Vol., and will get credit for six months' services on the three year enlistment, which means two years and six months for him to serve in the regular army. Messrs. Fink and Shaffer joined the infantry.

Robbed a Widow.

Some person or persons stole $145.00 from Mrs. Frankie Beck, an old widow who lives near the tannery. She kept the money in a trunk and supposed her banking place was a secret, but in this she was mistaken. Last Wednesday evening Mrs. Beck went to a neighbor's to spend the evening and when she returned home she found the doors of the house standing open and that her trunk had been broken open and her money stolen. It was a heavy loss to the poor old lady.

Death of A. M. Cameron.

A. M. Cameron, of Rathmel, died Sunday about noon. His death was caused by pneumonia. Ten days before his demise Mr. Cameron had a severe attack of grip which was followed by pneumonia. The deceased would have been 67 years old the 18th of this month. He was born in Nova Scotia. Came to America 25 years ago. Moved to Rathmel in 1888. He leaves a widow and eight children, five daughters and three sons. Interment was made in the Rumberger cemetery, DuBois, yesterday afternoon.

L. W. Scott's Handiwork.

L. W. Scott, who was wounded in the war of the sixties and who suffers more or less with rheumatism, disabling him for hard labor, has just finished a unique piece of hand work. It is a stand top about fifteen inches square. It contains six hundred and nine pieces of wood neatly fitted together. There are seven different kinds of wood used in it, walnut, boxwood, linwood, shumac, cherry, oak and poplar. The different colors of wood are so arranged that it makes the work very pretty. Mr. Scott could have sold the top for a good price, but he made it especially for his son, Charles Scott, and would not sell it.

Found in a Bird's Nest.

An employee at the tannery had $21.00 stolen out of his pocket at his boarding house one night recently while he was sleeping. He made known his loss, but of course no one at the boarding house knew how it had disappeared. When it began to get "warm" about the disappearance of the money, another employee at the tannery, who boarded at the same place, laid off a half day to look for the money, which he claims he found in a bird's nest in one of the bark piles. He said he had noticed a light at this bark pile two or three nights and it impressed him so that he went there to look for the stolen money. The man who found the money wanted to keep $6.00 for finding it, but when threatened with arrest if it was not all paid to the rightful owner, the money was all returned.

The "Courier" is Previous.

Yesterday morning the DuBois Courier proclaimed in big head lines that the large window glass factory of Fitzpatrick & Co., of New York, would locate at Falls Creek. As is very frequently the case, the Courier was previous with this announcement, and made it without authority. The location of the glass plant has not been decided upon by the capitalists who will build the plant, at least so we were informed by Mr. Fitzpatrick while he was in Reynoldsville yesterday.

Mr. Fitzpatrick is very favorably impressed with the location offered him here, and the excellent sand stone in abundance in close proximity to the location. All things considered Fitzpatrick & Co. will find it greatly to their advantage, in the long run, to locate in Reynoldsville.

Nearing Completion.

Thomas E. Evans, who has the contract for the carpenter work on the Reynoldsville Hardware Company's new three story brick building, is pushing it rapidly towards completion and the entire building will be ready for occupancy by the first of April. It is an imposing structure and adds to the appearance of Main street. The first floor will be occupied by Robinson & Mundorff's grocery store; second floor will be used by the Reynoldsville Hardware Co. for a furniture department, and the third floor has been fitted up especially for the I. O. O. F. lodge rooms, and will be dedicated this afternoon for that purpose. They are the most convenient lodge rooms in town for more than one lodge to use. There are five separate rooms for keeping lodge paraphernalias. The main lodge room is a large and pleasant room. The hall is heated and lighted with gas.

Brookville's New Railroad.

Brookville, without a doubt, will get a new railroad the coming summer. Engineer corps are now surveying the route for the proposed road, which is to make an outlet for the large coal field that is to be opened within four or five miles of Brookville. A month ago we had reliable information concerning the large coal field and new railroad, but by special request we made no mention of it. The opening of the coal near the county seat, and another railroad into the town, means a boom for Brookville, which, doubtless, will be somewhat of an annoyance to some of the quiet old citizens of that staid old town.

New York capitalists are to furnish the money to operate the new coal fields and build the new railroad. The same syndicate has purchased the Shawmut Coal Company plant in Elk county and have also bought the Buffalo, St. Marys & Southwestern Railroad, and this is the railroad that is to be extended to the Brookville coal fields.

The officers of the operation are as follows: President, John Byrne, a capitalist of New York City; Henry Marquand, of the New York banking firm of Henry Marquand & Co., 1st vice-president; B. Frank Hall, of St. Marys, second vice-president; Harry M. Gough, of New York, treasurer; E. H. Baird, of Ridgway, secretary; Major Harry Alvan Hall, of Ridgway, general counsel; B. E. Cartwright, of Ridgway, general manager; B. E. Wollendorf, of St. Marys, general superintendent; L. P. Snyder, general freight agent; H. S. Hastings, of New York, auditor and assistant treasurer.

