An Experiment with the Memory.

Starting with the word Washington, write down one hundred words just as they occur to you. Let your second word be the one which Washington naturally suggests to you. Possibly it will be capital. It may be President. Take the word which first comes into your mind. In the same manner let the third word be suggested by the second, the fourth by the third, and so on. Be careful that the third word is not suggested by both the first and second. Drop the first entirely, and let your mind go from the second alone to the third. Having written this list of words, you will have furnished yourself with a cheap but very useful mirror of your mind. If you are able to use this mirror, you may discover some very serious defects in your mental processes. You may discover that you think along certain lines too frequently. You may discover that you are using superficial principles quite too much to the neglect of more important laws of mind. You will be led to avoid certain linkages and to encourage others of a more philosophical nature.—Saturday Evening Post.

TWO GRATEFUL WOMEN

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Can Do My Own Work."

Mrs. PATRICK DAREHY, West Winsted, Conn., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It is with pleasure that I write to you of the benefit I have derived from using your wonderful Vegetable Compound. I was very ill, suffered with female weakness and displacement of the womb. "I could not sleep at night, had to walk the floor, I suffered so with pain in my side and small of my back. Was troubled with bloating, and at times would faint away; had a terrible pain in my heart, a bad taste in my mouth all the time and would vomit; but now, thanks to Mrs. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound, I feel well and sleep well, can do my work without feeling tired; do not bloat or have any trouble whatever.

"I sincerely thank you for the good advice you gave me and for what your medicine has done for me."

"Cannot Pray It Enough."

Miss GERTIE DUNKIN, Franklin, Neb., writes:

"I suffered for some time with painful and irregular menstruation, falling of the womb and pain in the back. I tried physicians, but found no relief. "I was at last persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me. I feel like a new person, and would not part with your medicine. I have recommended it to several of my friends."

TAPE WORMS

"A tape worm eighteen feet long at least came out the other day. I am sure I have caused my good health for the past three years. I am still taking Cascarets, the only cathartic worth notice by sensible people."

ELECTRIC BELL OUTFIT

FOR WOMAN'S BENEFIT.

Comforting One Another. An organization known as the Woman's Home Guard, under the leadership of Mrs. Young, wife of the colonel of the First Illinois cavalry, has been formed in Chicago. The association was started with the object of supplying comforts for men in the war; but since the death of the husband of one of its members its chief object has become the comforting of one another.

She Is a Good Station Agent.

A Southern young woman of good family is railroad station agent at Rowland, Ky., having held the position for two years. At 18 she was graduated from the South Kentucky college at Hopkinsville, and soon secured a position as assistant to her brother, who held the agency which the young woman herself now fills. Then, when her brother went off traveling in Central America, and his successor suddenly died, Miss Lasley, who had meantime been keeping her eyes open and learning all that was to be known about a railroad station, was called to fill the position.

Broad Belts for Slender Women.

Broad, soft belts are in vogue again. They are specially suited to slender, graceful women. The prettiest are made of very soft satin ribbon in bright plaids and stripes, or plain black or white. The ends are plaited into a small fancy buckle, but in the back and on the sides the ribbon hugs the figure high up, girlish fashion. Broad, soft belts have one distinct advantage over the narrow leather or jeweled ones; they can be pulled down and pinned firmly to the skirt, keeping it from parting from the shirt waist. Buckles with enameled flags and shields are much used on these belts.

One Wheelwoman's Record.

The third highest century record of bicyclist in the United States is held by a woman, Mrs. A. E. Rinehart, who is now a resident of Syracuse. She is said to have "made more miles" on the wheel than any other woman in the world, having traveled something like 20,000. She ascribes her unusually good health to the abundant exercise she takes. Outside of New York state Mrs. Rinehart has won the Colorado mileage record and also another record in that state for century runs, of which she has made 118. She holds another record for a time century. She has run three double centuries and made 20 centuries in 20 days, an almost unparalleled achievement.

The Bang in the Horizon.

Fashion's weather-vane has veered again, and it points toward curled bangs. A few ringlets here and there with seeming unconcern. With warmer weather the overgrown pompadours had to lessen in the interests of comfort. The bang is the natural reaction, since women are agreed that the hair should be fluffed in some style to frame the face at its best. Not that the "rat" has been banished completely. Women are wearing them yet but wearing them smaller. She who dares to have opinions about matters of fashion, if she permits her hairdresser to "bang" her hair at all, will direct her net to cut her curls too short. At the seashore front curls are quite unmanageable, and the bang must be left long enough to pin back tidily in the teeth of the gale; even in the mist of morning and dew of evening.—New York Press.

Curious Fad in Gloves and Boots.

