Price Counts

Our Announcements have no room for Fiction

Where Money is Counted

Not many customers are paying fancy prices for Clothing simply because they like to spend more money than their neighbors. Nearly all have an eye to worth, and few are blind to price—saving when good value is assured. And if we cannot offer you better inducements in Quality, Pattern, Fit and Prices we will not expect your trade. Below we name a few items that hint of a wealth of attractive offerings:

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT!

Maud and Lillie Smith Killed by an Iron Monster.

WERE WALKING ON RAILROAD TRACK.
Struck by West Bound Passenger Train Friday Morning—Lillie Was Ground to Pieces—Large Funeral.

The most distressing accident that has occurred at this place for some time was that which happened in the A. V. R'y yards last Friday morning when Misses Lillie and Maud Smith, who were on their way to work at silk mill, were run down by a passenger train. Two passenger trains meet and pass at the A. V. station at 6.53 a. m., the east bound pulling up through the siding, and the girls had been accustomed to walking down siding until they met the east bound and would then step over on to the main track and would leave the railroad before the west bound caught up to them. Friday morning they were a little late and when they heard the train coming they stepped off the side track on to main track in front of the train and did not discover their terrible position until it was too late. Engineer Blakely saw them walking on the side track and when they stepped over to main track he sounded the alarm whistle and tried to stop the train, but could not do so. The girls screamed, but it was all over in a minute. Lillie's body was ground to pieces and scattered along the railroad track. Maud was struck on the head, but her body was not mutilated. She lived until 8.50 a. m., but was never conscious after the engine struck her. The young ladies started for their work bright and cheerful, with hopes of long life, and they did not know as they crossed from the siding to main track that "there is but a step between me and death."

Maud Smith was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smith, of West Reynolds, aged 18 years 10th of last October, and Lillie was a sister of Mr. Smith. She was the daughter of John H. Smith of New Athens, Clarion county, and would have been 22 years old the 25th of next month. She came to Reynoldsville four or five weeks ago on a visit and decided to remain here and work in silk mill. She was a member of the M. E. church at Rimersburg.

Maud was a member of the Reynoldsville Baptist church and B. Y. P. U. She was a faithful member of church and Union and was loved by her associates. Both the girls were jolly and genial and consequently had many friends at the mill and their sudden deaths caused deep sorrow and grief among the employes at the mill. Funeral services for both young ladies was held in the Baptist church Sunday at 2.00 p. m., conducted by Rev. A. J. Meek, of Greensburg, assisted by Rev. Perry A. Reno, pastor of the Reynoldsville M. E. church. The Baptist church was entirely too small to accommodate the large crowd that attended the funeral. Rev. Meek selected his text from Luke 20: 36, "Neither can they die any more: for they are equal unto the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection." The two white caskets sitting in the church side by side made it a doubly solemn and impressive service.

The remains were buried in one grave in the Reynoldsville cemetery. The floral tributes were beautiful. There was a pillow and anchor and two bouquets on each casket. The name Maud, in pink, was on one pillow, and Lillie, in pink, on the other one. The anchors and pillows were from the employes of the silk mill, one bouquet from Maud's Sunday school classmates, one from B. Y. P. U., and the two bouquets on Lillie's casket were from her brothers. The flowers were photographed. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have the sympathy of the citizens of this community.