The citizens of Brookville can thank C. C. Bencosoter, Esq., of that town, and Mr. George Mellinger, of Reynoldsville, for the new railroad and opening of the large coal field near that town. These gentlemen have been working quietly for sometime to bring about the big deal. Mr. Bencosoter secured the coal leases and Mr. Mellinger got the capitalists interested and made the sale. These two gentlemen were not devoting their time to this business for the "fun of it." They will each one receive what many people would consider a small fortune out of the deal.

The Best by Home Talent.

"Old Hick'ry Farm," the great rural comedy, was played in the Reynolds opera house on Monday and Tuesday nights of this week by home talent, under the auspices of the Daughters of Rebekah of this place. The play was produced in a first-class theatrical style. The local talent, who were carefully trained one week by H. Eugene Phillips, certainly did themselves credit and were successful in producing one of the best home talent plays ever given in Reynoldsville. Some of them played like professionals. Everything was so well executed that it was relieved of the defects that are usually prominent in home productions, even the street parade would have been a credit to some of the traveling companies that visit our town and parade the streets.

The cast of characters was as follows: 'Riah Skinner, a miser, Joseph F. Geisler; Gilbert Darkwood, handsome and unscrupulous, Frank P. Alexander; Jack Nelson, Fortune's adopted son, Albert Geisler; Tom Rankin, the detective, Harry F. Reynolds; Larry McKeevan, Al. F. Harris; Abner Peterkin, a rural jay, Harold E. Arnold; Solomon Levi, a peddler, Dr. Harry B. King; Bill Jones, postmaster and store keeper, Dr. Harry B. King; Lem Smith, county sheriff, Dr. Harry B. King; Jessie Fortune, the farmer's daughter, Miss Edna Myers; Mrs. Priscilla Dodge, "the widow," Mrs. M. R. Gorsline; Mrs. Douglas, the gambler's wife, Miss Inez E. Brown; Gertrude, her child, Aldine Reed; Peggy, a country maid, Miss Grace Myers.

BIG DAY FOR ODD FELLOWS.

Dedication of Hall and a Banquet—Grand Officers Will be Present.

I. O. O. F. lodge No. 824 of this place has moved into the hall on the third floor of the Reynoldsville Hardware Company's new brick block, and the hall will be dedicated this afternoon. As the dedication this afternoon will be public there is no doubt but that a large crowd will witness the beautiful ceremonies. The Grand Master and Grand Marshal and some lesser lights will be present, among whom will be District Deputy A. L. Allison, of Punxsutawney, and District Deputy Lesser, of Ridgway. The Horatio Glee Club will be present.

The dedication altar, composed of seven blocks, each one of different color and each one with a different word on, representing the teachings and principles of the order, is a pretty piece of handiwork. Following are the different colors, beginning at bottom, with the word each color represents: White, Purity; pink, Friendship; blue, Love; scarlet, Truth; green, Faith; gold, Hope; purple, Charity. Four Heralds, who will carry the altar in one piece at a time, will be dressed as follows: Herald North, white; Herald South, pink; Herald East, scarlet; Herald West, blue.

At the evening meeting in hall the exercises will consist of speeches and presentation of Veteran Jewels to three members who have been in the lodge twenty-five years. They are, A. G. Milliren, Asa Scott and James Thompson.

At ten o'clock to-night a banquet will be held at Hotel McConnell to which only Odd Fellows and their wives or lady friends have been invited. At least one hundred persons will attend the banquet.

Silk Mill Notes.

All partitions separating the wrecked part of the mill have been removed.

Picking and twisting departments have been returned to their former places.

A new 60-lamp dynamo has been set in place to answer a special purpose.

A new large wheel pulley has been added to the central power, and speed increased on every loom and machinery. Now that most of the weavers have become skillful enough to take care of their looms, running them at a higher speed has been deemed proper, without any risk of turning out bad cloth.

William Dorothee, a loom-fixer of Patterson, has arrived at the mill to take charge of a section of looms.

Hermann Planten, of New York, has come to assume charge of the quilting department.

Emil Schultz, a Williamsport twister, has arrived at the mill.

The production of the mill has so largely increased that new trunks have been ordered for the shipment of the handsome tissue.

The number of looms running is now 285, and 275 persons are now employed at the silk mill.

BLACK JOHN, Ex-Loom Fixer.

Cyrus Heard From.

EDITOR STAR:—The communication under the head of "High School Bulletin," with regard to the three "little boys" and their magic lanterns in the high school building, needs some trifling corrections to make its appearance anywhere near the semblance of truth.

1st. The three little boys did not take their lanterns to the room to compare their respective merits.

2nd. There was no lively bout.

3rd. Cyrus was nowhere near the lanterns when the loose connection flew open on George's lantern.

4th. Simon did not run, but, on the contrary, stood his ground. The flame was large enough to scorch a flea. Had the flame been smaller and the pressure less, there might have been a very dangerous explosion.