It is difficult to understand the curious fad women have adopted now. They insist upon wearing the boots and gloves of their small brothers. For women who have hands and feet big enough to allow them to patronize or shop where boys' clothes are kept, this is very well. But the girl with a roseleaf hand and a foot the fairies might envy, has to go to the expense of having her ugly boots and shoes made. It is a fad which she frowns upon, of course. And quite right she is. When will woman learn that it is that air of mystery and her femininity that makes her charming to man? If she adopts his ties, his boots and his gloves, where will she stop? A woman's foot in a dainty boot all her own is very much more apt to have the privilege of stepping upon the coat man gallantly spreads in her path, and the tiny hand, in a wrinkled mousquetaire glove, is more apt to be disposed of than one that suggests to a man his small impish brother.

Women Railroad Presidents.

California women have a way of doing unusual things and doing them well. There is Dr. Emma Sutro Merritt, eldest daughter of Adolph Sutro, who is managing her father's big estate. She is president of the Sutro Electric railway, which runs to the Cliff house at San Francisco, and she is said to be the first woman to be president of such a railroad, although Mrs. Rikert is president of a company that is building a railroad in Tuolumne county and a Los Angeles woman has been a very successful president of a street railway. Mrs. Merritt is a graduate of Vassar college in the year 1877, and of Toland Medical college in San Francisco in 1881. She has also a degree from the School of Medicine in Paris. In company with her husband, who is also a physician, she has studied in leading European hospitals. A few months ago, when it was found that Mr. Sutro could no longer manage his affairs, Mrs. Merritt was the choice of her five brothers and sisters for the place of guardian of their father's person and estate. The Sutro fortune mounts up into the millions, covers a wide variety of interests, and is said to be at present in a rather complicated condition. Its entire management falls upon Mrs. Merritt, who has entirely given up her medical practice in order to devote herself to her new duties. As the estate owns a majority of the stock in the electric railway she has been made its president. She is said to possess her father's keen business instincts and much of his ability.—New York Sun.

Miss Reel's Appointment.

Progressive women throughout the country rejoice that President McKinley has appointed Miss Estelle Reel of Wyoming as superintendent of Indian schools. Miss Reel is a young woman who has already achieved the distinction of being the first woman in the country elected to a state office. She is at present state superintendent of public instruction for Wyoming, and now she has arrived at the honor of being the first woman appointed to an office of such importance by the president of the United States. Miss Reel bears her new honors modestly, although her rooms at the Arlington are beautiful with the flowers sent by loving friends and constituents, and her desk is loaded down with congratulatory letters and telegrams from all over the country.

The fight that Miss Reel has made for the place has been long and hard, and only a woman of indomitable pluck, perseverance and energy could have continued in it until victory was won. There have been many applicants for the post, as it is considered a most desirable one—men who had the strongest backing from the educational people of the country, and politically as well, but out of it all has come the appointment of Miss Reel, the only woman candidate. Her claims in the way of ability to fill the place and in influence from every source exceeded those of any other applicant. The one great objection lay in her sex, and on that ground the president, the secretary of the interior, under whose department the office comes, and the senators from the east all hesitated and pondered well. The western senators are used to women in public affairs, and thought merely of her ability. Miss Reel says she could not help but persevere in her quest when her friends stood by her and did all they could. She looks back with pleasure on the support received from women and especially from the women of New York, who earnestly urged her appointment. Their aid and that of the press, which gave expression to their desires, was no small factor in her final success.

Fashion Notes.

Pigeon throat and fuchsia reds are the most fashionable tints in this color.

Cheeks in high colors are the prevailing style, and will most probably hold sway in the fall.

Colored capes are among the many and varied fashions this season. They are trimmed with braid and buttons.

Pineapple gauze, pretty and cool, and in soft, delicate colors for summer wear, comes, of course, from the Philippines.

A patriotic little neck band, three cords to wear inside the collar of the gown, alternating red, white and blue, are being worn.

Taffeta waists, covered with heavy cream and black net, either put on as applique or in accordion plaits, are much worn this season.

Sashes of white satin ribbon are worn with pale gray and light lawn gowns. The ends are cut round and trimmed with some sort of lace, point, possibly, if you can afford it.

Stylish belt ribbons are five or six inches wide, plain colors, the ends plaited to ordinary belt ribbon width and fastened to a narrow buckle or clasp, which is fastened in front.

An aristocratic dinner basket is three quarters of a yard tall, more slender than a waste paper basket, and into it fit earthenware dishes one on top of the other for carrying things hot.

Some of the white linen summer stays have an American flag daintily embroidered on the left side, so that the patriotic wearer may wear her country's flag close to her heart all the time.

A reproduction of the 10-inch gun of the late lamented Maine is a pretty silver pencil, a little clumsy for small figures; but what cannot be done when there is a worthy cause and an attractive effect?

Black velvet stockings with the effect of steel bead embroidery have belts to match. Pale gray stocks with vest fronts and belts to match and the steel embroidery effect are for more dressy wear, as are those of pale pink and blue.

A small detail in home dressmaking has been cleverly supplied in the stiff collar lining for the necks of bodices. It may be bought by the yard in black or white, while a quantity sufficient for one collar-band may be had at the modest price of five cents.

