On the outlying spurs of the Sierra Madre mountains in Mexico a tree was recently discovered which catches and eats birds. The tree was long, slen-der limbs, which dorop like the familiar weeping willow, but the moment a bird alights on the trees the branches curl upward and silently encircle the bird and crush it to death,

A botanist who discovered this remarkable tree touched one of the limbs with his hands. The branch closed upon his fingers so firmly that it tore the skin when he wrenched it AWRY.

Helms Safe in Jail.

Fort Wayne, Ind., special: Last midnight an armed guard arrived from Columbia City bringing Helms, the alleged criminal assailant who came so near being lynched at Auburn the previous night. The man was sent at once to the county jail. The officers say that the mob at Garrett, where the alleged assault was committed, has scouts in this city keeping track of the prisoner. One of the girls alleged to have been assaulted by him died before the mob was formed. The second one is in a precarious condition at Gar-

Killing a Weed. It does not pay to make any false motion in hoeing, especially if killing weeds is the object. Above all do not either cut off the leaves of a weed or allow others to do so before uprooting it if you want to kill it. We had a hired man once who persisted in spite of all we could tell him in striking twice with his hoe to destroy a weed. With his first blow he struck the weed, just as the surface of the ground, cutting off all the top. Then he struck deeper and turned up the root. In-variably if a rain or cloudy weather came that weed grew. It was simply transplanted under the best conditions for growing, much root and little top. We let the man go after a little top. We let the man go after a few days' trial to reform him, but with-out effect. He was too stupid to know how to handle a hoe .- American Cultivator.

How to Dress Chickens.

The appearance of fowls after reaching market has much to do with the price they will bring. Good specimens are very often spoiled in dressing, while poor speci-mens may often be made far more attractive by proper care. Fowls should be left without food for twelve hours before killing, so that crop may be entirely empty. Suspend each one by the feet, and with sharp-pointed knife cut a deep gash in roof of mouth at base of brain.

Plucking should begin at once, all the large feathers being removed by the time fowl is dead. The pin feathers can then be easily removed. Do not remove crop or in-testines. Carefully wash the mouth and remove all blood clots. Do not singe, and by all means do not tear the skin. Let them hang in a cool place until the animal heat is out; then pack in layers in box or barrel, if intended for shipment. If a great number are be dressed the feathers should be saved, as they will bring from five cents to seven cents a pound when dry picked.-

Disposition of Stock.

When hungry stock are set into field they usually make the most of what falls to them, but if they are only half-hungry the desire to roam over the pasture is strong. In a herd or flock the grazing behavior of the bunch as a whole is influenced a good deal by the peculiarities of the older and more masterful members. Should these leaders be of a discontented turn, they are apt to infect their neighbors and to keep the group on the move. A quiet, easy-going disposi-tion on the part of the "elders' has a soothing and settling effect. But flocks and herds take strange fits at times. They are unaccountably rest-less, even on a clean and pleasant range of pasture. They keep moving, for no apparent purpose, and refuse to settle down. Matters are at the best when the stock fail to graze of their own accord. On a hillside or moor a flock of sheep or a herd of Highland cattle seems to be perfectly contented with the fare at command. One fears to disturb the group, knowing full well that once a spell of peace is broken there cannot be rest for hours on end. In spite of long domestication, our farm animals of the hardier varieties are never so happy as when they discover suitable feeding grounds for themselves. Once

TRADE REVIEW

The Volume of Business Greatly in Excess of That of Last Year.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade reports as follows for last week: Because "every prospect pleases" it is the right time to watch most closely for signs of trouble. But it is not easy for signs of trouble. But it is not easy to find them when the volume of busi-ness is 637 per cent larger than last year and 75.5 larger than in 1592, the best of all years except the last, or when failures continue the smallest ever known, or when the exports of staples begin to improve materially, or when railroad business is by far the best ever known, or when New York bankers appear in international opera-tions listening to Russian inquiry and urdertaking a Mexican loan. ancient custom, and have vague glimpses of freedom.-London Live

Scabby potatoes seem to be becoming more and more prevalent year by year, and it is evident that farmers must exercise all the wits they possess if they keep clear of them. While I do not dispute the fact that this malady is caused by microbes, and may be checked by the submerging the seed in solutions which destroy them, I find that if the crop be planted so the growth of tubers will come either before or after the hottest summer weather, they largely escape the effects of scab. By planting in this lati-tude (central Pennsylvania) as late as June 25 or July 4, the vines remain green and healthy until frost, and perfectly clean tubers invariably result. It is hardly practicable to grow all our potatoes as late as this, but here is an idea which may be acted upon by the farmers of this country to great advantage. Healthy seed planted on ground not affected will develop but little scab in one year. Here is a way to get the healthy seed. Let every farmer grow as late in the season as possible enough tubers for his seed stock the next spring. Carefully save and plant only such seed and this tropblesome discase will become less and less prevalent.

To keep seed potatoes in condition for planting as late as July, it is neces-sary to spread them thinly on the floor of some dry, lightroom. The sprouts will then be short, thick and stocky, and not break off if carefully handled in planting. A little farther south two crops are grown each season, and the second is saved for early planting the next spring. To do this it is neces-sary to dig the tubers, and let them lie on the ground fully exposed to sun and air for a week or more. This seasons them and puts them in condition' to grow at once when planted, which they would not do without this seasoning process. I believe this idea if carried out by every Northern farmer would be worth millions of dollars to this couptry. Will you not experiment a little along this line and see how much it may benefit you?—J. F. Tillinghast, In American Agriculturist.

It is now estimated that there are 50,000,000 English sparrows in Mass-schusetts.

pany. The Bank of England finds it difficult to borrow money from this side, and frankly raises its rate, while this country begins to ship fresh crops for which Europe will run into debt. Iron production in the first week of July was 263,363 tons, for the past two weeks less because a strike July 1 closed seven Shenango furnaces pro-ducting 1,200 tons daily, though it is ex-pected to end to-day, and several other furnaces have begun production this month. The increase of 9,301 tons weekly in June, with a decrease of 80, 400 tons in unsold stocks not of the great steel companies, implies a pro-duction of about 1,125,600 tons in June. Consumption would be 1,209,690 tons and in the half year 644,215 but for the fact that steel makers have stocked heavily against orders running through most of the year, drawing from outside supplies, so that con-sumption may prove only 6,700,000 tons, or even less. Copper is a shade weaker at 18½c for lake, government reporting the output in 1898 as 526,375,391 pounds. Tin is strong, with London speculation at 28,85c, and lead is advanced by the smelting company to 4,55c. The larg-est shipments of boots and shoes in sny year for the season, 193,080 cases in two weeks, greater by 17,4 per cent than last year, 56 per cent than in 1897 and 29,4 per cent than in 1892, re-suit from very extensive pressure to anticipate orders for August or Sep-tember, distribution far exceeding ex-pectations, but there are reported with such appeals not nearly reported with
