The legislature of New Jersey has enacted a law which requires ontside parties to procure a marriage license, but does not require residents of the state to procure license. Formerly no license from any one was required, and multitudes flocked to that state to be married who were not legally competent. The new law puts a stop to outsiders having such privilege, but the incompetent of New Jersey can still have the privilege of getting married without license.

We are indebted to the authoress, Lady Cook, nee Tennie Claffin, of England, for a copy of her recent work entitled, "Essays on Social Topics." As yet we have given it but a cursory examination, and are not prepared to praise or condemn in toto. While we do not endorse everything Lady Cook advocates, yet there is much of what the book contains that is not only timely and proper, but should be read by every man and woman who has social purity at heart. Lady Cook, like the majority of leaders and reformers, is in advance of the times, and some of the things she advocates will be scoffed and reviled at that could be accepted with benefit to humanity and good morals.

Did you go to church last Sunday? If not, why not? Do you realize for one moment to whom we owe our lives. That in the twinkling of an eye we might join the silent throng lying in the churchyard. Is humanity so selfish that we can not spare one hour a week, in which if we cannot worship God, we can at least show our appreciation of the unenumerated mercies He bestows on us. Did you ever think that the severe task of going to church on Sunday only requires one hour's time. Can you not devote one hour a week to learning the word of God, reading and listening to the preacher. Many times the sweet music of the choir will more than repay you for the exertion. You don't necessarily have to pay for either. If you can't afford to put some money in the collection, you don't need to. Suppose you make up your mind to attend one service at one of the churches next Sunday, and our word for it, you will not only feel better, but be better as well.-Clarion Republican.

The DuBois Courier, that is edited by a pusillanimous nincompoop, reminds a person of a worthless cur that sits around and howls apparently just to see how loud he can howl. If the editors of the would-be-reputable paper want to know how many of the DuBois citizens esteem their paper, they, no doubt, can soon get the desired information by inquiring from some of the good citizens of that town. A prominent man of DuBois said the paper had been a detriment to the town ever since It had been started. Another man said he was surprised that any person would be foolish enough to pay attention to what the Courier said. Another DuBols man stopped the paper because it prevaricates so much. Good reputation to have at home. Outside of DuBois the sheet has an unenviable reputation. When a skunk is stirred up there is generally a stench therefrom, but the Courier skunk has been stirred up so often that the stench is not strong enough to get outside the office. If THE STAR was seeking notoricty it would have to seek it from some other source, as the Courier is of such little consequence that it cannot give any person notoriety. The Courier threw mud at the Punxsutawney people for awhile and then tried to rub it in on them, but it didn't work. The people stood the mud throwing but they kicked when the rubbing in process began and, if we have been correctly informed, the paper lost its circulation in that town. The citizens of Reynoldsville have become tired of the Courier's contemptiss and just seventeen copies of that paper are now delivered in the town each morning. The Courier does DuBois more harm than good by conbullois more harm than good by con-stantly keeping up a contention between that town and its neighboring towns. The pestiferous sheet is no credit to the town in which it is published. Comdecency teaches that no one should etrike a cripple or mind a fool. one our subscribers an apology for any attention to the babbling of

Royal Arcanum Picnic.

Fifty-seven people from this place attended the third annual picnic of the Royal Arcanum held at Clearfield on Thursday of last week. About eight thousand people attended the pienic. It was a grand success and those from this place claim they had a pleasant time. The picule will be held at Philipsburg next year. Two votes more would have brought the picnic to Reynoldsville next year. The Clearfield Republican published a half column article concerning the picnic and among other things

"The only 'Bill' Fairman, whose voice, figure and wig, and red necktie, to-gether with the hat his grandfather wore when 'Bill' was baptized in Canoe ereck, are well and widely known throughout Western Pennsylvania, was on band and after considerable urging consented to address the multitude. 'Bili' had no manuscript, in fact—well it's best not to say anything about facts. But to get to the point, 'Bill' went on as usual without let or hindrance. He talked and talked about things, big and little, past and present and sustained. talked and talked about things, big and little, past and present, and sustained his well earned reputation as the biggest—, we did intend to say prevaricator, but that is hardly the word. But then you cannot blame 'Bill', as he is from Punxsutawney and it takes a man without much conscience to hold that town's end up at big gatherings."

The Cost of Complexion.

