Local Editor, Florence Stone, '00.

We do not belong to the faculty:
Our Bulletin is all our own;
Whoever may like it may read it;
Who do not may let it alone.

Some of the language—
Beer often brings bier to man;
Coughing a coffin brings;
And to much ale will make us all,
As well as other things.

A son of Mars mars many a son;
All days must have their days;
And every knight should pray each night
To Him who weighs his ways.

The spring springs forth in spring; and shoots
Shoot forward one and all;
Though summer kills the flowers, it leaves
The leaves to fall in fall.

Rev. Thos. Booth, formerly of this place, favored the pupils with a short but appropriate and instructive talk in Assembly hall last Friday morning.

A general invitation is extended to the teachers, directors and citizens of Reynoldsville and vicinity to attend the educational exercises in Assembly hall next Saturday, March 11. We have every reason to believe that the program, which is admirably arranged, will be ably rendered by the several teachers and directors of the above places.

The following inventory of articles found and stored in Prof. Lenker's office is submitted to the public by order of principal: One umbrella, 1 muff, 6 cents, 1 eraser, 2 knives, 3 keys, 3 gold pins, 1 comb, 1 black silk handkerchief, 1 hat pin, 1 ball wine, 1 hair pin, 4 hair ribbons, 7 linen handkerchiefs, 3 kid gloves, 10 pair mittens. Owners may have same by calling at the common storehouse. It has been suggested that the above articles be put on sale next Saturday, immediately after the educational meeting adjourns.

We were pleased to receive the intelligence that Prof. Alton C. Lindsey will entertain the public in Assembly hall a few weeks hence.

The Shakespearean Literary Society's program was postponed from last Friday afternoon to next Friday, March 9th. All are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

In our last BULLETIN was related a little experience that occurred to three of Reynoldsville's worthy and esteemed townsmen, including our own Prof. Lenker. Our reporter has been somewhat dismayed on learning the effect of his story on the principals involved. He had gathered the details from various sources and arranged the story in accordance with the facts at hand—quite elated that so important an event, happening in such close proximity to our headquarters, had not escaped his eternal vigilance for news. However, more careful investigation and later information from reliable authority have disclosed some discrepancies in his little narrative. We sincerely regret if we have been inaccurate in our publication and by our inaccuracy have given any cause for offense. Be sure we heartily sympathize with the motives that prompt men to enlist their time and energies in the cause of education in any of its phases, and feel proud that we can boast of men of this stamp in our community. It was not our intention to be harshly critical nor to ridicule. Though poorly expressed, our purpose was sincere. From us is due an apology, which we gladly offer.

Rathmel.

Mrs. J. R. Flick, of DuBois, visited in town last week.

Miss Gertrude Ford, of DuBois, spent Sunday with friends in our village.

John Proud, of Johnstown, stopped here on his way to Glen Richey.

William Densmore, of Glen Richey, was in town last week on business.

The Bloomington Coal Co.'s store above town is finished and will be ready for business in a few days.

Mrs. Ellen Delhona, of Lanes Mills, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kinnerberg, returned home Monday of this week.

Miss May Wise, of Crenshaw, is visiting friends here.

Mr. George Nans and William McIntosh, who have been in Indian Territory for some time returned home Monday.

The Sons of Temperance will attend divine service in a body next Saturday afternoon at the M. E. church. Preaching by Rev. Sibley.

A Young Girl's Experience.

My daughter's nerves were terribly out of order. She was thin and weak; the least noise startled her, and she was wakened at night. Before she had taken one package of Celery King the change in her was so great that she could hardly be taken for the same girl. She is rapidly growing well and strong, her complexion is perfect, and she sleeps well every night.—Mrs. Lucy McNutt, Brush Valley, Pa. Celery King for the Nerves, Stomach, Liver and Kidneys is sold in 25c. and 50c. packages by H. Alex. Stokes.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

You can't keep a good thing down. News of it travels fast. When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, the leading druggist of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have ever handled in my 20 years experience." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, run-down man or woman. Only 50 cents. Sold by H. A. Stokes, Druggist, guaranteed.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by H. Alex. Stokes.

One of Life's Tragedies.

A story was told by London Truth not long since and its correctness vouched for, which shows the folly of acting hastily and impulsively in important concerns in life.

