.

Jos. Flynn Fell Into a Boiling Hot Dye Vat—Died Five Hours Afterwards.

Jos. Flynn, who would have been twenty-one years old in June, met with a horrible death on Friday last, February 26th. He was employed as dyer in the Reynoldsville Woolen Mill on Jackson street, and about 11:30 A. M. he accidentally fell into a boiling hot dye vat and was so terrible scalded that death ensued at 4:30 P. M., five hours after the death-dealing bath. His entire body, with the exception of head and face, was badly scalded and in removing his clothing great pieces of skin peeled off his body. Joseph was alone when the accident happened and his agonizing and awful shrieks attracted the attention of other employees of the mill, but he got out of the vat himself and ran out of the building, two or three hundred feet away from the mill and back again before any one knew what was the matter with him. He screamed as he ran. He was taken to his home on Hill street and everything possible done to alleviate the pain and save his life, but the body was too badly burned for the doctors to save the life that was so near manhood's estate. He was conscious until his eyes closed in death.

Joseph Flynn was the son of James Flynn. He was born and raised in Reynoldsville and had a host of friends in the place. High Mass was said over his remains in the Catholic church at 10:30 A. M. Sunday by Father Brady. His remains were buried in the Catholic cemetery beside his mother, who departed this life eight years ago.

This is another evidence of the uncertainty of life. This young man went to his work in the morning full of vigor and young manhood, never dreaming of how near his life was at an end, and at noon he was carried home to suffer awful agony for four or five hours and then cross the border line between time and eternity.

"Big Breeze" By Some Person.

Squire John T. Coax, of Reynoldsville, celebrated his 80th birthday on Saturday. He was born in Columbia county and moved to Clarion county in 1870. He was a former student of Ex-Gov. A. G. Curtin, of Bellefonte. He has been the father of 10 daughters and 6 sons. Of these, 7 daughters and 5 sons, all now of mature age, are living. All but one, a daughter, who resides at Scranton, were present at the re-union held on Saturday. Many other relatives and friends to the number of upwards of 300 were present and enjoyed the occasion.—DuBois Courier March 1st.

Some person has given the Courier a "big breeze" as there are only two true statements in the above clipping, and they are that Squire Coax was born in Columbia county and has seven daughters living. He did not have a birthday party on Saturday last, but there was a family reunion at his home on the 3rd of last December, the occasion of his 69th birthday. He moved to Clarion county in the forties; was never a student of Ex-Gov. Curtin, he is the father of nine daughters and five sons, two daughters and one son are dead. He was 69 years old last December, eleven years younger than the Courier's statement makes him.

Mrs. Sarah J. McClelland.

Mrs. Sarah J. McClelland, whose maiden name was Smith, who died on the 23rd of February, mention of which was made in THE STAR last week, was born in the State of Indiana. Her parents moved to Maryland when she was a baby. When she was seven years old her parents moved into the Beechwoods, in this county. The trip was made from Maryland on horseback and in wagons. Sarah's mother rode all the way horseback and carried a small baby in her arms, while Sarah rode in a wagon and took care of two children younger than herself. In the spring of 1845 she was married to John McClelland, who died in October, 1892. In 1846 Mrs. McClelland joined the Beechwoods Presbyterian church and was faithful to its ordinances until death—which was about 51 years. The deceased was 70 years old. She was the mother of three boys and one daughter. One of the boys has passed into the Great Beyond, another one lives at Falls Creek and one in DuBois. The daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hutchison, lives in this place. Mrs. McClelland had lived in the Beechwoods 63 years, and was one of the old settlers of that section.

Marrned on the Quiet.

Edward Leason Johnston, son of Squire W. L. Johnston of West Reynoldsville, and Miss Sarah Rebecca Reitz, daughter of Amos Reitz, proprietor of the West Reynoldsville Meat Market, were quietly married at the M. E. parsonage in Emerickville about one month ago by Rev. J. G. Harshaw. Mr. Johnston and Miss Reitz drove to Brookville one evening to attend an entertainment, and on their way to the county seat stopped at the Emerickville parsonage and Rev. Harshaw was then at the church conducting services. They left word for him that they would stop on their way home from Brookville and that they wanted him to be ready to tie the nuptial knot for them.

