The First Silk Hat.

In an English newspaper of the date of Jan. 16, 1797, appears the following: "John Hetherington, haberdasher, of the Strand, was arraigned before the lord mayor yesterday on the charge of breach of the peace and inciting a riot, and was required to give bond in the sum of £500. It was in evidence that Mr. Hetherington, who is well connected, appeared upon the publie highway, wearing upon his head what he called a silk hat (which was offered in evidence), a tall structure having a shining luster and calculated to frighten timid people. As a matter of fact, the officers of the crown stated that several women fainted at the unusual sight, while children screamed, dogs yelped, and a young son of Cordwainer Thomas, who was esturning from a chandler's shop, was thrown down by the crowd which had collected and had his right arm broken. For these reasons the defendant was seized by the guards and taken before the lord mayor. In extenuation of his crime defendant claimed he had not violated any law of the kingdom, but exercising a right to an pear in a headdress of his own design -a right not denied to any Englishman."

OVERPRODUCTION.

There is an overproduction of cotton, An overproduction of corn, Too much of everything is grown, Too many people born; A surplus yield of wheat and bread, Of potatoes, cats and rye, Hog and hominy, ham and eggs, And homemade pumpkin pie.

Too much to eat, too much to wear, And cattle on too many hills, Too many agricultural tools, Too many agricultural tools, Too many plows and drills; There's a surplus now of clothing, Of every grade and kind, Too many books and papers, Too much of thought and mind.

Too many men to do the work, Too many women to weep, More daylight than the people need, Too much night for sleep. Of Benedicts a surplus, An over supply of wives, Too many buds and biossoms, More bees than there are hives,

More sunshine and more shadow Than is needed for the dell; An averproduction of gravestones, More coffins than will sell; An overproduction of ignorance, A sight too many schools, Too many poor, too many rieb, And lots too many fools. —Baltimore American.

CAN'T FOOL THE BRUTES.

Beasts Cannot Be Deceived by Illusions to Which Man Succumbs, a singular fact." said a may the show business to a New Orleans Times-Democrat reporter, "that illu-sions, as we call 'em, don't fool animals. I've seen that proved over and over again. A few years ago I had what is known as the 'Mystic Maze' at the Nashville exposition. It was simply a small room tilled with mirrors didn't amount to much. In the spring so arranged that you seemed to be in a narrow corridor full of turns. It was very puzzling, and I used to get lost in the place myself, but it never bothered my dog a moment. He would run through it from end to end try. at full speed and never bump against a mirror. "I saw something in the same line in 'Frisco not long ago. A friend of mine had an illusion called 'The Haunted Swing.' You get in what in the center of a good-sized room, and the thing begins to move. It goes back and forth and finally clear over the top-that is to say, it seems to. What really turns around is the room itself-the swing stands perfectly still. It is a good illusion, and when the room is revolved rapidly there never was a man who could keep his head in the swing. It seems as if he must certainly pitch out, and if the motion is kept up he gets deathly sick. But a pet cat belonging to my friend used to lie on the edge of th seat and never turn a hair, no matter how fast the thing was worked. "The elder Hermann told me that animals were never deceived by false table legs, built up with looking-glasses, and used in stage tricks. They always passed around on the other side. I guess they must see better, somehow, than men."

HOW TO OVERCOME INSOMNIA

Reep May Be Induced by Holding One's Breath for a Time.

From the New York Press: In these days, when the mercury is trying to leap the hundred hurdle, the hardest problem of New Yorkers is how to get to eleep at night. Turn and strive as one may to place himself, sleep won't come. A prominent New York physician, himself a sufferer from insomnia for many years, has discovered a brand new way of putting one's soif to sleep almost instantaneously. It has worked well in his own case and never has failed in the many trials he has made upon his patients. After taking a deep inspiration the breath is held until positive discomfort is felt. It is then let gently out. The process is repeated a second and a third time, and this is as a rule sufficient to obtain sleep. The mind must be fixed upon the experi-ment and one's thoughts must not be allowed to wander. Insomnia is produced by two kinds of cerebral activity directly opposite in nature, a too active cerebral circulation and an insufficient cerebral circulation. The former can easily be recognized from the throbbing and pulsating arteries. The self-asphyxiation of the patient causes a flow of nervous blood to the brain and an increase of the carbonic acid and waste products of decomposition. These products, carried to the brain by the blood, overwhelm its centers and produce sleep. Dr. Johann Meull-Hiltz, a German physician, writes enthusiastically about the effect of sleeping with the head low as a means of obtaining the most refreshing slumber. He raises the foot of the bed so that it forms an inclined plane. He says that the sleep thus obtained is more beneficial; that one awakens with a clearer head, a wider mental horizon. He asseris that the neck increases in size, that the cerebral circulation is improved and the influence upon the lungs is so great that it can lessen the tendency to consumption. He recom-mends that the lowering of the head be done gradually, and says that insomnia often is caused by sleeping with the head too high.

Inedible Prize Melons.

William Campbell, a former citizen of Mercer county, but now of South Carolina, tells how "prize" water-melons are grown in the south. He says to raise a melon the size of a barrel simply make an incision in the stem near the melon and insert one end of a yarn string about a foot long into the opening: then put the other end of the string into a pailful of water. The melon will soon take up the water in the bucket, which should be refilled as often as necessary. A melon thus doctored will not be fit to sat, but will always capture the prize.