The son of a very wealthy man at his father's death found himself free to indulge every whim. He had yachts, horses, an island on which he played king at his pleasure. He was not an immoral man, but idle and foolish.

One day while using a long distance telephone he was charmed by the voice of the operator at the other end of the line. He managed to discover that it was that of a woman, young, single and pretty. In the course of a few days he convinced himself that the owner of the voice was the one human being who should be his wife and that life would be empty and desolate without her.

The girl was poor and listened to his proposals. He cabled her money to buy her trousseau and to secure a chaperon to accompany her to the town where he resided.

In due time she arrived. Her looks were as attractive as her voice. He married her and a few days later was found dead by his own hand in his room. He left no explanation beyond the words, "I have made a mistake," scrawled on a sheet of paper left on the table.

As With One Voice They Spoke Up.

At a little uptown gathering not long ago the guests played some simple games and told ghost stories and managed to have a good time in the old-fashioned way.

Pretty soon one of the gentlemen said: "I don't believe we appreciate what a steady old slow coach the human brain is. Notwithstanding all our talk about quick wits and flashes of intelligence the brain is not so easily thrown from its accustomed ruts. If, for instance, I ask a question which is entirely new to you, but which your honest old brain mistakes for a query quite similar in construction, it will go right ahead and telegraph the reply in its own hidebound way."

"That sounds interesting," said one of the guests, "but show us an example."

"I will," said the first speaker, "with the proviso that you answer it promptly." He smiled, and then, without any haste, quietly asked, "Who saved the life of Pocahontas?"

"John Smith!" roared the questioner.

"You see," said the questioner.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

When a Soldier is Degraded.

This is how most armies degrade an officer who has been proved a traitor to his country. The day before the traitor is to be publicly degraded, the military tailor removes all the buttons and stripes from the officer's uniform, replacing them with a single stitch, so that they can be readily torn away. The condemned man's sword is also filed almost in two, in order that it may be easily snapped.

At the time appointed the traitor, who has, of course, been tried by court-martial, is marched out with his regiment, wearing his uniform for the last time. A halt is called, a superior officer repeats the verdict of the court martial, advances toward the traitor and says: "You have disgraced the uniform you wear; you are unworthy to carry arms. In the name of our country we degrade you." The decorations are torn from the uniform, the sword broken in twain, and amid the muffled rumbling of drums the ceremony ends, although a long term of imprisonment invariably follows.—Pearson's Weekly.

Poor Chance For Poets.

A poet is cross with me because I decline firmly to read his manuscripts and advise him as to the desirability of taking to verse with all his young energy. Other poets may take a statistical view of their case. Let them consider the estimated population of the globe. How many of them have justified their conduct in being poets? At this hour is there one such being anywhere? Suppose, for the sake of argument, that there are six. How many millions to one is it against the success of the neophyte? But, if verify he must, let him send his work to all the editors. If they think his poems worth printing (and paying for), then let him make friends with certain young critics, who will blow his trumpet before him. But do not let him bother busy old men, who, by reason of their age, are no longer good judges.—Andrew Lang in Longman's Magazine.

Tit For Tat.

Brothers and sisters ought to be glad to give and receive mutual assistance. "You show such had taste in the selection of your neckties, Horace," said the elder sister of a youth in his ties. "They always look so wrinkled and shapeless too. You ought to let me buy them and tie them for you." "I'm willing, sis," he answered, looking at her pinched waist, "if you'll let me buy your belts and fasten them around you."—Youth's Companion.

In a Boom Market.

The Lamb—The thing has gone down until it isn't worth a cent on the dollar. And yet you told me it was a good investment. The Wolf—And so I still think. The trouble is that we look at it from different points of view, that's all.—Boston Transcript.

Sold Tickets on Him.

It is good to be a celebrity, and it is sometimes profitable merely to recognize one. While Chauncey M. Depew was at the Omaha exposition, says the New York Times, he and President Callaway of the New York Central managed to go into a booth on the Midway Plaisance.

It was a tame entertainment, and there was only a meager attendance when Mr. Depew and Mr. Callaway entered. Their stay would have been very brief except for the fact that they had scarcely taken their seats before there began a steady pouring of people, which continued until the small auditorium was crowded.

Taking this extraordinary increase of spectators as an indication that something of an interesting nature was about to be disclosed the two New Yorkers concluded to sit it out. Half an hour's waiting failed to reward their patient expectancy, however, and Mr. Callaway suggested that they move on.

