EDUCATION VS. CRIME.

The question as to whether or not education lessens crime has been thoroughly discussed by journalists, yet it may not be out of place to say a word on this subject in the columns of the BULLETIN.

While education in the schools may not, and unfortunately does not, lessen crime, yet the moral training which goes with every school curriculum and the influence of the teacher who is really qualified to teach is a strong moral uplift which does have a tendency to lessen crime. That education which really educates does lessen crime. The tendency of schools is toward a higher morality and more intelligent living means better living.

There are those however who look at the subject from the side of the pessimist and contend that while education may change somewhat the features of crime, it really enlarges its scope and increases its volume.

Some statistics, which are dangerous tools unless we know how to handle them, have recently been quoted by one writer to prove this latter statement. A recent interview with U. S. Commissioner of Education Harris on the relation of schools to crime, sets forth this point and shows how easily figures are used to mislead the public.

The Commissioner refers to figures of the federal bureau which showed that of the 110,538 persons confined at the time in the prisons of seventeen northern states, but 27,581, or about 25 per cent, were illiterate. But in those states the average illiterates here as in other cases, furnish more than six times their quota of criminals.

Commissioner Harris well says: "The school impresses upon the student the constant necessity of considering the ideal of good behavior, and the boy in school for many months in the year acquires this as a habit; it becomes second nature. Of course a person who has acquired the habit of regulating his conduct by an ideal must carry this habit into the whole range of his life and modify it to some advantage. Education is far from stimulating evil instincts but on contrary serves to suppress them."

LOCALS.

Seniors finished Physical Geography last Friday.

Miss Etta Shaffer enjoyed an agreeable surprise last Saturday evening in form of her class spending the evening with her. She received some very pretty as well as useful presents.

The Political Economy class had a heated debate on Free Trade versus Protective Tariff. The judge was unable to decide the question.

The Seniors have selected their motto and invitations.

The Civil Government class are certainly keeping themselves well informed on current events. This was demonstrated the other evening when they were asked where the Nicaragua canal is to be built, one of the bright members replied: "Through the Isthmus of Panama."

Messrs. Raymond Brown and Charles King visited school Monday morning.

Prof.—What is a quadrilateral?

Sub Jr.—A figure with two sides.

What was the object in constructing the canals through Utah? Bright Sub Jr.—To "navigate" (irrigate) the land.

Mock trial next Friday. No admittance without a ticket. Tickets received from the students.

The principles report for the sixth month shows the following: Per cent. of attendance during the month, 91; cases of tardiness during the month, 161; number of pupils neither absent nor tardy during the month, 213; number of visitors, 28; number of pupils in attendance during month, 626.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at H. Alex. Stoke's drug store.

He Fooled the Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Ruptured Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world. Surest pile cure on earth. 25c a box, at H. Alex. Stoke's drug store.
