Logging with Automobiles. Its logging operations this winter, C. Akeley Lumber company is a new power for hauling logs.

Mississippi Valley Lumberman that F. S. Farr has designed and erected a log-hauling machine, consists of a boiler and engine, mounted on an ordinary sled. The sled is by means of four heavy wheels, two forward and two which run in about the same line as horses would. The runners are sled run in the ice ruts of the logging road, and the caked wheels so arranged that they rise or fall to accommodate themselves to uneven ground in the road. This engine is used to do the work of four teams, as it haul four loaded sleds of logs. The machine is roughly gotten up this winter, but Mr. Farr believes he has the best idea, and will improve on it next season in the woods. —Sanapolis Journal.

HOME duties to many women seem more important than health. No matter how ill they feel, they drag themselves through the daily tasks and pile up trouble. This is heroic but a penalty has to be paid.

A woman in New Matamoros, Ohio, Mrs. ISABELL BRADFORD, tells in the following letter how she fought with disease of the feminine organs until finally forced to take to her bed. She says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I feel it my duty to write to you to tell you that I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and think there is no medicine in the world like it. I suffered for nine years, and sometimes for twelve weeks at a time I could not stand on my feet. I had female troubles of all kinds: backache, and headache all the time. Seven different doctors treated me. Some said I would have to go to the hospital and have an operation performed. But oh! how thankful I am that I did not, that I tried your Vegetable Compound instead. I cannot say too much in its praise, nor thank you enough for what it has done for me. I want you to publish this in all the papers for the good of other sufferers."

The wives and mothers of America are given to overwork. Let them be wise in time and at the first indication of female trouble write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice. This advice is promptly given without charge.

The present Mrs. Pinkham's experience in treating female ills is unparalleled; for years she worked side by side with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, and for sometime past has had sole charge of the correspondence department of her great business, advising and helping by letter as many as a hundred thousand ailing women during a single year.
