M. Montgomery, of West Reynoldsville, passenger engineer on the A. V. R'y, accidentally fell off his engine at Red Bank one day last week and injured his right side so badly that he was compelled to lay off work for a few days. David Blakesly has been running Mr. Montgomery's engine.

Robert and Joseph Williams will run the Williams Brothers' shop. Messrs. Delaney and Williams expect to move their shop into the rooms in basement of Hotel Imperial.

Three young men attended the ox roast at Sykesville the 24th of last month who got supper, refused to pay for the same and became very boisterous and profane when the pay was asked for. They have since paid for their supper, which was 75 cents for the three, and also $8.00 costs and each one lost a day's work to appear before the Squire. They may think it unjust, but it was the proper thing. It may be a lesson to them.

James M. Marsh, a conductor on the A. V. R'y, formerly a resident of this place, who has lived at Silgo thirteen years, was in town Monday looking for a dwelling house, as he intends moving back to Reynoldsville this week. Mr. Marsh found desirable dwelling houses to rent very scarce in Reynoldsville, in fact it was impossible for him to get a vacant house at present and he will have to store his goods until the first of October and will then move into Mrs. Morrow's house on Grant street.

With better music, finer exhibits and better attractions than ever before offered to the public the Pittsburg exposition will open its doors this, Wednesday, evening September 6th, for the eleventh annual season, and will keep open until October 21st. Among the exhibits this fall will be one that will excite wide-spread interest. It is a practical demonstration of the manufacture of liquid air. Competition Reduces Fare. The opening of the new railroad between Reynoldsville and Pittsburg, making a competing line, will give the people of this section much cheaper railroad rates to the "Smoky City." The A. V. R'y has reduced the regular fare between this place and Pittsburg to $3.75—the rate made on the new road—and has put on sale ten trip tickets to Pittsburg for $24.60, good for more than one person on same train and good for one year. This makes the rate only six cents more than mileage to Pittsburg.

Rube's Darter. "Rube's Darter," by home talent, under the direction of H. Eugene Phillips, was played before a big audience at the opera house Monday night. The play is a good one and Mr. Phillips is a "dandy" in the role of Ruben Tidd. Albert Harris played Tony McCann to perfection and the other characters were most all well played by the following person: John W. Ward, Harry R. Dawson, Arthur Reynolds, Ira Hutcherson, Clarence Leird, Miss Edna Myers, Miss Ethel Allen, Mrs. Sallie Bangs, Miss Zoe Woodward and little Marion Harris.

Mr. Shobert left the can on sidewalk and walked around the house and the little tot came along, picked up the can and took a drink. A doctor was quickly summoned and he gave the child an antidote.

Passed Over the River. At twelve o'clock Sunday night Mrs. Mary Jane London, wife of Isaac London, departed this life at her home at Prescottville after a ten-day illness. Mrs. London had been sick most all summer, but was getting better and her loved ones had hopes of her recovery, but another trouble seized her already weakened body and death was the result. The deceased was born in Clarion county December 26th, 1839, and would have been sixty years old her next birthday. Her maiden name was Mary Jane Henry, daughter of James L. and Mary Henry. January 12, 1860, she was married to Isaac London, who with three sons and five daughters survive the affectionate wife, loving mother and kind neighbor. Mrs. London joined the Baptist church thirty-five years ago and was a faithful member and a Christian lady. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2.00 p. m. to-day, conducted by Rev. A. E. Hooper, and the mortal remains of Mrs. London will be buried in the Prospect cemetery. The deceased was well known in this community, having spent the 39 years of her married life in Winslow township and Reynoldsville borough. The following children survive the departed lady: D. B. London, New Kensington, Mrs. Mary B. Myers, Kane, Mrs. W. F. Marshall, Mrs. W. C. Aiman, Reynoldsville, W. T. London, Rathmel, Mrs. J. L. Womer, Kane, Mrs. Ambrose Strauss, Paradise, and T. C. London, at home.

Lad Had a Narrow Escape. Charles, seven-year-old son of C. S. Kirchartz, had a narrow escape from death Saturday. He was badly injured, but not seriously. A neighbor boy found a signal cap used on railroads and carried it home, not knowing what a dangerous thing it was. Charles got the cap some way and thought it was a box of small caps for a toy pistol, and as he had the pistol and no caps he tried to take the lid off. It would not pry off and Charles got a hammer and bit the cap. The signal caps are filled with glass and a terrific explosive and it responded to the touch of the hammer. It is almost a miracle that the boy was not killed. His face and hands and parts of his body were filled with glass. On Sunday the boy's face was as full of scabs as if he had the small-pox. It required three stitches to sew up a gash in his right wrist.

Aeronaut Dashed to Death. N. A. Crissy, a professional aeronaut from Johnstown, met a frightful fate at the Punxsutawney fair last Wednesday afternoon. When he jumped from the balloon his belt broke and he grasped for the dangling ropes but could not reach them and he fell to the ground with a thud that could be heard by the thousands of spectators present. His neck was broken as were nearly all the bones in his body. The Lindsay Press says: "When it dawned upon the spectators that the man was dashing to his death, screams and moans could be heard, and many of the upturned faces bore an expression of agony. Many women fainted and even men wept aloud. It was one of the most terrible spectacles ever witnessed."

LABOR DAY DOINGS.

Speeches, Bicycle Race, Game of Base Ball, &c., Were the Attractions. Labor Day was observed at Reynoldsville under the management of the U. M. W. of A., with speeches, bicycle race, ball game, and dancing. Three large flags were unfurled across Main street, which were all the decorations for the occasion. People assembled in Frank's Park in the forenoon and many took dinner in the Park, but the program was not taken up until afternoon, which began with speeches in the park. George Harris, ex-president of No. 2 district, presided and introduced the speakers, who were Edward McKay, of Beuna Vista, and Mrs. Jones, of Chicago, who is a Socialist. Her speech seemed to please the audience. Mrs. Jones will remain in this section a few days and we understand that she will likely deliver a speech in Centennial hall before leaving here.

There were only four entries for the twelve mile bicycle race, as follows: Bruce Kline and Joseph Laverick, of this place, W. E. Parker, of Desiro, and William Jacobs, of Big Run. The last two were handicapped two minutes. The course was via Kline's, Rathmel and Prescottville, twice around. Coming down Main street the first time around Jacobs punctured one of his tires and had to drop out of the race. Laverick came in first, Kline second and Parker third, not far apart. The first prize was a bicycle, second bicycle lamp, third a pair bicycle pants. The race was close and good time was made.

The Adrian ball team and a picked up nine of this place, played a four inning game of ball, the visitors getting badly defeated. A dance was held in the pavilion in the evening.

Death From Cancer of Stomach. Mrs. Isabella Caldwell died at her home near Sandy Valley at 6.00 p. m., September 1st, from cancer of the stomach. She had been confined to bed twelve weeks before she died, but was a very patient sufferer. The deceased was born in Beechwoods May 15, 1842, making her over 57 years old. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, who are both dead. In 1860 Isabella Brown was married to John M. Caldwell. Unto them nine children were born, six of whom, with the father, preceded the mother into the Eternal World. The three children living are: Fredrick, Rachel and Willis Caldwell. Mrs. Caldwell had been a faithful and consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal church for forty years and she died in full expectation of enjoying the Beulah Land that the Lord has prepared for those who are faithful in His service. Mrs. Caldwell was certainly a noble woman. Funeral services were held at her late home Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. O. H. Sibley and interment was made in the Beechwoods cemetery. The funeral was a very large one.
