What has become of the old-fash loned man who were the overcoat he had in the army?

Wise as an Owl.

The owl is said to be the wisest of birds because he keeps both eyes and ears wide open, says nothing and keeps up a good deal of thinking. When sciation takes hold of a man, he is wisest who says nothing but keeps man, he is wisest who says nothing but keeps his eyes and ears open for the best remedy, who thinks and knows it may result in crippling, and who fluds by trial that St. Jacobs Oil is the best known remedy for its treatment and permanent cure. It pone-trates to the seat of the exeruciating pain, soothes and cures it, and prevents what sometimes happens—the use of the surgeon's knife to get rid of the forment. The owi thinks and then acts quickly, and the scintical sufferer should act promptly to arrest the progress of the disease and to restore the nerve by the use of St. Jacobs Oil to its naterve by the use of St. Jacobs Oil to its nat-ral condition.

REMARKABLE RECOVERY

Of a Young Lady of Gasport, New York

from Annemia. From the Courier, Buffalo, N. Y. Miss Luin Stevens, daughter of George Stevens, the well-known blacksmith, of Gas-said she could not live.

This was quite a remarkable case. The young woman, who is very well known, on account of her musical ability, had been a very healthy girl, until about one year ago, when she began to fail, and grew so pale and apparently bloodless and so weak that after a few months she was given up to die.

Last winter a physician who was a visitor at Gasport met Miss Stevens, and seeing her emeiated condition, and hearing from the local doctors that the disease was anaemia, prevailed on the girl's mother to make her try Dr. Williams Fink Fills. Directly she commenced the treatment she began to mend, and now since February, when she decided to take them, she has become well and strong and the picture of good health. The mother of the girl, Mrs. Stevens, says: "Every one in Gasport knows that Pink Pills cured Luin, and I feel very thankful that we heard of them in time to save my child s itte."

Power of the Press.

"Well, they are at it again," remarked a leading bookseller to-day, "Some tem has been going the rounds of the press about a rare old book being found in a garret, and telling of what in enormous price was paid for it by t bookworm. I don't know that is the ase, but my mail shows it. Why? Well, every time such item is printed begin getting letters from people all over the country, who think they have a book worth a fortune or two. As a rule, not one of the books in a thousand they write about is worth anything at all. Because a book is old is to good reason it is very valuable, but hey keep writing every time some ronancer writes a story of a rare book picked up in some out of the way place."-Pittsburg Dispatch.

Bubbles or Medals.

"Best sarsaparillas." When you think of it how contradictory that term is. For there can be only one best in anything-one best sarsaparilla, as there is one highest mountain, one longest river, one deepest ocean. And that best sarsaparilla is-There's the rub! You can measure mountain leight and ocean depth, but how test sarsaparilla? You could if you were chemists. But then do you need to test it? The World's Fair Committee tested it, and thoroughly. They went behind the label on the bottle. What did this sarsaparilla test result in? Every make of sarsaparilla shut out of the Fair, except Ayer's. So it was that Ayer's was the only sarsaparilla admitted to the World's The committee found it the best. They had no room for anything that was not the best. And as the best, Ayer's Sarsa-parilla received the medal and awards due its merits. Remember the word "best" is a bubble any breath can blow; but there are pins to prick such bubbles. Those others are blowing more "best sarsaparilla" bubbles since the World's Fair pricked the old ones. True, but Ayer's Sarsaparilla has the medal. The pin that scratches the medal proves it gold. The pin that pricks the bubble proves it wind. We point to medals, not bubbles, when we say: The best sarsaparilla is Ayer's.

SENT THE SLAVS BACK.

Wampum Miners Refused to Work With Them.

Wampum coal miners put to flight in the neighborhood of 30 Slavs who had been hired to work in the Mebard coal mines, hired to work in the Mehard coal mines, located about two miles from the town of Wampum. The Slavs are the same men who created the trouble at Washingtonville a few days ago. The Slavs were to have begun work this week at Wampum, but when the miners heard of their coming they at once wrote to Washingtonville and found that they were not desirable men. The result was that they notified the manager of the mine that they would not work with the Slaves. Several meetings were held between the men and the managers of the mine, which resulted in the Slavs being sent home.