One of the very latest whisms in silk walking skirts is that they should be made of the self same silk as the gown, and your dressmaker will fill the order by sending both gown and skirt home at the same time. Check taffetas are a great success when duplicated in this way.

Parasols ruffled from hem to stick are pretty, fluffy and effective. Pretty little inexpensive parasols come in plain colors, green, lavender, rose pink, to match different gowns. They have an effective striped edge. A more expensive parasol is a heavy corn colored silk with a border of blue.

Stones in Her Stomach.

From the Gazette, Blandville, Ill. The wife of the Rev. A. B. Adams, pastor of the Bedford Christian Church at Blandville, Ill., was for years compelled to live a life of torture from disease. Her case baffled the physicians, but to-day she is alive and well, and tells the story of her recovery as follows:

"About six years ago," said Mrs. Adams, "I weighed about 140 pounds, but my health began to fail and I lost flesh. My food did not agree with me and felt like a stone in my stomach. I began to bloat all over until I thought I had dropped."

"I had pains and soreness in my left side which extended clear across my back and also into the region of my heart. During these spells a hard ridge would appear in the left side of my stomach and around the left side."

"These attacks left me more and more exhausted. All last summer I was so nervous that the children laughing and playing nearly drove me wild. I suffered also from female troubles and doctored with ten different physicians without receiving any help."

"My husband having read in the newspaper of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, induced me to try them. I began taking them last November but expected no result until I had taken six boxes. I am now greatly benefited."

"I was also troubled with nervous prostration and numbness of my right arm and hand so that at times I could hardly endure the pain, but that has all passed away. I now have a good appetite and am able to do my own work. Have done more this summer than in the past four years put together. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cured me and I think it my duty to let other sufferers know it."

Hundreds of equally remarkable cases have been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Within the past month the first iron bridge erected in the State of Ohio has been removed. This bridge was over Salt Creek on the Central Ohio division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad built in Washington County and was built in 1851. It was a single span, 71 feet in length and was known as a "Bollman deck truss bridge with plate girders." Bollman was at that time Chief Engineer of Construction of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Steel wire cables, moistened with wet sand and passing in an endless rope over a series of pulleys, are used in the French quarries of St. Triphon for the saving of stone. The wire runs at a rate of from 1,900 to 3,200 feet per minute and is charged as it enters the cut with a jet of water and silicious sand, which forms the cutting material. A running cable 500 feet in length can make a cut 100 feet long.

Vanity of Dummy Shoes.

It is said that a coquettish trick prevails among the women at the seaside and watering-place hotels in Europe. They have extra sets of tiny boots and shoes made, not for wear, but to be left outside their bedroom doors. It seems that foreigners, particularly Frenchmen, are in the habit of scrutinizing closely the ladies' boots in the corridors of hotels. The furnishing of such tiny sets is a recognized part of the boot and shoe trade in Paris. It is also said that similar sets of very small boots, and shoes, and slippers are sold by the big shoe houses of Paris to be placed on exhibition with the bride's trousseau. The French boot-makers say that the Madrid ladies have the smallest feet, the Peruvian and Chilian ladies next. Ladies from the United States are also remarkable for their small feet. Russian ladies have heavy, splay feet. In Northern Europe the best-shaped feet are those of the women of Sweden. In Paris, the Jewesses are noted for their small feet, and are very particular about their chausseure. German women have large, flat feet, and English women are noted on the Continent for awkwardly made boots and shoes. Dona Bertha, wife of Don Carlos, the Pretender, wears a five-and-a-half. Lady Malet, wife of the ambassador, has a phenomenally small foot.—Saturday Evening Post.

A Fortune From a Scare.

An inventive genius who suffered from attacks by stray dogs when riding his wheel, set his wits to work to devise something which would be an efficacious, and yet comparatively harmless, means of defense. As a result he has brought out and patented a pocket pistol which will shoot ammonia, water or other liquid. The most vicious dog cannot withstand a few drops of ammonia in his mouth or eyes, and yet there is no danger of actually injuring a valuable animal which might playfully annoy a rider. The weapon has proved so much of a success as a means of defense as well as fun-making, that the lucky inventor is realizing much money from his device.

LIQUID PHOENIX

50c. ACTUAL SIZE.

It is a weapon which protects bicyclists against vicious dogs and foot-pads; travelers against robbers and toughs; homes against thieves and tramps, and is adapted to many other situations. It does not kill or injure; it is perfectly safe to handle; makes no noise or smoke; breaks no law and creates no lasting regrets, as does the bullet pistol. It simply and amply protects, by compelling the foe to give undivided attention to himself for awhile instead of to the intended victim. It is the only real weapon which protects and also makes fun, laughter and lots of it; it shoots, not once, but many times without reloading; and will protect by its appearance in time of danger, although loaded only with liquid. It does not get out of order; is durable, handsome, and nickel plated.
