Mrs. Smith received a number of presents.

Delightful Easter Day. Sunday was a delightful Easter Day and the attendance at all the churches was very large. Hilarious Time at Wedding. There was an Italian wedding at Big Soldier Saturday and the guests had a hilarious time. They drank freely from the keg that intoxicates and before the jubilee ended two Italian men had bullet holes in them and one woman had her head badly battered. One Ike was shot through the nose, the ball struck one side of nose, close to cheek, and came out at other side, close to cheek. The other Italian was shot in back. It was a close call for both men.

A Renowned Basso. The people of Reynoldsville will this year have the opportunity of hearing, during the week of the high school commencement, the most famous of American singers, Mr. Ernest Gamble, basso. His name is familiar to the music lovers of two continents. Mr. Gamble has been engaged for two nights during the commencement week, the evening of the Junior contest, May 1, and the evening of commencement, May 2. He will sing several selections each evening and will furnish the only music on the programs for those evenings.

It should also be borne in mind that Ex-Governor Hastings will deliver the graduating address on the evening of May 2.

Fell Off a High Trestle. "Fritz," the grey mule that has been the motive power on the lumber yard railroad at Hopkin's mill at least a dozen years, fell off a high trestle Wednesday forenoon and was so badly injured that it was necessary to kill him that evening. The mule was walking around a car at a narrow point when one of his shoes caught and he stumbled and fell off the trestle. "Fritz" was well trained and was always faithful. It will be difficult to get another mule to do the work as well as did the old grey. Another thing can be said to "Fritz" credit, and that is that he had a good disposition and was not treacherous, which cannot be said of more than one mule out of twenty-five.

High Compliment for Our Schools. The school directors in a nearby town, who have been laboring under the impression that they had the best schools in this section, heard that we had excellent schools in Reynoldsville and one of the directors visited our schools recently, and the up-to-dateness and advancement of our schools over the one of which the visitor is a director, was a great surprise to him. He reported the revolution to his fellow directors and two or three other members of that board expect to quietly drop into this town to visit the schools and get some pointers with the intention of bringing their schools up to the high standard that our schools have attained to. This is certainly a high compliment for the Reynoldsville schools, and especially so when it is considered that the school referred to pays the principal from $15.00 to $20.00 more per month than is paid to our principal.

Heir to Millions. The DeHaven family residing at Mahaffey Clearfield county, have just fallen heirs to a fortune of $3,636,000, a sum sufficient to make them all rich, and they can all retire now to private life. This vast sum comes from Germany and is not one of those visionary fortunes so common in this day, but an absolute certainty.

Over 100 years ago one Jacob DeHaven purchased from the German government a bond calling for $450,000, which bond was never paid and which as now adjusted by the government and the attorneys of the claimants amounts to the large sum of $3,636,000.—Punxsutawney Spirit. This is the fortune that our old townsman, E. DeHaven, talked about several years before he died. Mrs. Ezra Hartman, of this place, is one of the heirs to the above fortune.

Attended the Funeral. Albert and Miss Ida Reynolds were at Kittanning Friday attending the funeral of their uncle, Frank Reynolds, who died Wednesday. Deceased was about 83 years old. In the death notice the Kittanning Republican said: "Few men of his age enjoyed the love and esteem of so wide an acquaintance as he did and no man better deserved the good will and admiration of his fellow men. Apparently every impulse of his life was for good and the circle of friends in which he moved was all the brighter for his presence. Honest and full of self respect, temperate and faithful, he was a model man and a prince of companions and priceless as a friend."

Y., Buffalo and other places.

Was a Prominent Mason. We briefly stated last week that Joseph S. Smith, of Kittanning, brother of Ira Smith, of this place, had died at his home Tuesday morning, April 10th. The deceased was a prominent Mason, Elk and Heptasoph. Funeral was held Thursday afternoon and was in charge of the Masonic fraternity. It was a large funeral. The following were clipped from the Kittanning Times: "Joseph Simonds Smith was born in Pittsburg, April 7th, 1844, and was the son of Leopold and Sarah Smith, both his parents dying a number of years ago. When Joseph was about two years old his father moved to Kittanning, where the deceased has resided ever since. The subject of this sketch was always an active spirit in whatever business he engaged in. An untiring worker, there was no such word as fall with him. The writer of this has known him all his life, and has never known Joseph Smith to engage in anything that was not successful in every way so long as he was connected with it. He was a wonderful detail man. Nothing about his business was too minute for him to look after. On the other hand nothing was of two great a magnitude for him to understand. He served one term as a Justice of the Peace in the borough, and at the election last spring was elected a member of the Town Council."

For the past forty years the firm of Armstrong & McKelvy have stood at the head as makers of pure linsed oil and white lead. A few years ago they started to make mixed paint from their own make of both lead and oil with the result, as had been foreseen, that the painters all over the country are adopting their paints, knowing full well that their well known honesty as to use of material and their better method of mixing and tinting would produce a paint better than they could mix with lead and oil.
