Conventions at Sykesville.

J. L. Long, Esq., of Sykesville, was a pleasant caller at THE STAR office Saturday afternoon. Mr. Long, who has been a member of the program committee for Bible School Conventions of the Clearfield Baptist Association for years, says the convention of the above Association held in Sykesville last Wednesday was one of the best conventions ever held by the Association. The morning, afternoon and evening sessions were well attended and great interest was taken in the program.

The B. Y. P. U. convention held in Sykesville on Thursday was also well attended and was very interesting.

Quite a number of Reynoldsville people attended both conventions.

The people of Sykesville are very hospitable and can entertain delegates right royally.

Poor Farm Question.

The columns of THE STAR are now open for the discussion of the poor farm question, and we trust anyone who may have something to say on the question, either for or against, will not be backward about it. The poor farm is an important matter to be settled by the voters at the February election.

The girls of this place who have been working in the silk mill at Reynoldsville have all returned home. The girls don't seem to take very well, so they say, and they know.—Big Soldier correspondent DuBois Express.

Teachers' Institute Entertainers.

Following are press clippings concerning the night entertainers for the teachers' Institute in Brookville during holiday week.

Miss Anna Buckbee last Friday evening gave her popular lecture on "Cuba and the Cubans." It was largely attended and heartily received. She is a lady of culture and refinement and is unexcelled as a lecturer.—Cambridge (Pa.) Enterprise.

The Washington Post says of Gen. John B. Gordon's lecture on "The Last Days of the Confederacy," a great man and a great lecture. The pathos and eloquence, the brilliant wit and picturesque fancy of the orator moved the audience to sobs and tears and laughter and spontaneous bursts of rapturous approval, as the sentiment of the occasion inspired.

The concert by the C. M. Parker Concert Co. last evening was a great success. About fifteen hundred were present. There a storm of applause and encores were numerous. The program of twelve numbers was doubled.—Allentown Morning Call.

Thomas Dixon is a perfect master of the art of oratory.—New York Tribune. The above entertainers are given in order above as they will appear before the Institute, beginning with Miss Buckbee Monday evening.
