"Evil Dispositions Are Early Shown."

Just so evil in the blood comes out in shape of scrofnla, pimples, etc., in children and young people. Taken in time it can be eradicated by using Hood's Sarsaparilla. In older people, the aftermath of irregular living shows itself in bilious conditions, a heavy head, a foul mouth, a general bad feeling.

It is the blood, the impure blood, friends, which is the real cause. Purify that with Hood's Sarsaparilla and happiness will reign in your family.

Blood Poison - "I lived in a bed of fire for years owing to blood poisoning that followed small pox. It broke out all over my body, itching intensely. Tried doctors and hospitals in vain. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla. It helped. I kept at it and was entirely cured. I could go on the housetops and shout about it." Mas. J. T. Williams, Carbondale, Pz.

Scrotula Sores — "My haby at two months had scrotula sores on cheek and arm. Local applications and physicians' medicine did little or no good. Hood's Sarmaparilla cured him permanently. He is now four, with smooth fair skin." Mrs. S. S. WROTEN, Farmington, Del.

Pretty Underwear.

Pretty Underwear.

The variety of pretty silk and woolen underwear to be had at such reasonable prices, is very tempting to dainty women, yet many refrain from purchasing such on account of their liability to injure in laundrying. If the work is perfectly done this trouble may be avoided. When ready to begin fill a tub half full of warm water, in which dissolve a fourth of a bar of Ivory Soap, and wash the articles through it with the hands, ringe in warm water, and squeeze, but do not wring. Hang on the line and press while still damp.

Why She Refused the Room

A German lady, arriving for the first time in England, drove to a first-class London hotel, asked for a room, and was shown into a very small, scantily furnished one. She said, in a determined manner, and in very broken English: "I will not have this room." "No, ma'am." sald the porter, and brought in the first box. "Man!" repeated the lady, emphatically, "I will "No, ma'am," not have this room!" said the porter, and brought in the d box. The lady thought her faulty grammatical construction was the reason for the porter's continued obstinacy, and repeated, with a stern distinctness: "Man, I will this room not have." "No, ma'am," said the porter and brought in the third box, whereupon the lady left the room indignantly, but the porter drew her hurriedly back across the threshold, pulled a rope, and, to her intense astonishment, the lift went up.-Titnecessful Transference of a Rabbit's Eyes to a Girl's Sightless Sockets. The operation on the eyes of a blind girl performed by Dr. C. H. Kohler, at Minneapolis, Minn., in which was involved the transfer of parts of a living rabbit's eyes to the blind sockets of the girl has been pronounced a snecess, and it is believed the girl's sight will be restored. She had been blind in one eye for fifteen years, and totally blind for aix years.

MAKING THE BLIND TO SEE.

The transference of the eye of an animal to the socket of a human being to restore sight has been one of the dreams of surgery. As far as appearances go the operation has been successfully performed a number of times; the eye-usually that of a rabbitgrew into place, and the muscles united, but never was the patientable to see. It was a better substitute than a glass eye, but of no more use as far s vision goes. The optic nerve of the human being and the animal refused to make practical connection. In the case of Dr. Kohler's patient it was not necessary to anbstitute the whole of the rabbit's eye. The patient, a young woman about thirty years old, whose home is in North Dakots, lost the sight of one eye fifteen years ago. Soon after the other eye was attacked sympathetically. Every effort was made to arrest the progress of the disease, but without avail, and six years ago the young woman resigned serself to absolute and, as the doctors told her, hopeless blindness. When Dr. Kohier resolved on the desperate expedient of the rabbit's eyes he called in a number of other physicians and surgeons and asked them for their views. Almost without exception they pronounced it useless, but admitted that the attempt could do no harm. It was decided to operate on the eye that had been blind fifteen years. The patient was carefully prepared for the operation, then both the woman and the animal were put under the influence of chloroform. Special instruments had been constructed with which to excise the The whole front of the diseased eves: member was then removed. The cor-responding part from the rabbit's eye was substituted for the excised portion; the lid was carefully pulled over and the eye was bandaged so that there could be no motion of the lid and no light could penetrate to the wounded organ. Of course all aseptic measures possible were taken. For a week the doctors waited. Then they made an examination. To all appearances the original and the grafted portion of the eye had united perfectly, and the girl everything that passed between you could distinguish light from dark. and Mr. Jones on the occasion to She was not permitted to test her Arizona has several interesting rains of once booming mining communities. Tombstone is the most famous mining camp over known in the southwest, but it is not a deserted town yet, even if it has sbrunk from 12,000 to 700 pop ulation since the great days of 1880 and 1881. Tombstone once had daily gambling houses, a half dozen dance halls, a $30,000 theatre, the finest hoisting works and stamp mills ever known in the southwest, and three banks, each of which was capitalized at $50,000. For a year or two, until it burned down in 1881, it had a $60,-000 hotel, where the rates were from $5 to $30 a day. Narrow business property lots used to sell for $6000 each. When the ledges petered out in 1881 the town soon melted away. The people who have remained there are interested in cattle. The $6000 lots can now be bought for $50 each, and one can buy for $200 or $300 houses which were erected 19 years ago for $1000 and $5000.

