In addressing the commission the president said, among other things:

"Gentlemen—Before suggesting the matter which shall come before you for investigation, I desire to express my appreciation to each of you for your willingness to accept the patriotic service to which you have been invited. You are to perform one of the invited.

my appreciation to each of you for your willingness to accept the patriotic service to which you have been invited. You are to perform one of the highest public duties that can fall to a citizen, and your unselfishness in undertaking it makes me produndly grateful.

"There has been in many quarters, severe criticism of the conduct of the war with Spain. Charges of criminal neglect of the soldiers in camp and field and hospital and in transports have been so persistent that, whether true or false, they have made a deep impression upon the country. It is my earnest desire that you shall theroughly investigate these charges, and make the fullest examination of the administration of the war department in all of its branches, with the view to establishing the truth or falsity of these accusations.

"I put upon you no limit to the scope of your investigation. Of all departments connected with the army, I invite the closest scrutiny and examination, and shall afford every faculty for the most searching inquiry. The records of the war department and the assistance of its officers shall be subject to your call.

"I can not impress upon you too strongly my wish that your investigation shall be so thorough and complete that your report, when made, will fix the responsibility for any failure or fault by reason of neglect, incompetency or maladministration upon the officers and bureaus responsible therefor—if it be found that the evils compained of have existed.

"The people of the country are entitled to know whether or not the citizens who promptly responded to the call of duty have been neglected or misused or maltreated by the government to which they so willingly gave their service. If there have been wrongs committed, the wrong-doers must not escape conviction and punishment."

President Visite a Hospital

Unannounced, President McKinley a few days ago made a personal inspection of the hospital at Fort Meyer, Virginia. The President carefully inspected the kitchen and examined the food supplied to the hospital patients. At the conclusion of his examination he expressed himself as well satisfied with the arrangements made for caring for the sick, but desired it to be understood that the patients were to want for nothing that would improve their condition or render them more comfortable. The patients were particularly pleased at the visit of the President, and Maj. Davis said, as the party left the hospital, that it would do more to cheer up the sick men than any quantity of medicine. any quantity of medicine

The trial of Col. Picquart and Lobials, a lawyer, on the charge of revealing documents concerning the national defense, was to have begun at Paris a few days ago before the correctional tribunal. The public prosecution, however asked for an adjournment on the ground that the prosecution of Col. Piquart on the charge of fergery and using forged documents had been ordered by the minister of war. M. Laberi, who was counsel for M. Zola during the latter's famous trial, indignantly opposed the adjournment, which he said was an attempt to hand over Col. Picquart into the clutches of the military authorities.

Col. Picquart then rose and made a statement, which caused a sensation. He said: "This is, perhaps, the last time I shall speak in public. I shall sleep, perhaps, in the military prison of Cherche Midi. Therefore, I wish to declare that if I find there the strangling cord of Le Mercler Pictard, or the razor of Col. Henry, it will be murder, for I have no idea of committing suicide." vealing documents concerning the na-

The Evacuations of the Spaniards Must Begin Octob 18 - Protest Against the Removal of the

The officials at Washington are watching with interest the progress beng made by the Military Commission at Havana in securing the evacuation of Cuba. The commission has been very slow in making reports to the war department, but from the latest reeived it appears that the body would like to have more definite instructions as to procedure.

It seems that the Spanish side has said that they could not begin the evacuation of the island until the 1st of November, and that it could not be completed before the 28th of February.

November, and that it could not be completed before the 28th of February. In view of the alarming state of the Cubans, who are suffering from hunger and the inability in the present uncertain conditions to obtain work, the president decided that he could not assent to the consumption of so much time. Therefore, he caused the commission to be instructed to demand that the evacuation by the Spaniards begin not later than October 15, and that it be completed by December 31.

What the result of this demand will be is not yet known, but it is said that the administration is determined to tolerate no dilatory tactics on the part of the Spanish forces in leaving the island, although disposed to permit reasonable indulgence.

Notice has also been taken of the expressed purpose of the Spanish Captain General to remove from the island the remains of Christopher Columbus, with part of the surmounting monument. If a monument is not a permanent fixture, then it is hard to decide what is, and it is possible that attention will be called to the infraction of the terms of the protocol, although this must be done with haste in order to succeed in its object, as the removal is said to be fixed for Tuesday.

The officials of the war department pronounced to be without foundation the alarmist stories coming from sources in San Francisco that Germany had shown a disposition to arm the Philippine insurgents with a view to inciting them to harrass the American army at Manila.

Albert Tatzke, of Rochester, N. Y., who has gained much notoriety as "the strong jawed man" in dime museums, added to his fame a few days ago by drawing a freight car weighing 74,000 pounds on the level for 15 feet with his teeth. New York Central engine No. 23, with John Ott as engineer, had Tatzke on board. He held a mouth piece, to which a chain was attached connecting the car. When all was ready Ott started the engine gently and with it came the car. Last spring Tatzke arranged to pull against a team of horses. The driver started the horses on a jump, which resulted in the loss of three teeth.

Stars and Stripes Float at Harans.

Stars and Stripes Float at Havana Tuesday morning the first American flag in Havana was hoisted on the flag-staff of the Trocha hotel, the head-quarters of the American evacuation commission. A guard of marines was posted at the entrance to the grounds. Col. Clous and Capt. Payne stood on the roof of the hotel at either side of the flagstaff. At 10 o'clock sharp a quartermaster of the steamer Resolute hoisted the flag, which unfurled and fluttered proudly in the breeze.

Strangled to Death

Andrew Cassagne was strangled to death by three men the other night in the tenement in Brooklyn. Mrs. Cassagne had left the room for a few minutes, and returning found her husband dead on the floor, while three men stood over him. She was grasped by two of the men, who choked her nearly to insensibility, while the third man searched the room, finding $500 under the mattress of the bed. The three men then fled.