Child Burned.

A little Poland girl at Big Soldier, aged two years and a half, was badly burned last Wednesday. The little tot was playing around an open front stove and her clothing caught fire. Her legs and stomach were severely burned before the frantic mother succeeded in rescuing her daughter from the fire fiend. The girl is getting along nicely.

OUR NEW MAYOR.

H. Alex. Stoke Took the Oath of Office Last Wednesday.

H. Alex. Stoke, the druggist, who was elected mayor of Reynoldsville on the 16th of last month, was inaugurated last Wednesday and is now the chief magistrate of this municipality. Squire John M. Hays administered the oath of office. Mr. Stoke, who is an enterprising and successful business man, is well known and highly respected in this community, where he has lived over a score of years. Mr. Stoke moved from Brookville to Reynoldsville with his parents in 1874. He entered the drug store of Himes & Aberg the same year to learn the drug business. He remained with that firm until P. F. Flynn became a partner. He remained with Himes & Flynn until that firm was succeeded by P. F. Flynn and then remained with Mr. Flynn until 1880, when he accepted a good position in a drug store in Salamanca, N. Y. In 1882 Mr. Stoke returned to this place and he and F. A. McConnell bought the P. F. Flynn drug store and did business in the room now occupied by N. Hannau. In 1885 Mr. Stoke bought Mr. McConnell's interest. In 1889 he moved his store into the Degnan & McDonald brick block. In 1892 began the erection of the three story brick he now occupies and owns. In 1893 Mr. Stoke moved into his new building.

In July, 1890, Mr. Stoke was married to Miss Flora E. Jackson, in Boston, Mass., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Jackson, who moved from Reynoldsville to Boston and afterwards moved to Allegheny City, where they now reside.

The above is a brief sketch of the young man upon whose shoulders rests the responsible office of mayor. He will find some pleasant and some very disagreeable duties to perform, but the public will watch him and expect justice to all men. There is one thing dead sure, he will not be able to please all the people of Reynoldsville, for if he neglects his duty people will complain, and if he discharges his duties faithfully those who break the laws and have to suffer will do a sufficient amount of "kicking."

Farmers' Institute.

The farmers' institute held in Paradise Grange hall Feb. 23rd and 24th was in every respect a success, the attendance and interest were both good. The first day being a local, was conducted by home talent. W. T. Cox, of Reynoldsville, was elected president and Jas. Dougherty, of Washington township, vice-president. J. F. Strouse being absent, J. M. Norris delivered the address of welcome, which was responded to by W. T. Cox in a creditable manner. The program was then taken up and almost every one responded promptly, the discussions were lively and interesting. The question box was kept well supplied and was both humorous and instructive. Among other things "Moon Farming" was discussed with much enthusiasm and the moon has hid her face ever since. Noah Strouse's method of making hens lay was accepted as the quickest and most effectual.

The ladies session relating to "House Decorations," "Preparing Food," "Care of the Sick," "Care of Children," etc., was largely attended and much interest manifested.

Col. A. J. Woodward's talk on "How to make the country Home Convenient and Comfortable," was one every man and woman in the country should have heard. His manner was pleasing and his remarks practical.

J. F. McCormick's talk on the advantages gained by farmers attending the State College of Agriculture, was excellent. Every man who expects to farm should avail himself of this opportunity of an agricultural education. The State pays the tuition at the above college and the only expense a student would have would be his living expenses.

The music for the institute, both instrumental and vocal, was furnished by the Strouse family.

It was stated in the columns of THE STAR last week that the commencement week of the West Reynoldsville schools would be in April and that the program for the week would be published this week, which is as follows: On Sunday evening, April 4th, Rev. On Wednesday evening, April 7th, the first annual commencement exercises will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church by the graduating classes. Rev. Harry Teagarden, of Oliveburg, Pa., will deliver the graduating address. County Superintendent Teitrick will deliver an address and present diplomas to the graduates.

When you want a nice little shoe for your babies call at J. E. Welsh & Co.'s, near postoffice, they have the nicest and best line.
