Hopkins saw mill, after a three weeks' shut down, was started yesterday morning. Low water and scarcity of logs had something to do with the shut down. There are logs enough in now for about six weeks sawing and then the mill will be supplied with logs from McDonald's log job near Rathmel, from where the logs will be hauled by rail to this place and rolled into the Sandy Lick creek.

Three prisoners escaped from the Elk county jail at 6.30—in broad daylight—on Tuesday evening of last week. The prisoners sawed off two iron bars which gave them a small hole for escape. They tied two blankets together with a piece of ticking, tied one end of the rope made of blankets to the feed pipe of the closet and slid down the rope to the lawn and skipped. Two of the prisoners were wanted in Clarion for breaking jail at that place.

On Friday night of last week Michael, fourteen-year-old son of Patrick Ward, of West Reynoldsville, was severely injured while playing ball. Mike was catcher and one of the batters, in striking at the ball, swung his bat clear around, striking him in the face, knocking him down and rendering him unconscious from the blow. Although nothing more serious than a very sore face was the result, yet it was a very narrow escape for the young man.

Stuck "By Gum."

During the Sunday school hour at the Presbyterian church last Sunday one of the scholars stuck a piece of chewing gum on the back of a seat and forgot to pick the gum off after Sunday school. A lady with a fine silk waist attended preaching and occupied the seat where the gum had been left. Soon after the services began the lady found herself a prisoner. The gum had made a strong attachment between the silk waist and the back of the seat.

Royal Arcanum Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Central Association, Royal Arcanum, will be held at Phillipsburg to-morrow, July 21st. Great preparations have been made for the occasion and the Phillipsburg people promise to make this the banner picnic of the district. Fare for round trip to Phillipsburg, adults $1.25, children 65 cents.

Crowded With Work.

The woolen mill at this place is crowded with work. The mill is running day and night. There are orders enough now to keep the plant running double time until the first of the year, and still the orders come in. L. W. Huyck, foreman of the mill, was in Brookville one day last week to get the factory at that place to make yarn to fill some of the orders of the Reynoldsville mill. Messrs. Arnold, Alexander & Sykes may have to enlarge their mill. The superiority of work is what gives this mill such a rush of orders.

Caught in a Whirlwind.

A young lady of this place was going to West Reynoldsville one afternoon last week to call on a friend and when near the Moore House she noticed a cloud of dust coming down the street, but thought nothing of it until her umbrella was turned wrong side out, her hat gone and her skirts flapping around promiscuously, then she recognized the whirlwind. The young lady was so embarrassed that she did not stop to look for her hat. She had not proceeded far, however, until she was informed that the missing hat was on the roof of the Moore House. The hat pin had snapped asunder and thus the hat escaped.

Defeated at Big Run.

Our base ball team lost the first game this season at Big Run last Thursday, the score being 4-5. The Big Run umpire made some "rotten" decisions in favor of his club. The umpire informed some of our players in the first inning that it made no difference how well they played the game would be given to Big Run, and he made his decisions accordingly. Our boys were not at all pleased with the treatment received at Big Run and some of them say they will never go there again to play ball. Williams, of Rathmel, pitched for Big Run, and John Burge pitched and Walter Williams caught for our team. Burge pitched a fine game.

Change in Head Clerks.

L. M. Weitzel, who has been head clerk in the Jefferson Supply Co. store over a year, has resigned and will move to Glen Campbell, Pa., next week to work in a store in which he is a partner. Mr. Hill will move his family to this place as soon as he can get a suitable house.

Town Council Meeting.

A meeting of the town council was held last Wednesday evening. The following members were present: Corbett, Smith, Reynolds, Deible, and Hoover. Mr. Corbett occupied the chair as president pro tem.

A petition, signed by citizens of Fourth street extension, was presented asking council to cause a sidewalk to be built from Mabel street to borough line. The petition was referred to the street committee with power to act on the same.

S. T. Reynolds requested permission to make an entrance to the basement of his brick block, said entrance to be 2 feet, 8 in. by 14 feet on alley leading from Main to Jackson street. The matter was referred to street committee with power to act.

On motion two $100.00 bonds were ordered to be redeemed. Ordinances Nos. 50 and 51, providing for sewers on Gordon and Willow alleys, passed final reading and were ordered to be published. Street committee reported that they had not been able to procure the services of an engineer to establish grade on Main street, between Hotel Bolnap and Hotel McConnell.

