TRUMPET CALLS.

Ram's Horn Sounds a Warning Note to the Unreformed.

VERWORK is a thief of time. A stop in time, saves pain. Many let heaven go by default. Charity robs herself, when she frowns while bestowing a gift. Education, in this age, means cramming in more than leading out.

Thought without purpose is like seed spilled upon the ground.

A Crawling Rug.

Among the first "instruments" to be used toward the education of the little son of the Duke and Duchess of York is a crawling-rug, designed by Miss Emma Windsor, who is famous for her intelligent interpretation of the Froebel idea of education.

Froebel, she says, constantly urged upon mothers the necessity of the infants' education beginning at their mothers' knee, and thinking of this has led me to the invention of the babies' crawling rug. It is a large floor-picture of animals, birds and domestic figures, made of real skin, swansdown, and other materials sewn on to flannel, and is quite in harmony with Froebel's idea.

For as soon as a baby is put on the rug the first thing that the mite does is to begin to kick and stretch out its limbs; then it begins to roll over and look about, and tries to clutch at the pretty animals on the rug. Then baby finds it beyond its reach, and the first attempt to crawl is after puss, or some other equally familiar form which it sees on the rug.

The kicking, the stretching out the hand, the observation, the crawling, and so on, are all what Froebel calls education.

As baby grows older it learns, with the help of mother and nurse, to imitate the different sounds which the animals make, to pick out one from the other, and to learn their names.

Then baby should be taught to stroke each animal gently, and to speak its name in tender tones. Then the infant will early learn that love of animals calls forth the love of mankind.

It is a good plan to teach the baby to notice pictures of animals in children's books, and to call its attention to living animals and their actions. As the child grows older its delight in its zoological carpet increases; and children of seven years of age are known to greatly appreciate them.

The place for the rug is the nursery, the drawing-room, the bath-room, the seaside, and on shipboard.

A BOY'S OWN RAILROAD.

Built the Locomotive, Laid the Track, and Operates It Himself.

Robert M. Tyler, the son of William M. Tyler, has built a perfectly equipped railroad, with rolling stock and locomotive, on the farm of his father at Buck's Hill, a suburb of Waterbury, Conn.

He built the locomotive himself. He surveyed the line, decided upon the grades and curves, and, aided by ordinary labor, made the roadbed, laid the rails, and now runs the engine. It is a real railroad and not a toy—a railroad over which the engine, built by the boy, runs daily, hauls stones, lumber and other materials and farm products, and has an existence with a definite and profitable purpose.

Hunters found afield with Tyler's road to get a lift toward the hunting grounds, and lots of people have been delighted with an excursion trip over the line.

It was manifest that profit as well as fun awaited the success of a miniature railroad running over Buck's Hill, Tyler, who went to work at it in a very crude, small-boyish way at first, soon compelled his elders to have faith in him as a civil and mechanical engineer and road constructor.

Then the necessary cash capital was forthcoming as fast as it became necessary for Tyler to invest in material.

The boy engine-builder very sensibly refrained from attempting to follow the lines of drive-wheel locomotive, but bent on practical results. The boy's sensible aim was to save and make money, and not to expend it extravagantly. The engine and boiler and the car on which these are mounted cost not less than $500. The further equipment of Buck's Hill line consists of two cars, each four-wheeled and each having a capacity of 1,500 pounds.

In running the line the boy surveyed humored the topography of the region with which he had to deal, and did not contract for any steep cuts or for any rock work. The stony, gravelly surface was easily converted into a solid bed. The rails used were of steel, and the cross ties were of chestnut. The gauge is twenty-six inches. The grade in its steepest part is 370 feet to the mile. The whole cost of constructing the railway was at the rate of $600 per mile.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

May 24.—In the House to-night the bill to prevent the playing of football and baseball on Sunday was reported favorably from committee.

The House took up bills on second reading, the first passed being one to make it compulsory on the mayor of Philadelphia to issue licenses for public lodging houses. The bill requiring the state treasurer to pay to the chairman of legislative investigating committees the expenses of such committees was killed.

May 25.—The House started in to-day to hold three sessions, with bills on third reading as the order of business. Speaker Boyer is detained at his home by illness, and Mr. Bolles, of Philadelphia, presided. During the morning session 11 bills were considered on second reading on special orders. Those of the most general interest are the reform bills introduced by the state Republican convention. They are the non-political interference, non-assessment and poll tax bills, and were taken up in order named.

