A Little of Everything.

Now let Old Glory's silken folds
 Upon the morning breeze float free;
 While bugle's note and war drum's toll
 Call men to arms from sea to sea,
 Stream out, proud banner, on the wind,
 In every hero's heart enshrined!

The tide of war that rises now
 Will stand at foot till every stain
 Of martyred blood is blotted from
 The riven wreckage of the Maine!
 Float out, proud banner, brave and free!
 The hero's guide to victory!

From every fortress by the sea,
 On every mast and spar
 Of battleships a token be
 Of victory in war!
 Proud banner float! Old Glory, wave
 O'er serried ranks of freemen, brave!

Now let the haughty Spaniard feel
 The lightning of our long-pent wrath;
 The bolt that belches fire and steel
 Will sweep the tyrant from his path,
 Wave, wave, Old Glory, proud and free!
 And perish Spanish tyranny!

 Here is a schoolboy's definition of eternity: "When our ships all come in; when the sea gives up her dead; when Father Time hangs up his cythe; when the heavens are rolled up like a scroll; when Gabriel blows the ram's horn; when the solar system collapses; when we find the lost Charley Ross and the man who struck Billy Patterson; when Johnny gets his gun, when society becomes pure, and after the ball is over—then will be eternity."
 Newton E. Matter, editor of the Illinoisian, published at Wheaton, Ill., accompanied by Mrs. R. H. Matter, Mrs. Nancy Matter and Mrs. D. B. Givler, all of Wheaton, were visitors at A. G. Milliren's a day or two last week. Mr. Newton made us a pleasant fraternal call. He seems to think the "Prairie State" surpasses the "Keystone State," but we would fail to agree with him. Mr. Matter, however, has a "clinch" on the newspaper business at Wheaton. The town has a population of 2,500, is a county seat, and the Illinoisian is the only paper published there.

Heavy Snorer.
 The heaviest snorer we have heard of is a Jackson street man whose wife woke him up, during a recent tempest, saying she did wish he would stop snoring, for she wanted to hear the thunder.

Give Them a Flag.
 Now that we have a company organized to go to war when the call is given, it would be a patriotic act for some of the societies, or the citizens in general, to present the company with a beautiful flag to unfurl as they march away to war. This would show a true patriotic spirit.

Memorial Sermon.
 The memorial sermon was preached in Centennial hall Sunday forenoon by Rev. John M. Dean. The G. A. R. Post, W. R. C. and S. of V. attended in a body. Centennial hall was too small to accommodate the large crowd and many were compelled to return to their homes. Rev. Dean preached an able sermon.

Benson-Burkhart.
 Ernest J. Benson, son of John Benson, of West Reynoldsville, and Miss Edna Burkhardt, daughter of Peter Burkhardt, of Pleasant avenue, this borough, were married at 5.30 P. M. Saturday by Rev. W. F. Reber, pastor of Presbyterian church. Mr. Benson is a telegraph operator on the A. V. R'y, located at DuBois, and his wife is held in high esteem by her friends in this place.

K. of P. Reunion.
 The Knights of Pythias of the first reunion district, consisting of the counties of Jefferson, Indiana, Clearfield, Elk and Clarion, will hold a reunion in Punxsutawney on Thursday, June 9. A number of the members of the Supreme and Grand lodges will be present. The district prize banner, given to the lodge having the largest percentage of its membership in line, will be competed for. A second prize will also be given, consisting of a sword and belt, to the lodge having most members in line. Excursion rates will be given on all roads.

Rushed With Work.
 The Reynoldsville woolen mill is the busiest industry in this section. The mill has so much work ahead that it will be necessary to run the mill day and night to get out the work. In a few days a night crew will be put on. The mill has an order from an Allegheny City firm for six hundred pairs of blankets, and a day or two ago a rush order was sent in from a Pittsburg house for three thousand pairs of blankets. This makes the second order for that number of blankets within two months. The mill is receiving large orders almost daily for flannels, &c.

McConnell's Park.
 Frank A. McConnell, proprietor of Frank's Tavern, has leased the Reynolds orchard, between Second and Third streets, and will fit it up for a park. Seats, water and gas lights will be put in the park, which will make it a delightful place in the day time or at night. Reynoldsville has been badly in need of a park and picnic ground and this will answer partly for the need of the town, but the orchard is not large enough for a picnic ground for a place the size of this town. There is no doubt but that the park will be appreciated by the people of the town. It is a commendable step.

Rev. Dean Has Resigned.
 Rev. John M. Dean, pastor of the Baptist church, who came here one year ago last winter to do evangelistic work and, after a successful revival in the Baptist church, accepted a call to become pastor of the church last Thursday evening, the same to take effect the first of August. Rev. Dean's congregation are sorry to lose him. He has certainly performed a good work for the church during his short pastorate. The church has increased in numerical strength and zeal, under Rev. Dean's administration, and is in better condition in all respects than it has been for years. Mr. Dean, although a young man, is an able preacher and a hard worker. When his connections with the Baptist church are severed he will take up evangelistic work again. Mr. Dean looks upon his stay here as a vacation from the more arduous work of an evangelist.

