

Blood

is Life

Pure Blood

is Health

Without blood circulating through your veins you could not live. Without pure blood you cannot be well. The healthy action of every organ depends upon the purity and richness of the blood by which it is nourished and sustained. If you have salt rheum, scrofula sores, pimples, boils or any kind of humor, your blood is not pure. If you take Hood's Sarsaparilla it will make your blood pure and promptly relieve all these troubles. In the spring the blood is loaded with impurities. Hence, all those unsightly eruptions, that languor and depression, and the danger of serious illness. Hood's Sarsaparilla is needed to purify, enrich and vitalize the blood and protect and fortify the system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Two Acres Enough in Belgium. What many an American farmer fails to do on 100 acres, the thrifty Hollander in Belgium easily does on two acres, namely, support a large family and lay by something for a rainy day. He does it by making the most of every inch, by heavy manuring, allowing no waste places. His two acres are surrounded by a ditch of running water. The typical two-acre Belgium farm contains a patch of wheat or rye and another of barley; another fair portion grows potatoes. A row of cabbage grows all around on the sloping sides of the ditches with a row of onions just inside, leaving bare walking room between them and the grain. The shade trees round the house are pear trees. Every foot of land is made to produce. He keeps pigs and chickens. We refer to this as illustrating the possibilities of land production. In Belgium 6,000,000 people, chiefly farmers, live on a piece of land the size of the State of Maryland. They furnish an object lesson on successful farming. - Colman's Rural World.

The Proofreaders' Nemesis. "What's the matter?" inquired the foreman, as he entered the sanctum for copy and noted the editor's bleeding nose, swollen forehead, puffed, red eye and tattered, dusty coat. "Fall down stairs?"

"No—only that," replied the editor, pointing with his finger to a paragraph in the paper before him. "It's in our account of the Crapley-Smith wedding. It ought to read: 'Miss Smith's dimpled, shining face formed a pleasing contrast with Mr. Crapley's strong, bold physiognomy.' But see how it was printed."

"And the foreman read, 'Miss Smith's plumped, skimmy face formed a pleasing contrast with Mr. Crapley's stony, bald physiognomy.'"

"Crapley was just in here," continued the editor, throwing one blood-streaked handkerchief into the waste-basket and feeling in his pockets for a clean one, "and he—but just send that fool of a proofreader in here! There's a fight in me yet."—Typographical Journal.

AIDED BY MRS. PINKHAM.

Mrs. W. E. PAXTON, Youngtown, North Dakota, writes about her struggle to regain health after the birth of her little girl:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It is with pleasure that I add my testimony to your list, hoping that it may induce others to avail themselves of your valuable medicine.

"After the birth of my little girl, three years ago, my health was very poor. I had leucorrhoea badly, and a terrible bearing-down pain which gradually grew worse, until I could do no work. Also had headache nearly all the time, and dizzy feelings. Menstruations were very profuse, appearing every two weeks.

"I took medicine from a good doctor, but it seemed to do no good. I was becoming alarmed over my condition, when I read your advertisement in a paper. I sent at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking two-thirds of the bottle I felt so much better that I sent for two more. After using three bottles I felt as strong and well as any one.

"I think it is the best medicine for female weakness ever advertised, and recommend it to every lady I meet suffering from this trouble."

"My husband is a wonderful experience and many women approach it wholly unprepared. Childbirth under right conditions need not terrify women.

"The advice of Mrs. Pinkham is freely given to all expectant mothers, and her advice is beyond question the most valuable to be obtained. If Mrs. Paxton had not written to Mrs. Pinkham her husband would have been disappointed. Mrs. Pinkham's name is on the box, and Mrs. Paxton's name is on the label."

CONGRESS.

It was frankly and openly charged in the senate Monday by Mr. Perkins of California in a set speech that Spain was responsible for the Maine disaster, as it had been brought about by Spanish machinations and Spanish treachery.

Mr. Perkins referred briefly to the scheme instituted by Weyler to starve more than a million of Spanish subjects into submission and declared that nothing in all history compared with the atrocity and brutality that Weyler had exercised against the Cubans. The time for action had, in his opinion, arrived. "A little more delay," said he, "a little more waiting, and the United States would become an accessory to the greatest, the most appalling crime in history. The patience of a great nation has its limits, and, in this case, the limit has been reached. The time for the horrors in Cuba to cease has come, and cease they must." Right, justice and humanity demanded that this government intervene to stop the cruel warfare being waged by Spain against the Cuban insurgents—a people who were struggling for their freedom within ninety miles of our own shores. Mr. Perkins, who has had a lifetime of experience in the handling of great questions, disapproved of the destruction of the Maine from the view point of an expert.