Just then ex-Secretary of Agriculture J. Sterling Morton pushed his way through the crowd and, extending his hand to Mr. Depew, exclaimed:

"Well, Dr. Depew, so you are really here! I thought that 'barber' was lying."

"What do you mean?" inquired Mr. Depew.

"Why, the 'barber' for this show is standing outside and inviting the crowd to 'step up lively' and pay 10 cents for the privilege of seeing the 'great and only Chauncey M. Depew.'"

Value of a Comma.

A Prussian school inspector appeared at the office of the burgomaster of a little town to ask him to accompany him on a tour of inspection through the schools.

The burgomaster was out of sorts and was heard to mutter to himself:

"What is this donkey here again for?"

The inspector said nothing, but waited his time, and with the unwilling burgomaster set out on his tour.

At the first school he announced his wish to see how well punctuation was taught.

"Oh, never mind that," grumbled the burgomaster. "We don't care for commas and such trifles."

But the inspector sent a boy to the blackboard and ordered him to write:

"The burgomaster of R. says, the inspector is a donkey."

Then he ordered him to transpose the comma, placing it after R, and to insert another one after inspector, and the boy wrote:

"The burgomaster of R., says the inspector, is a donkey."

It is probable that the refractory official gained a new idea of the value of "commas and such trifles."—London Tit-Bits.

Men's Dress in London.

In London the female make up has no significance whatever. All kinds of men ranking anywhere above "lower class," however, have their frock coats and tall hats. A tailor made frock coat is not a luxury in London.

Take it in the United States, and a man wishes to attire himself in the extreme of what the British call "afternoon wear," must be willing to spend money. Compare the prices of a Sunday outfit:

	England.	U. S.
Frock coat and waistcoat	$15 00	$25 00
Trousers	4 00	10 00
Silk hat	4 00	6 00
Gloves	1 00	1 75
Stocks	50	1 00

Totals.....$24 50 $48 75

You can buy a bunch of violets on a London street corner for 4 cents. It costs sixpence to have a silk hat ironed. When it comes to the mere making of a personal front on a small income, no other city can offer such advantages as London.—Chicago Record.

The "Terrier."

A document known by the name of a "terrier" is supposed to be kept at every old parish church setting forth the sources of the income of the benefice—especially glebe lands; hence the derivation from the Latin "terra." Ignorance of this purely technical term led a clergyman into a curious mistake. He was a sporting parson and had just been appointed to his first living. During the early days of his incumbency he received a form from the bishop which he was required to fill up. Among the questions asked was, "Do you keep a terrier?"

"No," wrote the cleric in reply, "but I have two well bred pointers, and your lordship is welcome to one if you care to have it."—St. James Gazette.

She Swept the Street.

A newly arrived Irish servant was installed in the home of a family on the west side last week, and on the first morning of service she was told to go out and sweep the sidewalk.

After an absence of something like an hour the housekeeper went out to see what had become of the new servant. She was seen way down at the end of the block hard at work. She had gone the block's length and she said she didn't know where she was to stop.—New York Sun.

A Feminine View.

Kate—So Carrie is to be married. I suppose she is very happy?

Ruth—Happy? I should say so. Mr. Fixton, her fiance, doesn't amount to much, but her trousseau is just elegant.—Boston Transcript.

TESTIMONIALS.

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that we have used Dr. D. R. Rothrock's Vegetable Condition Powder for domestic animals and poultry and find it our duty in recommending the same to the general public. Elias Kreamer (dairyman), of Winfield, Pa.; Leonard Boyer, Jacob Frook, William Seebold, Isaac Bilger (Veterinary Surgeon), Chas. Sowers and Samuel Knous, of New Berlin, Pa.; M. M. Davis (Attorney), J. C. King, M. D., Geo. Mellinger, David Wheeler (Stock Dealer), Levi Schuckers (farmer), John Dougherty (farmer) and G. W. Palen (Superintendent of Elk Tanning Company), of Reynoldsville, Pa., and L. W. Robinson (General Manager of the Rochester and Pittsburg Coal and Iron Company), of Punxsutawney, Pa., say: "It has no equal on earth for domestic animals and poultry. In fact it just does what it is recommended for."
