It is not necessary for you to run and get all out of breath to get them first as the stock is large enough to last, but when you happen to pass just step in and see the large assortment of ladies' long guard chains, the price will surprise you, at Hoffman's.

The hymn books for the Schiverea meetings have arrived, and as Mr. Schiverea is desirous of having the people well acquainted with them when he arrives, fall who can assist in the chorus choir are asked to meet Friday evening at 8:30 at the Baptist church.

Miss Almada Johnston, teacher of the Dean primary school, died last Saturday and was buried Monday afternoon. As we have not all the facts at hand that we desire, and have a rush of work this week, we will not publish an obituary for the deceased until next week.

Charles Moore, of Seige, who was crushed to death by two logs rolling over him at Clark, Keiser & Kipp's saw mill at Cortez, this county, the first of last week, was to have been married next Wednesday to Miss Letha McKee, of Carrier, Pa., niece of Mrs. Ed. Moore, of Rathmel.

Charles Burge keeps a lot of pigeons in his father's barn in West Reynoldsville and one evening last week some sneak thief entered the barn, carrying a lantern, and made a raid on the pigeons. Neighbors saw the light in the barn, but thought some of the Burge family were in the barn.

Dr. R. V. Spackman, of DuBois, who is well known in Reynoldsville, having been a practicing physician and proprietor of a drug store in this place some years ago, was married last Thursday morning to Mrs. Emma Boyd in DuBois. They went to Philadelphia on the morning train on a wedding trip. The doctor is sixty years old.

The engineer corps that is surveying for the new railroad between Reynoldsville and Punxsutawney, after a weeks' stay here, have finished their work near town and have changed their boarding place from Hotel Imperial to a farm house a few miles out of town. When we can find out something more definite about the new road than what was published in THE STAR last week, our readers will get it.

An Italian, who was agent over about Brookwayville for W. L. Hays' wholesale liquor house of DuBois, was tried before Judge Reed yesterday for selling without license and was convicted. The Judge imposed a fine of $1,000 and sentenced the Italian to three months in county jail. The Ike had the necessary papers showing that he was Hays' authorized agent, but the Judge ruled that it was not legal. There are other people in the same business. Better be careful.

John DeWitt Miller, who was booked to lecture in Assembly hall last Friday evening, failed to materialize that night. Thursday night Mr. Miller lectured in Bellefontaine, Ohio, and his train was an hour late before he got out of the Buckeye State and he missed connections, hence, failed to arrive in Reynoldsville at the time advertised. The people were disappointed Friday, but they were not disappointed in the lecture last night, for it was highly enjoyed, and Mr. Miller is all that is claimed for him as an orator, philosopher, scholar and humorist. His subject was, "Love, Courtship and Marriage." His audience last night was well pleased with the lecture. It was a bad night to be out, yet there was a large audience present.

The Summerville Telephone Co. has already received orders for telephones for the following places:

William Doney, a bachelor, aged 53 years and 11 months, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Jerry Mowery, in Pinecreek township, at 5:00 P. M., last Monday from heart trouble. He had been ailing for several weeks, but was confined to his bed only a few days. The deceased had lived in Jefferson county a half century. He was a quiet, unassuming gentleman. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerson Doney, both of whom preceded him into that "borne from whence no traveller ever returns." William Doney was a benefical member of the Deemer's Cross Roads Jr. O. U. A. M. Council. Funeral services will be held in the M. E. church at Emerickville at 10:30 A. M., to-morrow, conducted by Rev. Mills, pastor of the church. The Jr. O. U. A. M., of which he was a member, will attend the funeral. The deceased had been a member of the Lutheran church for many years.

