A Business Man Injured.

If you think you are not liable to accident, read the following letter:

BROOKVILLE, PA., May 5, 1900.

About January 1st, 1899, through the agency of William J. Shaffer, I secured an accident policy in the Central Accident Insurance Company, of Pittsburg, Pa., for the maximum amount of $10,000 dollars, with minimum guarantee of $25 per week in case of ordinary accident.

On the 30th day of October, 1899, I fell on the sidewalk in front of my residence and broke the bone of my right leg near the hip joint.

On Wednesday, May 2nd, 1900, I sent in my claim for indemnity for the six months which expired April 30th, and on Saturday, May 5th, received a check for $650—payment in full of claim, without dispute or objection.

Their promptness and business-like manner of adjusting claims commend the company to all business and professional men.

Very truly yours,
E. CLARKE HALL.

Clothing which Wins Approval

THE DIFFERENCE

Between clothing sold by boastful, extravagant advertising and that retailed through a solid, time-earned reputation is vast.

THE FIRST is a method of selling with a hurrah and great promises clothing with very little merit back of it.

THE SECOND is one where the customer secures apparel made upon the honor of the firm selling it and intended to give the utmost satisfaction. This second way is the "Milliren" way. It's a way which is winning the approval of the men of Reynoldsville and vicinity. Our Spring line of Suits for men are those which appeal to the good sense, the pride and the pocket-book of the intelligent man. The assortment stands second to none.
