TOURISTS ABROAD. Ioney They Spend Amounts to $100,000,000 a Year.

amount of money expended by In effect May 29, 1898. Trains leave Rentines in the second and th accessed enormously of late years. here has been recently filed s th the wiss minister of finance and c stoms t Bern a detailed statement of hotel celpts in that country, from which it ppears that the gross receipts of Swiss otels rose from 52,800,000 frames in 880 to 114,333,000 in 1894. The entire nnual expenses of the Swiss republic mount in a year to between $0,000,000 ad 90,000,000 francs (the budget for his year is given at the latter figure), nd it would seem, therefore, very much s if the hotels of Switzerland take in a year more than the government is elf does.

The Swiss figures are not the only ies furnished in Europe recently on ais point. A French record shows that ery year there are 270,000 foreigners ho pars from a fortnight to a whole rinter on the Riviern. Every person is supposed to expend on an averag. 1,000 frames, or $200, in the country. In other words, the foreign visitors spend in the country every winter the sum of $54,000,000. The English are put down as contributing one-third of this amount; the French themselves contribute another 'third; Germans, Belgians, Dutch, Russians and Americans contribute the remainder. From being a poor country when it was annexed to France in 1860 Nice has become one of the richest departments of the republic.

Some figures recently compiled of the revenues to hotels from teurists in Paris show the average number of foreign visitors to be 60,000. It is customary to estimate at 10 francs, or $2, a day the hotel bills of strangers in Paris. Estimating at $2 a day each the hotel bills of 60,000 tourists and at about as much more their other outlays it is to be seen that tourists in Paris can be put down for an expenditure of nearly $250,-000 a day.

The total sum expended by tourists in Europe in a year is probably not very far from $700,000,000, and a very considerable portion of this comes from the pockets, the purses and the bankers' balances of Americans, who are proverbially the most liberal among travelers. Russians come sooond, Brazilians third.-Exchange.

SLEEPWALKING.

Strange Things Men Do While In a State of Somnambulism.

Readers of that charming work of my late friend Wilkie Collins, "The Moonstone," will remember the sleepwalking feats of Mr. Franklin Blake when under the influence of an opiate. What the novelist describes as a piece of fiction may be paralleled from the solar records of science.

McNish, in his classic volume on "Sleep," tells us of a shepherd lad who, wrapt in slumber, walked miles to the place where his flock was pastured, waded through a river and returned home without waking. In another case a lad in his sleep scaled a precipitons cliff and brought home from it an engle's nest, which was found under his

A Scene of Terror In India. A Bengal postoffice superintendent ins received from one of his Babu inspectors this report of an accident at a river which had to be forded owing to the breakdown of a bridge: "As I was to pass the river or water through my cart for absence of any boat some alligators ran on my exen hence the exen getting fear foreibly took away my cart in an abyss below the water of 12 feet which the cartman failed to obstruct. The oxen foreibly left the cart and fled to the other side of the river by swimming. I myself be-ing inside the matscreen of my cart the whole cart fell down in the abyas, I used to cry loudly at the time. The cart with myzelf was drowned in the mean time the Overseer Babu Mehendra Nath Ghese and my cook jumped on the water and took my cart in a place where 435 water then I myself jumped on the water and saved my life. The alligators getting fear from the cart fled to the roadside and no sooner we came to the road they jumped on the water. Had I been under suffocation for three minutes more then there was no hope of my life.

• • • The nearest residents told thereafter that some men died this year in the abyes by the attack of the alligators. I am much unwell the voice of my speech is fallen low and out of order from the sufficiation."-London Standard.

Hill Was Fooled.

