OWNS A GOLD MINE.

Simon Justham, a former Reynoldsville Coal Miner, struck it Rich.

Simon Justham, jr., of Roslyn, Wash., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Justham, sr., in this place. Twelve years ago Mr. Justham, who was then a coal miner, packed his grip and started for the western country and now he owns a large interest in a gold mine near Roslyn, Wash. From the Cascade Miner, published at Roslyn, Wash., we clip the following concerning Mr. Justham's mine, the Huckleberry:

"The Huckleberry mine is located in the famous Cle Elum Mining district, on Huckleberry mountain about 24 miles from Roslyn, at an altitude of 2,300 feet. Simon Justham, better known as the 'Kid,' in company with three other gentlemen, located it several years ago, but he has since shown his good judgment and forethought by buying the other gentlemen out, making him sole proprietor. About three weeks ago he sold a one-fifth interest to parties in Seattle at a good figure, but he still owns four-fifths interest. Mr. Justham has spent quite a little sum of money together with a great deal of hard labor in development work and now has a 40-foot tunnel with a fifteen foot out already in. Assays from the mine run all the way from $15 to $90 per ton and he has one of the best defined ledges in the district. The Huckleberry mine has a very favorable location, being right below the Laura mine. This mine is owned by a syndicate of Seattle business men and the indications are that the Laura and Huckleberry will be consolidated in the near future, the preliminary arrangements having already been affected. The consolidation of the Laura and Huckleberry mines would mean that development work would be pushed on both mines and that they would be made into paying mines as soon as money and work could make them. The owners of the Laura are all men engaged in active business pursuits and who are too conservative to jump into any wildcat scheme. Should the Laura and Huckleberry mines be consolidated the development work this season will principally be done on the Huckleberry and Mr. Justham will have charge of the mine. As soon as he returns from his eastern trip he will go up to the mines to superintend the work which will be pushed vigorously all summer. We are glad to hear of Mr. Justham's success in handling his mining property. It only shows what a little push and energy will do when you wish to get your property before the public and get capital interested in it.

Caught Another Coon.

Sheriff Burns came over from Brookville to-day (Wednesday) and in company with Policeman Redding and several others, went to the tunnel in quest of some negro proprietors of speak-easies. One of the men wanted, Bill Adams, was arrested and brought to the Lindsey lockup, but the other one made good his escape, although a vigorous effort was made to capture him. The Sheriff has decided to break up the illegal liquor selling at the tunnel if it takes all summer.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

An ice cream social will be held in the yard of the M. E. church, Saturday evening, May 20th, providing the coal company pays its men on that date. If not it will be postponed until the next Saturday. Everybody invited to attend.

There was an officer of the law of a nearby town here last week with a warrant for a Polandier by name of Charley. The officer, thinking that he was too well known, turned the warrant over to one by the name of Pat, Pat knowing the one wanted. So when Charley was taken he said he would not walk to Reynoldsville and Pat went to get a rig and while on that errand Charley left for the woods, and Pat after him, saying, "Stop! in the name of the Commonwealth, I command you to stop." But the more Pat cried stop, the faster and farther away Charley went.

Paradise.

Prospects are good for lots of fruit this summer.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors had given me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God, I am now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at H. A. Stoke's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.
