Spencer Reed says: "The world is always generous where generosity is not expensive."

Aristotle once said: "No one will dare maintain that it is better to do an injustice than to bear it."

One spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love and the next to beating carpets and taking down a stove.

At this season of the year every man longs for a new suit but with the manifold duties of housecleaning manages to pretty well cover himself with old soot.

We sympathize with the workman when his wages are cut but we encourage the man who cuts the price of the goods which the wage earner produces.

The man who would devote his entire time to enforcing the law against profanity, would be a rich man in a few years and would have more bitter enemies than any other man on the globe.

From day to day we read of Dewey's gunboats sweeping the shore with a raking fire. We do not know whether he raises the dust with his sweepings but reports say the insurgents frequently bite the dust.

Spanish naval officers are complaining that there are not enough ships to go around. What Spain now needs is not cruisers and battleships but school ships where her sailors may be taught the art of naval warfare.

An exchange says: "My son, whilst thou hast left in thy skull the sense of jaybird, break away from the cigarette habit, for lo, thy breath stinketh like a glue factory, and thy whole appearance is less than a stone dummy. Yea, thou art a cipher with the rim knocked off."

The raising of wages continues throughout the country. Whether it be an increase or a restoration of the old wage is of no importance. Men work more agreeably, spend more liberally and live more happily under these conditions, and these things make life worth living.

Young man, follow not in the footsteps of the loafer, and make no example of him who was born tired, for verily, their business is overstocked, and the seats in the corners are all taken, and the whittling places all occupied: it is better to saw wood at two bits a cord than to whittle in a loafing match and growl about the government.

The Pittsburg Daily News, the best evening paper published in the "Smoky City," in fact second to no other evening paper published in Pennsylvania, recently entered its fourth year. The News was launched out on the sea of journalism as a venture, but it was such a spicy paper from its inception that it was a winner, and now it has a large circulation. People who want the cream of the news dished up by an afternoon paper will find it in the Daily News.

A few days ago a woman wanted to get on an A. V. R'y passenger train at this place carrying a large picture with her, which was in opposition to the rules of the road, and the brakeman informed her she would have to put the picture in the baggage car. This made the woman mad and she gave an exhibition of crankiness. It is a well known fact that occasionally a woman can be found who has a temper, but it is very unbecoming a lady to expose her temper in public places; such exhibitions should be reserved for the home circle.

C. C. C. Bicycles

In the last issue of the paper I announced that my line of Bicycles for 1899 was complete, but after seeing the lines I found them to have so many good points that I could not resist the opportunity of giving the people of Reynoldsville more and more of a good thing.

Waverly and Featherstone

You know the WAVERLY people build a Bicycle from the ground up; that is, make everything that enters into the construction of a Bicycle and make it right, and the FEATHERSTONE CO., being the largest makers of Bicycles in the United States, having made 92,000 in 1898, are making a line this year second to none, at surprisingly low prices. I offer them with G. & J., Hartford or any other standard make of tires, at $25, $35, $40.

I am the only dealer in town selling strictly high grade wheels, and for several years have sold more bicycles than any other dealer and expect to maintain that standing.

I represent five different manufacturers whose business integrity cannot be questioned, who fully guarantee every wheel made.

Juveniles at $20, just as good as the full grown.