May 26.—The senate killed the criminal libel bill this morning, but it was reconsidered and given another chance. It knocked out the Campbell bill taxing employers of unnaturalized aliens and regulating the employment of such, also the Keeter bill, regulating the division of cities into wards.

Gov. Hastings signed the Greater Pittsburgh repealer last evening. The three reform bills passed the house on second reading. They will pass finally to-day. The resolution for the appointment of an insurance commission was killed in the house. The Fair eight hour day law failed in the house.

May 27.—Only the house was in session to-day.

The order of business was revenue bills on third reading, and local and special bills on second reading. The local and special bills were quickly disposed of, and then the revenue bills were taken up.

The first revenue bill to pass leaves a four-mill tax on the bonds of corporations. Mr. Bolles estimates this measure will produce $250,000 a year.

The bill levying a four-mill tax on the matured and paid-up stocks of building and loan associations also passed finally. This bill will produce about $150,000 revenue annually.

Two other revenue bills also passed finally. One taxes orders, checks, dividends, coupons, passbooks or other paper given for wages for labor in lieu of cash. The other authorizes the state treasurer to issue a license to brewers on payment of an annual fee of $1,000.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Abstract of the Important Measures in Both Houses.

May 24.—The house galleries were well filled at the hour of meeting to-day in expectation that the senate Cuban resolution would be reported and might lead to some exciting scenes. The attendance was quite large.

As soon as the journal was read a motion to correct it was made by Mr. Simpson. He showed that a senate pension bill had been referred to the committee on invalid pensions, and as there was no such committee he moved to strike out that statement.

"Strike it out of what?" the speaker asked, "out of the record or out of the journal?"

"Out of the journal," Mr. Simpson replied. "I suppose it is the same in the record." The speaker put the question on the motion to strike out and it was declared lost. The journal was then approved. The death of Senator Erie, of South Carolina, was announced by Mr. Johnson, and the house adjourned till Thursday.

May 25.—The tariff debate of 1897 began in the United States senate this morning. Soon after the senate met this morning Senator Aldrich, in behalf of the Republican members of the senate finance committee, and in accordance with a previous announcement, called up for consideration the Dingley tariff bill, as revised by the senate finance committee.

May 26.—When the Senate was called to order this morning Chaplain Miburn prayed for the welfare of Queen Victoria and Great Britain. A joint resolution was passed appropriating $25,000 for deficiencies at the government printing office.

The final conference report on the Indian appropriation bill, providing for opening to settlement the Uncompagre reservation in Utah, but reserving to the government the glacial lands, was agreed to. The resolution authorizing the government to send supplies to the sufferers in India by any ship was passed.

The tariff bill was then taken up.

May 27.—There was an attempt to bring forward the Cuban question in the House to-day as soon as the journal had been read. Mr. Lewis (Dem., Wash.) shouted, "A question of privilege," and sent to the clerk's desk a resolution for the recognition of the belligerency of the Cubans.

On a roll call the speaker announced "No quorum," and the house adjourned until Monday.

PHYSICIANS BAFFLED.

Prof. R. S. Bowman, Instructor of Natural Science in Hartsville College, Cured of a Severe Illness by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People After Physicians Failed.

From the Republican, Columbus, Ind. Prof. R. S. Bowman, the able instructor of natural science in the famous Hartsville (Ind.) College, is well and favorably known, not only as an educator, but also as a minister of the gospel, as for a number of years he was pastor of the United Brethren church at Charlotte, Mich., before coming to Hartsville.

Some time ago he had a severe illness which was cured almost miraculously. A reporter hearing of this, interviewed him regarding his experience. Prof. Bowman was in the midst of his work when the reporter called, but he cheerfully gave him a hearing.

"A year ago last fall," said the professor, "I broke down with nervous exhaustion, and was unable to properly attend to my duties. I tried different physicians but with no relief, and also used many different proprietary medicines, spending almost fifty dollars for these medicines alone. I then succumbed to a seige of the grip in the middle of winter, and was left in a much worse condition. My kidneys were fearfully disordered, and my digestion became very poor. I was indeed in a bad condition."

"A minister in conference learning of my condition advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I had heard much about the wonderful curative powers of this medicine, but it was with reluctance that I was finally persuaded to try it, as I seemed that nothing could do me any good. However, I procured three boxes of pills and took them strictly according to directions. By the time the last dose was taken I was almost cured, and in better health than I had been for years. I continued using the pills awhile longer and was entirely cured. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

Such was Professor Bowman's wonderful story, which was fully endorsed by the following affidavit:

HARTSVILLE, Ind., March 16, 1897.
