The clock on the court house at Brookville is "off" this week. At five o'clock it strikes one, and once on Monday it kept striking until it ran up to fifteen. The case that was on trial—to disbar Fairman—may have affected the clock.

Benjamin F. Miller, of Reynoldsville, and Mary E. Mohney, of Smicksburg, Pa., were married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Wilbur Kline, in this place last Wednesday evening by Rev. W. F. Ada, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Pierce, of near Rathmel, died of diphtheria at 1.20 A. M., Saturday last and at 3.30 P. M., the same day, was buried in Prospect cemetery. Last Wednesday afternoon there was a fat, good natured looking man in town selling "cough jumpers." He was driving a horse and buggy and on the back of the horse sat a little monkey arrayed in a red coat and a red cap, with feathers in it. Wherever the rig stopped a crowd gathered to see the monkey. At the bidding of the master the monkey would bow and raise its feather-decked cap.

George P. Miller, editor of the New Bethlehem Leader, who published a paper in Big Run a few years ago, and J. J. Troutman, a school teacher, have put up $500.00 apiece as a guarantee for their appearance at the December term of court in Kittanning to answer the charge of libel, so says the Kittanning Times. The Times says Miller published the libelous article and Troutman wrote it. The prosecutor is Toney E. Buffington, who is a school teacher.

Five children have been born unto them, but death has entered this home from time to time and taken a loved one until the grief-stricken parents are left alone. Mrs. Riston went to Beaver Falls Monday to attend the funeral.

Rat's Cemetery.

A four-year-old lassie of Grant street was heard, a couple of days ago, to soliloquize thusly: "Rat trap, rat trap. That must be a rat's cemetery."

Vote in Tabulated Form.

In this issue of THE STAR will be found, in tabulated form, the official count of the vote polled in Jefferson county on the 2nd inst. The election board in the first precinct of Young township failed to sign their names to the election returns, and the vote from that precinct was thrown out.

Raber Appointed Collector.

Monday forenoon Judge Reed appointed W. H. Raber, of Sykesville, as tax collector of Winslow township, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of L. G. Liddle. Ed. Moore, of Rathmel, was an applicant for the appointment and had the largest petition, but his petition was not sworn to and Raber got the appointment. We understand that it was Judge Reed's intention to appoint the one that had the largest petition.

Rear End Collision.

Yesterday afternoon a rear end collision occurred on the A. V. Ry's just west of Anthony tunnel, five miles west of New Bethlehem. A coal train was following local freight and ran into the rear end of it on a sharp curve. The coal train engine, No. 67, and two or three loaded coal cars, rolled down the fifty-foot embankment, into the creek. The train men saw the danger in time to jump and save themselves. It was an expensive wreck. The track was torn up for some distance and passenger train No. 5, due here at 6.40 P. M., was five or six hours late getting here.

Barn Burned—Horse Cremated.

About 5.30 yesterday morning the barn of Squire John T. Coax, who lives at Valley Home, near this place, was destroyed by fire. Origin of fire unknown. When it was first discovered the whole barn was wrapped in flames and Squire was unable to save anything from the fire fiend. The loss amounts to something like $500.00, without any insurance. Quite a heavy loss to the Squire in his declining years, and yet he feels worse about losing his family horse, which was burned to death in the barn, than all the balance of the loss. The barn contained two buggies, a valuable gray horse, sleigh, twin sleds, six ton of hay, 75 bushels of corn ears, lot of sheaf oats, two sets double harness, and 5,000 hemlock shingles.

Fairman's Case Postponed Again.

The case to disbar Wm. M. Fairman, Esq., of Punxsutawney, was brought before Judge Reed on Monday forenoon and witnesses heard until Tuesday noon, when it was postponed until Tuesday of next week, to give both sides an opportunity to get additional evidence. The case was on trial last month, when three days were spent in examining witnesses, and it was then postponed until the 8th of this month. Fairman is accused by his prosecutors for accepting fees from plaintiffs and defendants on the same case, and other things that are unbecoming a practitioner at the Jefferson county bar. A large number of witnesses have already given in their evidence and the case will cost some person considerable money, as most of the witnesses are from Punxsutawney and the traveling expenses to and from the county seat will be quite an item of expense alone.

Sandbagged Saturday Night.

