C. A. STEPHENSON, Editor and Pub.
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1897.

An independent local paper, published every Wednesday at Reynoldsville, Jefferson Co., Pa., devoted to the interests of Reynoldsville and Jefferson county. Non-political, will treat all with fairness, and will be especially friendly towards the laboring class.

Subscription price $1.00 per year, in advance. Communications intended for publication must be accompanied by the writer's name, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Interesting news items solicited. Advertising rates made known on application at the office in Reynoldsville, Pa.

Lengthy communications and change of advertisements should reach this office by Monday noon. Address all communications to C. A. Stephenson, Reynoldsville, Pa. Entered at the postoffice at Reynoldsville, Pa., as second class mail matter.

Did you ever stop to think how quick the people, generally speaking, are to kick a man when he is down. That is wrong; it shows a cowardly spirit, besides you may get down yourself some day. If you are a friend to a person prove your friendship by being a friend in need. One never knows who is his friend until a storm is on. The fellow who runs out in the rain to shake hands with you is the man to tie to. Not that it is the business of a man to uphold another in the wrong, but that it is the duty of a friend to help a man regain his feet and walk uprightly when he shows a disposition to do right.

The small boy who is a close observer, gives the family history of papa's pants, as follows: "When dad has worn his trousers out, they pass to brother John; then mother trims them round about and William puts them on. When William's legs too long have grown, the trousers fall to hide 'em; so Walter claims them for his own and stows himself inside 'em. Next Sam's fat legs close invest, and when they won't stretch tighter, they're turned and shortened, washed and pressed, and fixed on me—the writer. Ma works them into rugs and caps when I have busted the stitches. At dooms day we shall see (perhaps) the last of dad's old breeches."—Ex.

To-night there will be a meeting in Centennial hall for the purpose of continuing the efforts to do something that will be a blessing to Reynoldsville in the years that are yet unborn. Every person should be willing to help along the good work started, for if it results in getting industries to locate in our midst, every person will be benefited. Don't expect a few men to pay out their money for such a purpose and then reap the benefits. Every man should be willing to help some. There are so many towns looking for industries that this town need not expect industries to locate here unsought. Those who have not already subscribed stock for the purchasing of the land to offer as an inducement for industries to locate here, should do so immediately. The man who is in business in Reynoldsville, and owns property, that will not do all he can to get industries here is not honest with himself or family.

Georgia is not favorably disposed toward foot ball. The fatalities that have attended the game of late have brought the matter before the Legislature of the State, and the possibility is that the game will be abolished from every institution supported wholly or in part by public funds. Foot ball is increasing in popularity in this country, but it is evident that some of the rougher features must be eliminated if what is a hearty and meritorious game is not to be brought into more or less disrepute. The list of the killed and injured is growing so large that sooner or later other communities than Georgia will take an active hand in the rough features of the sport, and insist that gentler practices be made a part of the game, or that it be barred from polite consideration. It is with the foot ball player to save the game or bring it into dislike. Being a sport with so much to be said in its favor it would be a pity that it should suffer from unnecessary evil deeds. It is with the lovers of foot ball to make the game less of a fatal affair or see it lose its standing.—Pittsburg Times.

Another attempt is to be made to restrict immigration, which is expected to increase largely as a result of the better times and of the short crops and consequent high living over sea. The restrictive bill vetoed by President Cleveland is to be passed again, with the belief that President McKinley will sign it. Under it every immigrant beyond a certain age must be able to read and write some language. The statistics indicate that this provision would not bar out more than five per centum of the people from Great Britain, France, Germany, Norway and Sweden, from which countries the best immigrants come, while it would bar out 60 per centum of the Italians, Hungarians, Lithuanians and Russians. These latter stay in the already overcrowded labor fields of the east, are compelled to work for what they can get, and ignorant of our language and without mental training, which would enable them to learn it in a reasonable time, they remain a people apart, without knowledge of or affection for our institutions. We hear of instances in which a superintendent cannot communicate the simplest orders to any of the hundreds of them in the employ of the company which he represents without the aid of an interpreter. The labor question aside, is it good policy to encourage immigrants of that kind?—Pittsburg Daily News.

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with La Grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into hasty consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottle at H. Alex. Stoke's drug store.

Reduced Rates to Chattanooga

For Pennsylvania Day at Chicamauga Battlefield, Chattanooga, Tenn., November 15, 1897, when the monuments marking the movements of the Pennsylvania troops in that great battle will be dedicated, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from all points on its line in Pennsylvania at the extremely low rate of one cent a mile, short line distance, tickets to be sold November 9 to 13, good to leave Chattanooga returning until November 23, 1897, inclusive.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just what they need. Price fifty cents and $1.00 per bottle at H. Alex. Stoke's Drug Store.

Bell can show you the finest line of $8, $9, and $10 suits in the county. No chestnuts.