"The United States ought immediately to declare war against Spain and to maintain that war until the people of Cuba are made free from Spanish starvation and cruelty, and the government of the island finally established as an independent republic."

This utterance by Senator Chandler of New Hampshire, in a carefully prepared statement of his position on the Cuban crisis was the climax of an extended discussion of the subject participated in by several members in the Senate Tuesday. Speeches had been delivered by Mr. Turner (Wash.), Mr. Harris (Kan.) and Mr. Kenney (Del.), all of whom took strong grounds for vigorous and instant action by the United States.

When the Senate convened Wednesday intense expectancy, amounting to excitement, prevailed both on the floor and in the galleries. The President's message had been awaited with genuine anxiety. Ten minutes after the Senate convened consideration of the sundry bill was resumed, and with the exception of eight minutes consumed by executive session, in which Senator Davis announced that no message would be sent in, almost the entire session was consumed by the approval of the bill, which was practically completed when laid aside for the day. An amendment by Mr. Cullom appropriating $15,000 to restore the banks of the Ohio river at Shawneetown, Ill., recently swept away by flood, was adopted. An amendment which was practically a war measure was proposed by Mr. Pettus (Ala.). It provided an appropriation of $200,000 to be immediately available for the improvement of Mobile bay in order that warships and their barges might reach the wharves of Mobile to obtain coal and supplies.

While there was no attempt to force consideration for a resolution regarding the Cuban situation, in the house Monday, there was a brief outbreak in the course of which the war-like temper of the crowded galleries was so manifestly expressed that it was necessary to clear them if it was repeated. The outbreak occurred over a bill to authorize the president to erect temporary fortifications in case of emergency upon land when the written consent of the owners was obtained, without awaiting the long process of legal condemnation.

This led to a demand by Mr. Bailey, the Democratic leader, for information as to the facts which warranted all these war measures. The particular statement which aroused the galleries was to the effect that while the Democrats were willing to wait any reasonable time for the president to transmit a message that would meet the approval of the American people they would not wait a minute for him to continue negotiations with the "butchers of Spain."

When the demonstrations in the galleries were rebuked by the speaker, Mr. Bailey declared that the galleries were the American people in miniature. Mr. Cannon accused Mr. Bailey of "posturing" and playing to the galleries.

Mr. Hopkins (Rep., Ill.) suggested that there was need of discretion at such times as these. "We cannot advertise our weaknesses," said he, "nor make war preparations with a brass band."

The crowds which thronged the galleries of the House Tuesday were disappointed. There were no outbreaks of any kind on the floor on the Cuban question. Several bills were passed, among them one to pay the heirs of John Roach, the shipbuilder, $350,000 on a claim which has been pending a dozen years, and another to pay O. C. Bobbysmith, superintendent of the Philadelphia mint, $17,000 extracted from the gold vaults by a weigh clerk.

After waiting patiently in the galleries and corridors of the House for hours Monday, the thousands who had come to hear the President's Cuban message turned away weary and disgusted at the delay.

Never was there such disappointment at the capitol. The members felt it even more keenly than the spectators, and for two hours afterward they stood about the lobbies discussing this latter phase of the situation. The news of the proposed armistice, which came on the heels of the announcement that General Lee had cabled for delay, received quite as much attention as the request of Lee. The debate in progress in the House over the army reorganization bill attracted little or no attention.

There was a scene of great excitement in the house Thursday during the consideration of the bill for the reorganization of the army. It was caused by Mr. Lentz, an Ohio Democrat, who made a vicious assault on the administration. Mr. Lentz was met by Gen. Grosvenor with an emphatic reply. Gen. Grosvenor declared that it was stock jobbers who were behind the assaults on the president.