The forty-second annual session of the Jefferson County Teachers Institute will be held in the Court House in Brookville December 28th to 31st. The instructors for this institute are: Dr. Arnold Tompkins, of Chicago, principal of the Department of Pedagogy in the Illinois University; Dr. A. E. Winship, of Boston, editor of the "Journal of Education" and "The American Primary Teacher"; Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, of Harrisburg, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Dr. D. J. Waller, Jr., of Indiana, Pa., Ex-State Superintendent and principal Indiana State Normal School; Dr. A. J. Davis, of Clarion, principal of Clarion State Normal School; Prof. T. L. Gibson, of Ebensburg, Pa., music; Miss Jennie Jenks, of Brookville, pianist. Evening sessions: Dr. Arnold Tompkins, of Chicago; Kunita-Damian Concert Com; pany; John Temple Graves, of Georgia; John B. DeMotte, of Bryn Mawr, Pa. Prof. Tetrick has made special efforts to have this institute be the most interesting and profitable one ever held in Jefferson county.

The management has secured, after a great deal of preliminary arrangements, H. A. Templeton's company, presenting the great comedy drama success, "The Lost Mine," which will be presented here on the 21st in all its splendor, and the original cast and scenic equipments. The play is well known from its great success of last season and is to be presented here in the same careful manner that has characterized its instantaneous success. The comedy in itself is one that appeals largely to lovers of wholesome amusement. The interest is intense; the characters are so truthful and the comedy so funny that each and every tear is followed by a smile. Fourteen distinct and truthful types of America are introduced, together with pleasing specialties. Several well known players are enrolled in the cast, J. F. Wilson, C. E. Kirkman, H. A. Templeton, G. P. Rainey, H. A. Young, Chas. D. Boyd, Miss Georgia McCauley, Donna Stewart and Blanche Powell. A perfect performance is assured and the people's perfect prices will avail. The sale of seats is now in progress at H. Alex Stoke's drug store.

Wednesday of last week J. A. Welsh, the shoe merchant, unintentionally caused his "better half" an afternoon of anguish. Mr. Welsh, who is a lover of the chase, started out hunting alone Wednesday morning and told his wife he would not stay out longer than 11:00 A. M. Dinner time arrived and Mr. Welsh had not returned, and during all that long, long afternoon Mrs. Welsh watched and waited for the return of her husband, dreading every moment that some one would come to tell her that something awful had befallen him. When the black pall of night began to settle upon the earth and still he came not, she could not stand the terrible suspense longer and men, with lanterns, were sent out in different directions to look for, what his wife had then concluded, his dead body. Near seven o'clock Mr. Welsh walked in home with about a half dozen rabbits over his shoulders. He had gone out in the morning for few hours hunt and had met Frank McGinnis, the insurance agent, in the woods and they continued to hunt all day.

A local institute will be held in the Prescottville school house next Saturday, December 18th, of which the following is a program:

Morning session, 9:00.—Devotional exercises; address of welcome, L. P. McCleary; response, Miss Mary Muir; "How to Prevent Tardiness," Miss Nettie Coax; "Language," Miss Orpha Beer; "Physiology," J. H. Wagner.

Afternoon session, 1:30.—"How Shall We Secure the Co-operation of the Parents?" Milton L. Dempsey; Essay, Miss Edith Kuntz; address, Prof. G. W. Lenker; "Best Incentive to Study," Homer Brumbaugh; Discussion, "Teaching Writing," Henry Foutz. Program will be interspersed with music.

All teachers, directors and patrons, especially those of Winslow township, are cordially invited to be present and take part in the discussions. The program committee is J. C. Morris, W. J. Snell and Miss Minnie Smeltzer.

Boys, and girls, and young people generally, and some who are older, ought to understand that it is ill-mannered, rude, and entirely out of place, to misbehave in any public meeting. No well-behaved person will do so. Churches are built, furnished, and kept open for worship and instruction, and not for places of amusement. Persons who do not go to church to hear attentively, and to be have decorously, had better stay away.—Brookville Jeffersonian Democrat. We endorse the above. There are a few uncountable people in Reynoldsville, and if they knew how disgusting such acts are to sensible people they would never act unbecoming in a religious meeting again.