Beauty has been said to be but skin deep. In many instances, also, it is but of a day. It endureth not until the morrow. The enamelist has to be called in at regular intervals to put a new coat of mail on the society belle. Like a ship, she is repainted on every cruise. The professional beauty is a whited sepulchre. The kalsomining costs money

A complexion doctor has been "confessing," and says that most of her clients spend money every year that ran into three or four figures, to keep their faces, necks and busts in proper trim. Fancy making love to some "powder, some rouge and a rabbit's foot," which is worse than Kipling's "rag and a bone and a hank of hair." No wonder kissing has gone out of fashion. It would be like taking a mouthful of some dreadful powder to sip the honey, or rather the reddening from the lips of a made up woman. The habit is growing, too. Girls think it looks up-to-date to have just a touch," and they do not know that once indulged in it has to be kept up. If there is any complexion below the stuff the superstructure of chemicals ruins it. Most of the fine enameled faces are built on the veriest wrecks.

If you see a woman made up on the street she is hiding the ravages of dissipation, or the wrinkles of age, or the disadvantages of a bad complexion caused by ill health. Any of these causes is sufficient to put her under the ban. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent by women trying to look beautiful. And, judging from the result in most cases, the game is not worth the candle. They only accentuate their ugliness .- Pittsburg News.

County Superintendent R. B. Teitrick has completed his round of the county for the purpose of examining applicants for teacher's certificates, his last examination being held at Rockdale Mills Thursday last. He held sixteen examinations, and 418 persons were examined. He reports that the young ladies and gentlemen who presented themselves for examination acquitted themselves in a very satisfactory manner, showing a marked improvement over last year.

A town, unlike a city, is no place to foster jealousy and nourish contentions. All should learn to know that whatever will conduce to the welfare of a town cannot injure her citizens. The disposition made manifest by her citizens point to her downfall or rise. Harmony among the people of a community is as necessary to their success as is air to sustain life. There are, however, in every town, a few pin-heads who by their careless remarks, stir up strife, injure their bost friands and ignorantly persist in so dolar.—Ex.

Col. Wilson's Pun.

Col. John P. Wilson is no ordinary Try Electric Bitters as a remedy for punster. He seldom descends to such vulgar things. But when he does spring a pun, it may be relied upon as being all right. He is considerably exercised over the news from Alaska, and at times feels like throwing up everything-forsaking friends and kindred -severing all ties, and starting at once for the Yukon. Then he will think better of it and remain. In speaking of the exodus to Alaska just before going to press, he said: "To all those who are rushing off to Alaska with the idea of becoming suddenly and immensely rich by means of a big gold strike, I would simply say 'Yukon not do it.'" During the tumult which followed this lightning flash of wit, the foreman bit his thumb with the mallet and the devil fell into the ink barrel-Punxsutawney

A Reliable Wheel.

Stoke.

"Well, my son," said the editor of the Danville Breeze, to his son, who wanted a wheel, "you'll find one in the front wheel of that wheelbarrow, and there is a big pile of coal ashes back of the house that will have to be moved. The handle bars are of white ash and are adjustable, so you can get any style of hump on that suits your fancy. It is regulated largely by the load you put on. The bigger the load the more you have to hump yourself. Be careful and don't mar the enamel on the frame, and keep the ball-bearings well oiled so they won't cut into the cones. The tire is absolutely punctureless, so you won't have to take a pump and repair kit with you. By the time you have removed that pile of ashes I think you will have made a century run-also the perspiration. You'd better come in to dinner

LIKE A MOOSE

Twould Require a Thirty-Foot Giant to Propel the Enormous Bicycle.

The monster Cleveland bicycle exhibited last winter at the New York and Brooklyn cycle shows was the center of attraction. There it loomed, solitary and majestic among the flowers and palms—surrounded by the regular wheels, which look like pigmies in comparison—and with its large wood bars outspread it reminded one of a gigantic moose in a forest.

This great machine is built exactly upon the graceful and scientific lines of the noted "Cleveland" wheel. It was exhibited at the bicycle shows in Parls, London and Vienna, and has consequently made two ocean voyages. It is exactly four times the size of the '97 model Cleveland wheel, being 15 feet high, with handle bars 72 inches wide, saddle 38 inches long and 32 inches wide, and tires 8 inches in diameter. The wheels are 10 feet in diameter and its present gear is 308. That means that with one revolution of the pedal the machine would be propelled 80 feet 7 inches. If it was made on the lines of the old style ordinary it would mean that a man's legs must have a 14½-foot inside leg measurement, which would make him a giant about 20 feet in height.

It is impossible to enclose this monster in an ordinary freight or express car. A flat car has to be employed. It cost $1,200.00 to make and its size entails large expenditures for transportation.
