A Mother's Tears.

"I Would Cry Every Time I Washed My Baby."

"When he was 3 months old, first feslarge bolls broke out on my baby's neck. The sores spread became n mass of raw and pow h hands the dered him I would cry, realizing what pain he was in. His pitiful walling was heart rending. I had about given up hope saving him when I was urged to give his Hood's Sarsaparilla, all other treatmen having failed. I washed the sores with Hood's Medicated Soap, applied Hood's Olive Olatment and gave him Hood's Sar saparilla. The child seemed to get bette every day, and very soon the change w quite noticeable. The discharge grew less inflammation went down, the skin took on a bealthy color, and the raw flesh began to scale over and a thin skin formed as the scales dropped off. Less than two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, aided by Hood's Medicated Soap and Hood's Olive Oint-ment, necomplished this wonderful cure. I cannot praise these medicines half enough." Mas. Gennixor, 37 Myrtle St., Roohastor, N. Y.

Quite Irish, That.

A friend of mine has an Irish servant, who is an old soldier who brought an ugly sear or two from India. One day he was describing his part in a battle-the long wait, the nerves tense, the advance, the gallop, the chargehow the rider some yards ahead of him fell from the saddle and shot his own horse dead with the death grip of his fingers on his revolver as he drugged; how the men behind uttered onths at the sight, and set their teeth to win. "And what struck you most when it was over, and you looked back upon it?" asked my friend. The servant reflected a moment, and then, with simplicity, replied: "What struck me most forcible, sir. was the bullets that missed me." Quite triah, that.-Paris American Register.

I thought is might help me, and decided to give is a trial. I did so, and se a result am now fashing perfectly well. I wish to thank you to the benefit your medicine has been to me."—MRS. CLARA STIERRS., Diller, Meb. No More Pain

DEAR Mas. PINKHAM :- Your Vago table Compound has been of much benefit to me. When my menses first appeared they were very irregular. They occurred too often and did not for a week or more. I always suffered at these times with terrible pains in my back and abdomen. Would be in bed for several days and would not be exactly rational at times. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and menses became regular and pains left me entirely."-Mss. E. P. CUSTER, Brule, Wis.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Reductions Were Expected in the Iron Trace. Textile industry Kept Busy-Favorable Trade Conditions.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Formal reduction of $5 per ton in prices of plates and bars and closing of mills by the American Steel and Wire Company have filled the week with surprises. In the stock market, the market for steel and iron products, changes have begun, the end of which cannot well be foreseen.

Apart from the disturbance in spec alation there has been produced a measure of distrust regarding prices that tends to deter buying. In the iron business the formal reductions were almost wholly anticipated in actual sales. Some suffering was something terrible. I urgent and important contracts have thought there was no cure for me, but thought there was no cure for me, but the been made, including that for the New York tunnel, requiring 75,000 tons at prices not stated, but it is known that many others have been deterred until the prospect is clearer.

There is a slightly better demand for hides at Chicago, but the distribution of boots and shoes does not keep all the factories at work. Greatly restricted buying has been caused by the high prices asked. The shipments from Boston in three weeks have been 31,152 cases, or 11.6 per cent. smaller than last year.

The textile industries have large orders yet to be filled, which keep many of the mills busy, but there are many others less fortunate, and their hunt for orders causes irregularity in prices. The staple woolen and worsted goods hold steadily, but in less favored lines, both steadily, but in less favored lines, both for men's wear and in dressgoods, the business is by no means satisfactory. Wool has been inactive. Cotton goods are by some sold at concessions for future delivery.

In spite of decrease in other staples there were the largest merchandise exports ever known except in December, 1898, and the value of the minor domes tic exports, chiefly manufactured, rose to $59,703,500 in March, a sum never approached in any other month. Wheat has declined a fraction in price and corn advanced a fraction, both markets being rendered comparatively inactive by certainty that the remaining oreign requirements will be easily Atlantic exports in three weeks, flour included, have been 5,706,806 bushels against 5,622,714 bushels last year. The increase in exports of corn continues surprising in three weeks, having been 9.304.702 bushels, against 8,809,746

World's Most Remarkable Whirtpost. The Maelstrom, which means literally, "grinding stream," is situated on rwegian coast, southwest of the en Isles, and is the most re-ble whirlpool in the world. It tween the Island of Moskenes rge solitary rock in the middle straits. The strong currents between the Great West id the outer ocean through the of the Loffoden Isles produce er of whirlpools, of which the aring severe storms from the r instance, the current runs illy to the east at the rate of six n hour, without changing its for rising or falling tide; stream will boil and eddy in ghty whirls that the largest could hardly contend successth the waters. The depth of ripool is only twenty fathoms, outside the straits soundings reach from 100 to 200 fathoms. The great danger to vessels is of course not of suction into the heart of the whirlpoel, as legends have supposed, but of dashed to pieces against the rocks.