On the line of the railroad from Prescott to Congress, in Arizona territory, are the remains of the town of Brown, a p'ace of 3000 in 1876. town has been torn down largely in the last dozen years for the firewood there s in it, but a weather-beaten, ramshackle structure still manages to stand here and there to testify to the importance of Brown, where the Avapai hold company's ledges were yielding well. The graveyard on the sunbaked hillsides is the only thing there that has not changed since the population rushed to Signal, another deserted mining town of 2000 people, in 1879.

Charming Indian Professions.

In India all callings are hereditary. A baker's son becomes a baker, and his son after him, and so on from generation to generation. The census, however, reveals some more startling vocations than that of the breadmak er. The people of Allahabad espe-cially are not ashamed of their profession. Thirty-five describe themselves as "men who beg with threats of violence," 226 as "flatterers for gain," 974 as "low blackguards," 29 as "howl-ers at funerals," while as many as 6372 publicly amounce that they are "poets." In other districts are found, besides the ordinary professions, 11,000 tom-tom players, 45 makers of crowns for idols, 145 ear clean ers, and-most curious of all-"hered itary painters of horses with spots. The census containing this interesting information is kept at the Sanskirt college at Benares.

His Gingham Aprons.

Perhaps the most unusual presents ever received by a man were bestowed this Christmas upon a Brooklyn man who cooks. They were two big blueand-white checked gingham aprons, tong and large, and with ample strings to encircle the masculine waist. The man makes at times a descent to the kitchen when the maids are away and demonstrates how a good steak should be broiled or some other of the numerous things of the preparation of which for the table he considers that he has an expert knowledge. Upon such occasions it has been his custom to borrow the first maid's apron convenient. This good, housewifely tendency to use an apron being known, there came to the man from out of town the two big aprons, which were probably the best appreciated of all his Christmas gifts and were exhibited with the greatest pride.-New York

TRADE REVIEW.

The Organization of Trusts for the Time Being

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade reports as follows for last week; Beyond question business is expanding, in many branches it is larger, notwithstanding speculative combinations which tend to reduce it. All monopolies, or attempted monopolies, stimu-late business while they are coming, but tend to stifle it after they come, and the throng of combinations and trusts which have been formed or proposed have given a temporary, but very questionable, impetus to trade. But beyond the influence of these there is a genuine and substantial enlargels a genuine and substantial enlarge-ment of business due to the unexam-pled prosperity of a growing population.

The week's output of pig iron Feb-The week's output of pig fron February I was 237,639 tons, against 243,516 January I, and 235,528 December I. The average weekly production thus indicated was about 1,000 tons greater in January than in December, and the unsold stocks were reduced 43,671 tons in January, against 37,449 in December, so that the apparent consumption in manufacture was in January I, 110,079 tons, against 1,098,176 in December. The stoppage of several furnaces for necessary repairs at a time when the necessary repairs at a time when the demand is most pressing has caused some fear-of famine, although quite a number of other furnaces have started since Pebruary I, or are about to start. Pig iron has advanced, but the largest consumption ever recorded in any month is in part due to the hasty pur-chases of products about to be con-trolled or advanced in price by a com-bination. There are so many of these in the iron and steel industry that the in the iron and steel industry that the present market does not clearly indicate the magnitude of demand, and disappointment in some branches is not improbable. But the rise of $1 in steel rails, with the entire capacity of all works engaged until after July 1, is not unnatural, nor the strength in plates, for which the legitimate demand is beyond all precedent, and the same is true of bars, the quantity required for cars, railway and agricultural implement works being enormous. In pipe the association lifted prices 5 per cent, with a heavy order from Indiana gas works.

No fictitious demand has caused the rise in grain, for the exports continue from Indiana gas works.

No fictitious demand has caused the rise in grain, for the exports continue so heavy in wheat and corn that the advance of 3½c in wheat is abundantly justified, and the rise of ½c in corn seems scarcely enough for the occasion. Atlantic exports have been resiarted by the blizzard, but have been 2.255.715 bushels, flour included, against 3.142,057 last year, and for the crop year thus far the exports, including flour, have been 156,787,740 hushels, against 143,714,142 last year. When it is remembered that the exports of corn are almost as large as the largest ever known, there is reason for astonishment at the continued foreign demand. That it persists in spite of the strong advance in prices here since September 1 is most encouraging. It is obviously impossible to judge how far it may go.

There is much more inquiry for wool and the manufacturers have a larger demand for heavy-weight goods, but they maintain that they cannot pay prices now demanded for wool, and most of the purchases made appear to have been at some concessions.

Fallures for the week have been 178 in the United States, against 295 last year, and 18 in Canada, against 35 last year.

Senor Agoncillo, the Filipino commissioner, at Montreal, on Wednesday said there would be no let-up in the efforts of the Filipinos to force the Americans from their country. He said he was not at all surorised that Ilolio had fallen.