"Seen anything of a feller round here with red whiskers an a squint?" queried Bill Sykes of Newberg, as he adjusted his red comforter and blew a sonorons blast from his bibalous nose preparatory to taking a little stimulant. " 'cause if you have I've got business with him. He come to my house yesterday, an after talking around a spell an telling Hanner he thought she was my darter an making a fool of her he said he would have to inspect the well. Sent out by the state, you know. "Well, I got a pailful of water, an he poured some in a sasser and locked at it through a mikyscope. Then I look-ed at it, an say, fellers, that water was full of alligators a foot long-microbes he called 'em. The upshot was I bought the mikyscope and some stuff to put in the well to kill the animals, an I paid him $10, but 'twas partly Hanner's fault.

Here Bill looked around defiantly and continued: "That stuff was salt an water an there wan't no bugs. They were painted on the glass to the mikyscope. And with a rather derogatory remark about the honesty of man generally Bill left in quest of the man with the squint. -Dowagine Republican.

Effects of Imagination.

Some years ago a number of students in Europe were concerned in a charge which domonstrated the powerful effects of imagination. In a frolic they donned disguises and arrested another student. whom they tried in a theatrically arranged and dimly lighted chamber and condemned to death. For several hours they kept their horror stricken victim in a darkened room, and having informed him that he was to be beheaded bandaged his eyes and led him to another apartment.

A crowd was assembled, but restrained their mirth as the Alva, Weyler's Predecessor.

Star.

Crossing the Flemish borders, Alva aid siege to all the chief town every triumph he gained was sullied by the most vindictive cracity. In enpitulating the parrisons were shown no mercy, and "every atrocity which greed of rapine, wantonness of lust and bloodthirsty love of slaughter could devise was perpetrated by his express direc-tion." In spite of these horrors 'he war of liberation among the Dutch w. nt on, and the beacon fires of freedom were everywhere lighted.

Unfortunately at the time Queen Elizaboth of England bad re-established friendly relations with Spain, and the trading merchants and hardy mariners of the Netherlands were excluded from the kingdom. These "beggars of the as they styled themselves, driven SOL: back by necessity upon their own country, sought to establish a base for their patriotic operations and fell upon the Sminish currisons in the Dutch sonports of Brill and Flushing, and, expelling them, mised the banner of their Orange deliverer.

Alva was in time succeeded by his son, Don Frederic, but affairs took no brighter hue for the Dutch. Towns were taken by assault, and in spite of Spanish promises to spare life and property Alva could boastfully write to King Philip that they had out the throats of the burghers and all the garrison (of Naarden) and had not left a mother's son alive.-Self Culture.

He Did Not Recognize Whey.

The special correspondent of a well known trades paper furnished a most satisfactory laugh awhile ago for a friend of his who lives up in northern New York state, and he does not know it yet. He had gone up the state to visit some mill or other, and the before mentioned friend volunteered to drive him over to his destination. Now, while the special correspondent has a wonderfully general fund of information he knows little about the country, and when they were passing a large choose factory he exclaimed: "Why, there's a creamery! Just wait a minute while I go in and get a drink of buttermilk."

With this he jumped out of the carringe and entered the building. My country friend says that whey is not pleasant to take and that even the pigs won't cat it. But when the special correspondent asked for buttermilk the people in the factory gave him a big glass of thin, acidnous liquid, which he swallowed down at a draft. The drive was then continued. The special correspondent seemed to be very thoughtful. He finally exclaimed in his explosive fashion:

"Well, Smith, I don't know what breed of cows you raise up here, but that was the darndest buttermilk I ever tasted."-Paper Mill.

Two Steps at a Time,

One evidence of the ever hustling characteristics of the average New Yorker is shown on the stairways of the up town station of the elevated railroad at Park place and Church street. The steps of these stairways are covered with rubber, but every other step has large iron rings imbedded in the rubber.

This was caused by the fact that the New Yorker is never content to wait Remarkable Reache.