An Art Exhibition.
 A number of paintings, that are the handiwork of Miss Ella E. Seoley and a dozen of her art students, were on exhibition at Corwin's photograph gallery on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. The pictures were very pretty and showed evidence of skill, not only of the teacher but also the pupils. Quite a number of our people took in the exhibition. The pictures were numbered and the visitors were handed a printed catalogue as they entered the door and they were thus enabled to know the name of each painting and by whom the work was done. Besides Miss Seoley, the following students contributed to the exhibition: Agnes A. Stone, Alda B. McEntire, Mrs. Will H. Bell, Mary Rumberger, Louis Mellinger, Elizabeth Irving, Bertha Marshall, Mrs. Harry Moore, George B. Corbett, Mrs. M. E. Wood, Lydia Mellinger and Kittle Lowther. The Strouse and Humphrey Maudolin Club furnished music each evening.

BUTTER AND CHEESE FACTORY.
Machinery All Set—Will be Ready for Operation To-Morrow.
 The Reynoldsville butter and cheese factory will be ready to begin work to-morrow, Thursday. We visited the factory several days ago and were shown around by Mr. Treat, who is here to get the plant in working order. At the front of the building is the receiving room where all the milk will be weighed. In this room is a five beam scale and a six hundred pound can. The next is the main working room. In this room is a four hundred gallon milk receiving vat, which is connected by pipe with the weigh room; three hundred gallon cheese curdling vat; two cheese presses, a large and small one; separator with capacity of 2,500 pounds per hour; tempering tank; two milk pumps; water force pump. The first room to the right from main room is the churn room. In this is a two hundred and fifty gallon churn; three hundred gallon twin cream vat; one butter worker. Off from this room is the cold storage or refrigerator with ice rack and water pan. The second door to right from main room is the cheese curing room with sixteen shelves. It takes from twenty to sixty days to cure cheese. In the engine room is a ten-horse power engine and twelve-horse power boiler. There are steam and water connections through the entire building.
 The wagons that haul the milk to the factory can dispose of the milk at the front of the building and drive around to the right hand side and open a spigot and load up with skimmed milk. There is no doubt but this can be made to be a paying industry. The capacity of the factory is twelve thousand pounds per day. The only thing that can cripple the factory would be the supply of milk to keep it running, and as a number of farmers are interested in the industry there is little danger of this happening.
 The directors of the factory are C. Mitchell, treasurer, W. J. Boner, Henry Snyder, F. D. Smith, E. W. Deemer, H. Alex. Stoke.
 John Metzger, a German, will be the butter maker.

When Writing to Soldiers.
 The postoffice department wants all persons writing to soldiers to put the full name and address of the sender either upon the envelope or inclosure. The rank, company and regiment of a soldier should be included in the address to insure prompt delivery. But should the location of the regiment be unknown to the writer, the remainder of the address will insure safe delivery. The department will appoint at once postoffice inspectors for the purpose of looking after the mail intended for the troops. They will constantly be in touch with the troops, and provide ways and means for delivering the mail.

We can shoe the whole family, one at a time or all together. Robinson's.
 Over 100 pair of shoes at J. E. Welsh & Co.'s way down in price.

In compliance with a request received from Harrisburg Thursday afternoon, a company was organized at this place Friday evening and officers were elected. The company is to drill at least twice a week, which will be Tuesdays and Fridays on the ball grounds, and be ready to respond to a call promptly at any time. Charles B. Clark, who had five years experience in the regular army, is drill master.

ANTHRAX BROKE OUT AGAIN.
A Cow Died Here Last Week—Number of Cows Vaccinated.
 Anthrax, a disease that makes its appearance during summer months, has broken out again in this place. This scourge is peculiar to South American countries and is most fatal, but is particularly destructive to cattle. The disease made its appearance at Falls Creek last summer and four men and a quite a number of cattle died with it at that time. It is presumed that the disease was brought to Falls Creek with imported hides. All people or cattle that die from anthrax should be cremated, as the germs will get to the surface again if buried. A number of cattle also died at Pancoast, Reynoldsville and Brookville, which shows that the germs were carried in the waters of the Sandy Lick. Some of the cattle that died above this place last summer were buried near the banks of the Sandy Lick creek.
 Several weeks ago a cow died at Brookville, the first of last week one died at Pancoast and last Thursday Addison Gray's cow died at this place. Anthrax caused the death of these cows. The cows had been pasturing on low lands near the Sandy Lick creek. All three of the cows were cremated.
 The only precaution that can be taken against this dread disease, which requires years to eradicate, is vaccination. People having cows to vaccinate can have the work done free by notifying Dr. F. F. Hoffman, of Brookville, who is employed by the State Department to perform the work. Dr. Hoffman was here several days last week and vaccinated quite a number of cows. The State Department claims that the vaccine will not effect the cow's milk and that people who care to can use the milk continuously after the cow is vaccinated. The vaccine will be a preventive against the disease from six months to a year.
 Three begrimed foreigners and three cinnamon-colored bears invaded the streets of this town Saturday afternoon. The bears danced and performed in different parts of the town, but the main show was given at the corner of Fourth and Main streets. After the usual dancing, somersaults, &c., by the bears a purse of seventy-five cents was raised by the crowd to see one of the foreigners wrestle a bear. After the wrestling match one of the bears climbed a tree and the man who was mouth-piece for the dusty wanderers wanted the crowd to give him ten cents and he would call the bear down with a bugle blast, but the crowd agreed with one accord that the bear could remain on the tree, and then the smoked-colored chap blew his bugle and the bear made the descent without the extra ten cents going into the treasurer's pocket.
