Here are two curious titles of old English books: "Biscuits Baked in the Oven of Charity, carefully conserved for the Chickens of the Church, the Sparrows of the Spirit, and the sweet Swallows of Salvation." "Eggs of Charity Layed for the Chickens of the Covenant and Boiled with the Water of Divine Love. Take ye out and cat."

No man ever held a position so high that he was justified in being insolent to the humblest of his fellowmen. A king should be as polite to a ploughman as to a powerful prince. Whoever answers a civil question uncivilly is a blackguard, whether his salary is $50,-000 a year or 50 cents a day. The only answer to an insult is a blow, and be who gives provocation deserves it. Wealth, rank or station does not relieve a man who would be classed as a gentleman from the necessity of being gentle-Kittanning Tribune.

A special from Washington to Pittsburg Times, dated Sept. 20th, says: Acting upon the request of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Treasury department has requested the Secretary of State to instruct all consular officers of the United States to refuse authentication of invoices of hides of meat cattle from districts in which anthrax exists. This request is made in view of the fact that deaths of human beings and cattle recently occurred at Falls Creek, Pa., in consequence of the manipulation of hides in tauncries at that place.

If your seat is to hard to sit upon, stand up. If a rock rises before you, roll it away, or climb over it. If you want money, earn it. If you wish for confidence prove yourself worthy of it. It takes longer to skin an elephant than a mouse, but the skin is worth something. Don't be content with doing what another has done-surpass it. . Deserve success and it will come. The boy was not born a man. The sun does not rise like a rocket, or go down like a bullet fired from a gun; slowly but surely it makes its round, and never tires. It is as easy to be a leader as a wheel horse; if the job be long, the pay will be greater; if the task be hard the more competent you must be to fill it .- Philadelphia Methodist.

Since learning to ride a bicycle ye editor knows from an experience that ise to com plain of the treatment they receive at the hands of some teamsters whom they meet on the country roads. Occasionally bicycle riders meet a surly man driving a team who will not only refuse to give them a portion of the beaten road, but will do his best to drive them into the gutter or compel them to dismount. This sort of conduct on the part of teamsters is not only ungentlemanly, but also unlawful. The courts have decided that the bicycle is a vehicle and as such has the same legal rights on public roads as any other vehicle. They may not be crowded off nor run down. A man with a team must give a bicycle a fair share of the road (and of the good part of it, too) the same as he is compelled to do with persons driving a team of horses. If some of these ungentlemanly chaps who delight in monopolizing all the good road get arrested for violating the road law it would serve them about right.

The married flirt is a snare in the pathway. She makes more trouble than a mother-in-law on a honeymoon. She is of the butterfly order, and the only good thing is that she occasionally singes her own wing in the pursuit of the candlelight of pleasure. She is a menace to the country and as such ought to be suppressed. In countries which are alleged to be barbarous it is the custom to have some sign by which the married woman is known. In China they thread a red silk cord in their hair. In Africa they have to do up their hair in certain ways, so that the young men and poor old, but giddy widowers may know them afar off and run. But in this civilized corner of the globe it is different. The married flirt can in the summer go to the seashore or mountain, leaving her husband at home to pile up the petty cash account while she masquerades as an unmarried damsel. But she usually gives herself away. She knows too much. She for-gets the demure ways of her girlhood, and the young man spots her the first time. Then he proceeds to have some

As we published a short account last week of the Jefferson county W. C. T. U. convention held in Brookville Sept. 7-8, we will not publish the report received from the sceretary, but publish in this issue the resplutions adopted by the convention, which are as follows:

1. That we reaffirm our adherence to the principles of our organization and reconsecrate ourselves to work for God and Home and Humanity.

2. That we orge our members to ac-quire a knowledge of the civil laws which affect their own and their children's welfare.

3. We again affirm our conviction, that taxation without representation is tyrany.

4. That we pledge ourselves to more earnest effort in the line of scientific temperance instruction by visiting schools and institutes, and endeavoring to impress on the minds of the children ne evils of intoxicants and narcotics.

5. That whereas, Cutter's Physiology does not come up to the requirements of the scientific temperance law of Pennsylvania, adopted in 1885, as it teaches that only the excessive use of tobacco and alcohol may be injurious, and in a foot note, (page 109), makes the false statement that erroneous habits in eating are worse than the habit-ual use of alcoholic drink, therefore we condemn the introduction of Cutter's text books into any of our schools, and urge the local unions to guard against there being so used.

6. That we heartily express our sincere appreciation of the carnest and untiring efforts of our retiring president, and thank her for her self-sacrificing example of zeal and devotion to our principles, praying that her work for humanity may be blessed in the future as humanity may be blessed in the future as it has in the past,

7. That we tender our heartfelt thanks to the Brookville W. C. T. U. and friends for their very cordial reception and entertainment during the convention, also to the trustees of the M. E. and Presbyterian churches, also the choirs of both churches, the orchestra under the leadership of 'Squire A. Baur, the ministers who gave their presence and assistance, and to S. H. Whitehill, Eso. for preparing the memorial for Esq , for preparing the memorial for convention.

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with La Grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develope into hasty consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen bottles dured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottle at H. Alex. Stoke's

The Wrong Baby.

In the rush and hustle in the depot at this place when the seven passenger trains come in at one time there often occur some strange things. One day recently a lady with a child rushed into the ticket office leaving the child sit near the door on a chair. While the lady was purchasing her ticket the child crossed over to the other side of the waiting room and a colored lady entered with a child, leaving the latter at the same place that the first child had been. The white lady had purchased her ticket, and lest she miss her train she rushed hurriedly to the place she had left her child, grasped the little one in her arms and burried into the train. In a few minutes the train pulled out, and before the train got to Pancoast, two miles below, the woman discovered that she was holding a colored child in her arms. Her look and her words were beyond the ability of the Herald man to describe, so what must her feelings have been? The train was backed to the depot and the lady exchanged her colored baby for one of a lighter shade.-Falls Creek Herald.

Good Business.

According to its size, it is probable the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Railway carried more passengers into Buffalo during the recent National Encampment of the G. A. R. in the city August 23-28, than any other line. More than 6,000 people were carried into Buffalo during the period named entirely without accident and without delay of any consequence. No person was injured and not one piece of bag-gage was lost. These speak volumes for the management of the company, the methods in force, and the excellent service offered by this road which is daily growing in popularity. Speed, safety and splendid accommodations are always in demand by the traveling pub-

Old People.

Old people who need medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will ind the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey or other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents and $1.00 per bottle at H. Alex. Stoke's Drug Store.