Should One Sleep After Enting? We would not revert to this oft-discussed question to give any one's theoretical views or personal belief in the matter, or to bring forward the familiar argument, that because animals sleep just after they have eaten, hence the human animal should do the same says the Medical Record. Dr. Schule of Fribourg has, however, approached the subject from the chemico-experimental side, and his results are worthy of rec-Having analyzed the stomach's contents in two normal subjects a few hours after meals, some of which were followed by sleep and others not, he finds that sleep has for its constant effect the weakening of the stomach's motility and at the same time there is an increase in the acidity of the gastric juice. On the other hand, simple repose in the horizontal position stimulates the motive function of the stomach, but does not increase the acidity of gastric juice. The conclusion is hence reached that, while one should stretch himself out for a rest in the horizontal decubitus after a hearty meal, he should resist the tempting Morpheus, especially if there be present a dilated state of the stomach or if its juices be hyperacid.

Distinguished Book Agenta. Napoleon Bonaparte, when a poor Heutenant, took the agency for a work entitled "L'Histoire de la Revolution." In the foyer of the great Palace of the Louvre can be seen today the emperor's canvassing outfit, with the long list of subscribers he secured. George Washington, when young, canvassed around Alexaudrin, Va., and sold over 200 copies of a work entitled "Bydell's American Savage." Mark Twain was a book agent. Longfellow sold books by subscription. Jay Gould, when starting in life, was a canvasser. Daniel Webster paid his second term's tuition at Dartmouth by handling "De Tocqueville's America" in Merrimac county, New Hampshire. Gen. U. S. Grant canvassed for Irving's "Columbus." James G. Blaine began life as a canvasser for a "Life of Henry Clay." Bismarck, when at Heidelberg, spent a vacation in convessing for Riumanhach's handbooks.

Wearing Out Needleasty.

Many people wear themselves out seedlessly; their conscience is a tyrant. An exaggerated sense of duty leade a person to anxious, ceaseless activity, to be constantly doing something over-punctual, never idle a second of time, scorn to rest; such are in sclous nerve tension. They say they have no time to rest, they have so much to do, not thinking they are rapidly unfitting themselves for probably what would have been their best-

Dewey's Chinese Servant. Admiral Dewey's body servant, who moved with him from the flagship Olympia to his new home presented to him last autumn in Washington, is Ah Maw, the Chinese boy. Ah Maw is an interesting character, and about as and shrewd a Chinaman as one meets. He is an enlisted sailor in e United States navy, and is temorarily detailed for duty with the admiral. He speaks English with remarkable clearness and fluency, is good natured to an unusual degree, and is perfectly devoted to his gallant mas-ter. Ah Maw has sole charge of Admiral Dewey's wardrobe, lays out his clothes to be worn each morning and keeps the admiral's trousers pressed and creased. As Admiral Dewey is exceedingly fastidious about his wearing apparel the duties of Ah Haw in this respect are quite exacting. In a short time the Chinese servant is to return to his native country. He is of a saving disposition and has accumulated a snug fortune, which he is anxious to invest in China. QUAIL HUNTING IN EGYPT.

A Million a Year Are Ensuared by the Natives by Ingenious Methods.

Much has been said lately of the capture of quall in Egypt, touching the protest made by Frenchmen against carrying the birds across French territory for English use. Until this matter rose nobody seemed to know that quail existed in Egypt; but they do-by the million. The passage of bands of quail over the coast of the delta of the Nile, from Port Said to Alexandria, begins in September and last a month and a half, the birds arriving in little groups and alighting on the dunes. Generally, the chare is made by means of nets of five meters high, which the natives extend on cords fastened to poles, in the fashion of curtains gliding on their rods. In reality the net is double. The first near the side of the sea is of meshes very large and loose, but on the back is another net where the bird will really come and perch itself in the folds formed by this second net of small meshes. There is another method of capture which is more picturesque. Rows of dried branches are placed on the shore. At the foot of each branch is disposed a tuft of fresh herbs in the middle of which is arranged an opening which ends in a snare. The quail, tired by its journey, takes refuge in the branch, then in the bunch of herbs, naturally, without figuring to itself that it is going to put itself into a trap where a native will surprise it and kill it. With these perfected means of destruction, it is not astonishing that each year more than half a million of these poor little birds are taken .- St.

Causes bilious head-ache, back-ache and all kinds of body aches. Spring is here and you want to get this bile poison out of your system, easily, naturally and gently. CASCARETS are just what you want; they never grip or gripe, but will work gently while you sleep. Some people think the more violent the griping the better the cure. Be careful—take care of your bowels-salts and pill poisons leave them weak, and even less able to keep up regular movements than before. The only safe, gentle inside Spring cleaner for the bowels are sweet, fragrant CASCARETS. They don't force out the foecal matter with violence, but act as a tonic on the whole 30 feet of bowel wall, strengthen the muscles and restore healthy, natural action—buy them and try them. You will find in an entirely natural way your bowels will be promptly and permanently put in good order for the Spring and Summer work.