Andrew Lang once called at the house of the late James Payn to inquire about his health. The servant informed him in a broad accent that it was one of the novelist's "whist days." Mr. Lang imagined that the servant referred to Mr. Payn being worse, and expressed his regret and walked away. But the woman meant to say that it was the day on which Mr. Payn was wont to receive three old friends, who made a four at whist! Both gentlemen were amused at the mistake which deprived each of the pleasure of meeting. At the Reform Club in years gone by there was a certain group of well-known whist players, among whom James Payn was certain to be found, enjoying "the rigor of the game."

At 8:30 a few mornings ago an office on Exchange street, Bangor, Me., had not been opened for the day. On the door was a sign, "Not Dead, but Sleeping."

Inflammatory Rheumatism.

From H. L. Lawrence, Plaindealer, Canton, N. Y. To suffer for years with a prevailing painful ailment, which baffled skillful medical treatment, yet which was cured by a simple household remedy, is the lot which befell Mrs. George L. Rogers, of West Main Street, Canton, N. Y.

"Thirteen years ago," said Mrs. Rogers to a reporter, "I was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism and a complication of diseases. You can judge somewhat of what I endured, when you look at these hands. They were distorted, twisted and swollen. My feet, too, is so much out of shape that the big toe lays across the others, the end touching the little toe."

Goes to Church. "Notwithstanding I am sixty-five years old, I have a pleasant home and a comfortable life to me as far from enjoyment as for all other things pale into insignificance when you are without good health. I tried different doctors and many proprietary remedies, but was not benefited."

"Last March I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and before I had finished the first box I began to feel that they were doing me good. I continued using them and steadily grew better. 'I have used thirteen boxes of the pills and to-day feel better than for the past fifteen years. My appetite is good, I feel bright, cheerful and have a desire to live and enjoy society.'

"I have been a member of the Methodist church for many years, but for six years was unable to attend. I am able now to attend the church services regularly and certainly appreciate that privilege. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People a wonderful medicine and am confident no other medicine could have effected the wonderful cure they have in my case." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are composed of vegetable remedies that exert a powerful influence in purifying and enriching the blood thus curing many diseases.

"Forcing" the Studies. The abandonment of the Froebel system in the government schools in Paris is an interesting educational announcement.

The Paris correspondent of the New York Evening Post makes this comment upon the change: "Experience has proved the wisdom of the old saying, 'Work when you work, and play when you play.' A game forced, the teachers say, is no longer a game; and while the children are amused at first, they soon weary of Froebel's instructive 'mother play.' The authorities here consider that prolonging during the ages of 8 and even 9, as the Froebel kindergartens do, the association of amusement and instruction, makes the child lacking in application and retards him, which is clearly proved by the fact that the children who leave the kindergartens at 7 go into the second and third grade of the primary schools, knowing reading, writing, addition, subtraction, the geography of France and the multiplication table up to seven. So while there are still occasional ardent devotees to this method in Paris, the government has pronounced against it, as failing to amuse from the standpoint of play, and hindering the fullest development in the nature of work." The prolonging of the kindergarten age is doubtless at the root of the trouble. There is no doubt that in this country, also, the spirit of the Froebel teaching is by no means always followed. But wherever it is comprehended the results are necessarily good, being founded upon a deep philosophical principle of life. The fault is not in Froebel's philosophy, not in the motor power, but in the sort of machinery used, so to speak, in the ignorance of the teachers of its rightful and spiritual and educational application.—Boston Transcript.

Stone Soles. An inventor has hit upon a method of putting stone soles on boots and shoes. He mixes a waterproof glue with a suitable quantity of clean quartz sand, and spreads it over the leather sole used as foundation. These quartz soles are said to be very flexible and practically indestructible, and to give the foot a firm hold even on the most slippery surface.

In the Year 1900.

A pale form lay upon a cot in the hospital. Friends and relatives were gathered at the bedside; all were gazing anxiously upon the wan face of the prostrate man. Grief was written upon their faces, and tears, unconsciously and unheeded, trickled down their cheeks. Oh, would he not awaken to speak one last word before he crossed over the dark river of death! Ah—look! His lips move, his eyelids slowly open, he struggles to speak! Finally the words came, in faint, quivering tones he asked:

"Tell me, tell me, what make of air ship was it that collided with mine?"

"Have peace, my dearest," pitifully sobbed the stricken wife, "it was an improved, ball-bearing, chainless 'Aerial' of the latest model."

"Thans heaven! Now I can die happy. It is the same make as mine."—New York Evening World.
