A special dispatch from Feking under date of Saturday, says: The situation is growing steadily more alarming. The missionary com-pounds were all abandoned yesterday evening. Forty American and English missionaries are gathered at the American Methodist mission, surrounded by 300 native pupils, whom it was impossi-ble to send to their homes. They were waiting with a few revolvers and guarded by to American marines for rein-forcements to take them to the coast. Another dispatch from Tien Tsin, dated Sunday, snys: About 1,500 for-eign troops of all arms left for Pelcing by two troop trains this morning. Ter thousand troops of all nationalities, ac Ten cording to a dispatch from Shanghai will be sent to Peking to back up the demands of the ministers upon the gov ernment or, if necessary, to suppress the "Boxers" themselves. The American mission buildings at Tung-Chau, 12 miles from Peking, which were abandoned by the missionaries, have been looted and burned by the Chinese soldiery who were sent to protect them. Within three days 75 native Christians, well-known men, who had been trained for years by American missionaries, have been massacred near Tung Chau. Many of them were burned alive. The intimidation of Christians continues within Peking itself. Most of the mission compounds are closed, and the mssionaries are being collected un-der the protection of the Legation guards. Reinforcements for all the guards are coming.

a Mountain Mishap.

James Wiltbank, of Black Log Valley, Huntingdon county, Pa., met with a queer experience on Saturday. He was going down a steep part of the Black Log mountain, when he caught hold of a grape vine and swung out over the mountain side. The vine broke loose and the man was thrown out over the tree tops. He lost his hold on the vine and landed in the top of another tree further down the mountain. In the tree where he struck was an eagles' nest, and both the old birds at-tacked him fiercely with talons and beak. He succeeded in getting out his knife and struck at the birds, managing to keep them off until he had scrambled to the ground. At this juncture the male bird fastened its talons into his left shoulder. With a well directed blow of his knife Wiltbank killed the bird, when the female screamed and flew away. He will have the dead eagle mounted.