Crystal Wedding Anniversary.

Tuesday, July 12th, being the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Clark, now residents of West Reynoldsville, some of the ladies of that borough decided to give Mr. and Mrs. Clark a "crystal wedding" surprise, and consequently about fifty persons were informed of the proposed invasion of Mr. Clark's residence at 8.00 P. M. on the day of the wedding anniversary. When the hour for the surprise arrived, about forty people, loaded with presents, ice cream, cake and various kinds of dainties, marched to Mr. Clark's residence and took full possession of the house without any resistance on the part of the inmates. The bride and groom of fifteen years ago were greatly surprised, but were soon reconciled to the condition of affairs. A few hours were pleasantly spent.

July 12th 1883, John S. Clark was married to Miss Annie Lewis at Verona, Pa. They have lived in West Reynoldsville several years. Mr. Clark has charge of the wreck car on the A. V. R'y and does extra carpenter work for the company.

More Sewerage.

Town council has granted the request for more sewerage, as will be found by reading ordinances Nos. 50 and 51 in this issue of THE STAR. The sewers will be laid on Willow alley, which is between Main and Grant streets, and Gordon alley, which is between Main and Jackson streets. On Willow alley the sewer will be laid from Fifth street to Pitchpine Run, the stream that runs under Main street at Tapper's livery stable. On Gordon alley the sewer is to be laid from Sixth street to Pitchpine run. This covers a section of the town where a number of cellars have water standing in them most all the time. The sewer ordinances are all right so far as they go. The entire town should have a good sewer system.

A majority of the property holders on Grant street, from Fifth to Sixth streets, will present a petition to council at next meeting for a sewer on Grant street, from Fifth to Sixth.

A portion of the town already has a sewerage and if the work keeps going on it will only be a few years until the entire town has a good sewerage.

Caught in Storm on the Ocean.

County Commissioners Samuel States, John J. Hinderliter and W. C. Murray, who were accompanied by their wives, returned a few days ago from a ten day pleasure trip to Philadelphia and Atlantic City. They spent two days "taking in" the sights in the "City of Brotherly Love." Old ocean came very near robbing Jefferson county of her three commissioners. At Atlantic City the entire Jefferson county party, with some others, went out in a sail boat to fish, but the proverbial "fishermen's luck" was not applicable to this party, for they caught some large fish, a number of them would weigh forty pounds. Commissioner Hinderliter caught the first fish and when he was pulling it out of the ocean he thought it was at least four feet long, but when it was secured in the boat it did not measure quite so much. This fish cost Mr. Hinderliter $1.50 extra, for it was agreed when the party started fishing that the one who caught the first fish was to treat the crowd, and John didn't squeal. Barring sea sickness, among the ladies, of course, there was nothing to mar the pleasure of the fishing excursion until a terrific storm overtook them four miles out on sea. It was thought for a few minutes that the sail boat would capsize and the entire party would be buried beneath the white capped waves of the Atlantic. Just what unuttered promises were made to the God of the Waves in those few minutes of threatened annihilation will not likely be known until the Great Books are opened on that day "when the sea gives up its dead," at least the county commissioners are not telling what new resolutions they made. However, they do acknowledge they were frightened.

They Are Now Soldiers.

The Jefferson County Company of Volunteers was examined and mustered in at Punxsutawney Thursday and Friday of last week, and at 3.17 P. M. Saturday started for Chocomauga, Ga., to join the 16th Regiment. This company will be known as Company I, 16th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers. An immense crowd, including a number of Reynoldsville people, gathered at the P. & N. W. R'y depot to see the boys go. When the train started one band played "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and another band played "Nearer My God to Thee," the people cheered and the whistles and bells of the town joined in giving the boys a rousing farewell.

Six stalwart young men, out of eight, from this place passed the examination and joined Company L, as follows: Walter D. Williams, Herbert Burns, Jay Evans, James Foley, Fred Stauffer and Atmore Shaffer. Company L will not have any braver soldiers in the ranks than the six young men from Reynoldsville.

When it was learned Friday evening that the boys would leave Punxsutawney Saturday afternoon, about twenty-five young men hired rigs and drove to Punxsy to say good bye to our boys. It was a solemn time for all the boys when they said good bye. Saturday some of the parents and a number of friends drove to Punxsy to see the boys start.

This applies to both the regular troops and the militia volunteers."