Dr. McCoy will be at Hotel McConnell, Reynoldsville, Saturday afternoon, Dec. 18th.

A meeting was held in the Methodist Episcopal church last Wednesday evening in the interest of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League. A large congregation attended. Rev. E. C. Dinwiddie, of Harrisburg, State Superintendent of the League, and Rev. W. L. Riley, D.D., of Cuba, N. Y., Field Secretary, were present. Rev. Howard H. Russell, LL. D., of Columbus, Ohio, National Superintendent of the American Anti-Saloon League, was advertised to be here to deliver an address, but he failed to get here and Rev. Dinwiddie was the speaker of the evening.

Rev. Riley, who was at one time a Methodist preacher, a member of the Erie Conference, stood on the foundation of the M. E. church in this place and made an address on the morning the corner stone was laid in 1879.

Dr. Russell arrived in Reynoldsville Saturday evening. He spoke in the Presbyterian church Sunday at 11:00 A. M., and in Centennial hall Sunday evening. Those who heard Dr. Russell say he is an orator.

An Anti-Saloon League will be organized in this place. The League is interdenominational and 'omni-partisan. An aim is made to have an organization in every town, a county organization and state organization, all of which are auxiliaries to the American or National organization.

Last Saturday evening was the occasion of a merry gathering of C. B. Clark's classmates at his home on Main street. The guests of the evening were received by C. B. and Miss Effie Clark. A pleasant time was spent in reviewing the cherished memories of bygone schooldays, interspersed with games and music. A lap collation was served. With the refreshments, were distributed arranged booklets containing a poem written for the occasion by the host, which we publish below. All expressed themselves as having a very happy evening.

While walking through my native town, After years of roaming, up and down, I note with pain that all is changed—I hardly know the place again.

Did I say all? I spoke too fast. One spot endures Time's withering blast. The schoolhouse where my youth was spent, Ah! there I'll surely find content.

The old playground is just the same. In fancy I'm a boy again. But silence reigns; all gone are they Who, years ago, came here to play.

The well-worn steps, the broken pane, And oaken floor with many a stain, And my old desk behind the door Recalls bright memories of yore.

The darkened rooms and silent halls Too strongly to my mind recall The fact that they who gathered here Are widely scattered, far and near.

Good bye, old schoolhouse, faithful friend, You'll soon be gone from the sight of men. Nobly you've stood, through sun and squall, The last Mohican of them all.

David Bollinger was at Windber, the new coal town near Johnstown, last week. The Berwind White Coal Co. are interested and as there are two or three towns called Berwind, the "wind" is put before the "ber" in naming this new town.

Errol Sutter and J. D. Brown, who went to Washington state last month, struck jobs as soon as they arrived at Tacoma. Brown went to work on a saw mill at $3.20 per day, and Sutter went to work in a blacksmith shop ironing sleds for the Klondike. The man he is working for has a contract of making 5,000 one ton sleds for the Klondike.

Want Compensation. The DuBois Courier, of yesterday morning, is authority for the statement that parties at Falls Creek, who lost their cows last summer from a disease claimed to have been contracted from drinking the water of the creek, which receives the refuse from the tannery, will ask the tannery company to pay for the cows. There were twenty-nine cattle died at Falls Creek. The opinion seems to prevail at Falls Creek that the animals died from anthrax, the germs having been brought from China in imported hides, and in the process of tanning the germs escaped into the stream, thereby communicated to animals.

Pool Tables Knocked Out. When Court convened Monday afternoon Judge Gordon notified all attorneys who handled liquor license applications that he would consider good ground for refusal of license the fact that any hotel keeper run a pool or billiard table in his house or in close proximity thereto. He said there was no Act of Assembly touching on the question but he would assume the responsibility himself and all hotel keepers now running pool or billiard tables could govern themselves accordingly.—Clearfield Republican.