Mrs. Michael Cartain, of Plainfield. Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption: she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefitted from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles found berself sound and well: now does her own housework, and is as well as she over was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discoverynt H. A. bed in the morning. Abercrombie's case of the Scottish lawyer who, when worried over a perplexing case, was seen by his wife to rise from his bed in the night is an-other illustration of the occasionally purposive character of somnambulism. when, directed by its private secretaries. the sleeping ego is apparently roused from its couch and made to act the part of a pure automaton. This individual went to a writing desk which stood in his bedroom, sat down before the desk and wrote for some time. Then, replacing the paper within the desk, he re-turned to bed. In the morning he told his wife of a dream he had experienced, in which he imagined he had given a satisfactory opinion on the case which was troubling his mind. He expressed regret that he could not recall the train of thought represented in his dream. On his wife directing him to his writing desk, he found therein the opinion in question clearly written out and in every respect satisfactory.-Andrew Wilson, M. D., in Harper's Magazine.

Every big railroad in this country has a freight car in its equipment bearing the number 12,345, and yet I'll hay reasonable odds that you may tramp this town over and you will not be able to find a man, I care not how much he has traveled, who has ever seen a car with that number. Among railroad men it is known as the "sequence car" or the "one-two-three-four-five car." Perhaps you never looked for it. I have. For years in my travels I made it a practice to get out whenever the train stopped and take a look at the freight cars in sight, and I have met drummers who told me they did the same thing, but never a glimpse did I get of that car nor did I ever run across a man who had been so fortunate. Try it. Go aross the river. You will find hundreds of cars, but it's $10 to a pint of peanuts that car 12,345 will not be among them. -St. Louis Republic.

Oxygen is a million times less "at-tractable" or "susceptible" than iron, and therefore experiments to show its attractability have to be extremely del-icate. It was with one of them that Professor Fleming concluded his lecture. He took a soap bubble-scap and water, by the way, being diamagnetic-and filling it with air placed it in the field of a very strong electro magnet. The bubble did not quiver. Then he filled another bubble with oxygen, and again turned on the current. Instantaneously the bubble inclined itself toward the magnet. It bobbed back again when the current was turned off, but at a second attempt, when again the current was turned on, the attraction so unsettled it that it burst.-London Graphic.

Gunpowder Explosion.

The actual chemical result of the explosion of a charge of gunpowder cannot be told with accuracy. The general idea of what happens is that when the temperature of the igniting agent reaches 482 degrees F. the sulphur bursts into flame; the saltpeter, acted upon by the heat, frees the oxygen with which it is highly charged, and, combining with the charcoal, forms carbonic acid and oxide, while the nitrogen s liberated.

The products of combustion are approximately 57 per cent of solid matter and 43 per cent of permanent gases ----New York Snn.

Strategy.

Mr. Chamberlain when a little boy was playing one day with his sister at a game of "battle," each child having a regiment of toy soldiers and a popgun when he hears one approaching as he is at the foot of the stairs he will rush up the stairs two steps at a time hoping to catch the train.

As a result the elevated railroad officials noticed that the rabber matting on every other step was wearing out twice as quickly as the rest. For a long time they pondered as to the cause, and one day Manager Fransioli solved the problem. To know was to act in his case, and the steel re-enforced rabber now lasts if mything longer than the ordinary mats on the other steps .- New York Sun.

A Clever Draftsman.

The slickest draftsman in our office at this kind of work is a little, dark complexioned fellow who sits in a corner and says never a word. He has a glass eye and three wooden legs. His name is Camera. He takes his cap off at a drawing for only a minute and says to the foreman : "I have made a more accurate copy than any tracer in the office could have done. Every line is exact, every circle is true and all your figures are correctly copied. If you are using your drawing for constant reference, I will only delay you a minute, and your copy will be ready for printing in an hour. To any intelligent man such an appeal will not pass without a careful examination .- American Machinist.

Where the Pecan Grows.

The pecan is a near relative of the hickory nut. It does not thrive in all lands that the hickory nut will, but the hickory nut will grow well wherever the pecan will. The home of the pecan is the low, rich bottom land that lies along the Wabash, Mississippi, White and Big Bend rivers, while they seem to grow equally as well in the Indian Territory and in the best watered parts of Texas.—Little Rock Democrat.
