Thanksgiving.

It ain't around the table ez supports the biggest bird. The turkey shine out the freest an' the gentlest words are heard. An' the plainest kind o' service makes the merriment no less. It's the people, not the turkey, ez provides the thankfulness.
—Washington Star.

County Superintendent Teitrick's proclamation, designating Thursday, December 2nd, as Parents' and Patrons' Day in the schools of Jefferson county, which was published in THE STAR last week, is a step in the right direction. Prof. Teitrick's object is to get parents to visit the schools, become better acquainted with the work being done and become more interested in the schools. There are many parents who do not take the interest in the public schools that they should. There is to be no special literary program prepared for the day, but the regular work of the school is to be carried on. There is no doubt but that a large number of people will visit the schools on the day designated.

The President of the United States and the Governor of this Commonwealth have issued proclamations, calling upon the people to lay aside the busy cares of life on Thursday, November 25th, and meet in their respective places of worship, or in union services, and return thanks to the Great Jehovah for the blessings of peace and prosperity that this nation has enjoyed during the present year. It has been the custom in Reynoldsville for years to hold union services in some church of the town on Thanksgiving Day, but these services, although not over two hours in length, are not largely attended by our people. There are enough christian people in Reynoldsville to overcrowd any one of the churches where the union services are held, but they don't do it. What is the reason? Is it indifference or does the Heavenly Father fail to shower innumerable blessings upon the people of Reynoldsville? After calmly looking back over the year, who cannot find good reasons for spending an hour or two in some place of worship tomorrow in joining in thanksgiving and praise to God for blessings received. The greed for "the things that perish" should not keep professed christians at least from attending Thanksgiving services. The scriptural promise that "Righteousness exalteth a nation," is applicable to a town, so let us be righteous. If you have never attended Thanksgiving services in the past, begin tomorrow. The M. E. church is too small to hold the people who should gather there to worship Him from whom all blessings flow. Don't neglect assembling in the M. E. church at 10.30 A. M., tomorrow.

Lady Cook, nee Tennessee Claflin, in an essay on "Patience," says: "Patience is an excellent virtue, and one of those most difficult to acquire. Woman possesses it in a far greater degree than man, and this has been one of her compensations for long ages of servitude. It was necessary for her to endure or die, and she has learned to endure. Yet in the face of all the difficulties and trials which beset us through life, the wrongs and injuries, the diseases and disappointments which are incidental to all, patience is essential to every one, irrespective of sex. We admire courage always, but seldom admire passive fortitude. But courage may be a mere animal instinct, and usually is, whereas patience is a high intellectual quality, and is the fruit of reason or religion. The fussy, fretful individual is contemptible to others and a misery to himself. Whenever a woman is destitute of this most womanly quality of quiet endurance, nature or education has robbed her of a distinguishing virtue of her sex, and she becomes one of those sour and querulous creatures that are able to drive any man from house and home unless he has the patience of Job. Its cultivation, therefore is of primary importance, and should begin at the earliest stage of life. But when we see how young infants are permitted, by the indulgence of foolish mothers, to defy them and their nurses, to struggle and scream and kick in paroxysms of passion whenever they are thwarted, and habitually disobey as they become older, we need not wonder that with such a training they should grow up without self-control and be subject to criminal outbreaks. So long as parents neglect their offspring, so long will wretchedness and vice roll on, and many a man whose evil passions control him would be tamed, if he knew all, to curse the irrational fondness of the mother who bore him.

The Greatest Discovery Yet.

W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, whooping cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at H. Alex. Stoke's drug store.
