Court opened Monday with Hon. John W. Reed, president judge, on the bench. M. F. Smathers, of Ringgold township, was appointed foreman of grand jury and Constable John Null, of Sykesville, was given charge of grand jury. H. E. Bergerstock, of Bell township, George Schultze, of Union township, and Irven McGregor, of Young township, were appointed tipstaves.

In his address to the constables Judge Reed complimented them for their faithfulness in discharging their official duties, and urged that they all be vigilant in suppressing gambling places and bad houses in their respective bailiwicks.

Judge said that the greatest disgrace to Jefferson county are the numerous F. & B. cases that are on the trial list at every Quarter Session court, and that he considers it worse than the drink traffic, and that there ought to be an organization formed to fight against it. Judge thinks the crime has become so common that severe punishment should be given every fellow who is found guilty of F. & B. He is thinking seriously of appointing a prison board and sentencing every F. & B. defendant to a number of days' work on the roads with a big badge on his back announcing the nature of his crime.

The show was truly new and refined, being free from coarse, vulgar or stale jokes. To say the audience was pleased, very poorly expresses it. At last night standing room was at a premium and many were turned away. We sincerely hope for an early return date. The musical turn performed by Messrs. Field & Hanson was especially fine and the support throughout was good.—Atlanta Constitution, Dec. 21st. At Reynolds opera house, Friday, April 12th. Tickets on sale at Stoke's, 12th.