John A. Hopkins, who lives near the tannery, was sandbagged while on his way home Saturday night. Mr. Hopkins started up the A. V. railroad track and when near the freight house he saw a man standing beside a box car, but thought nothing over it, and just as he passed him he was hit on the back of the head with what he thinks was a sandbag. The blow knocked him down with his face on the track and he received an ugly cut near the left eye. The waylayers, for there were two by that time, began searching Mr. Hopkins when some one ran up the station platform and stopped at the telegraph office, which frightened the highwaymen away. They ran up the track. Mr. Hopkins did not proceed home that way, but returned and walked up the sidewalk. Mr. Hopkins thinks the parties knew he was going to Chattanooga to-day and they thought he would be paid off Saturday night and had his money with him.

Memorial Windows.

Fifteen beautiful stained glass memorial windows, costing five hundred dollars, have been put in the Catholic church. They are the prettiest windows to be found in town. They look prettier on the inside of the church than they do on the outside. The names of those who gave the windows appear on each respective window in plain large letters. The three front windows were given by the Rosary Society of the church, the Catholics of Rathmel, and M. Gelsler. On the right hand side, as you enter the church, the windows were given by Dennis O'Brien and wife, Wm. Burke, jr., in memory of his mother, C. M. B. A. Branch 16, P. A. Hardman, Patrick McDonald, Father McGivney, of DuBois. On the left hand side, entering church, H. J. Carten and wife, Martin Phalen, A. O. H. Division No. 1, Frank J. Black, Daniel Nolan and Father Brady.

A False Statement.

The members of the Indian football eleven that played at Reynoldsville Saturday afternoon desire it stated that they went there to play the high school team, instead they found they were up against a combination of big fellows with but two scholars in it, and it was to all intents the Reynoldsville regular team. They are not kicking over the result, but prefer to confine their games to teams somewhere near their own weight. The star players were McDonald for Reynoldsville and Smith for the Indians. The Indians lost by 20 to 2.—DuBois Courier.

The other places have made their nominations. On the 20th inst. a ballot box will be placed at each mine in the district and the men will cast their votes. The box will be opened and the ballots counted by the pit committee in the presence of the checkweighman, and then the vote will be sealed up until the 22nd inst. and delivered to the convention that will be held in Reynoldsville on that date.

Fred Emerson Brooks.

Mr. Brooks possesses a wonderful scope of power. He is at once pathetic, heroic and humorous. His treatment of the Scotch poem, "Shall Bess Come Home," moved the audience with its pathos, while in "Barn Yard Melodies," and "The Orthodox Team" he convulsed his hearers with laughter.—New York Mail and Express. At Assembly hall Friday evening, Nov. 19th. Tickets on sale at Stoke's drug store.

Preparing to Break Out of Jail.

Last Saturday morning Sheriff Burns heard a suspicious noise in the jail and he quietly went on to the roof of the jail and looking down through the skylight saw Joseph Shirey, a prisoner, sitting on a chair on the second floor of the cage sawing at one of the bars. The sheriff crawled down as quietly as he had ascended and went to the commissioner's office where he found Commissioner Hinderliter and took him on to the roof to show him what was going on. The sheriff shot through the skylight just near enough to Shirey to frighten him and at the same time to let him know he had been caught in the act of preparing the way for escape. Another prisoner named Tilden Deemer was assisting Shirey in his tedious task of cutting the iron bars with a case knife. Two iron bars were almost cut off when the discovery was made. The work would have been completed Saturday and likely the jail delivery would have been made Saturday night. Shirey gave up his kit of tools, two case knives and a small piece of steel, which he hid in the water closet while Sheriff Burns was getting from the roof into the jail. Shirey and Deemer were immediately locked in their cells, where they will remain during their stay in the Brookville jail. Shirey, who has served five years in the penitentiary, broke out of the Brookville jail about six years ago, where he was lodged for larceny. During the ox-roast at Brookville in September last Shirey was arrested for breaking jail at the time above mentioned.

There were fifteen prisoners in the jail and it is likely a few of them would have tried to escape with Shirey. Murphy, the horse thief, said he had expected to skip when the way was opened. Misses Orpha Beer and Mary Muir, two of the Paradise teachers, attended local institute at Sykesville last Saturday. Park Reynolds was at Luthersburg last Saturday evening. Mrs. Homer Brumbaugh, of Prescottville, visited her mother last Sunday.

The new game law, which does not permit the sale of deer or game birds, is silent as to squirrels and rabbits. You who desire may therefore shoot squirrels and rabbits in season to your heart's content, offer them for sale with impunity, and no man can molest you or make you afraid.—Punxsutawney Spirit.
