BROUGHT BACK OLD TIMES.

A Tidbit That Was Not on the Restaurant Bill of Fare.

The force of childhood recollections and the truth of the quotation. "A touch of nature makes the whole world akin," were shown graphically be a little incident in a restaurant the orier day. A quiet looking, middle aged man of prosperous appearance was cating his dinner when another well dressed man took a seat opposite him. After giving his order in a bluff, genial manner the newcomer took a slp of water and faced around. Suddenly a queer expression came over his face as he watched attentively the actions of his vis-a-vis, and apparently with out realizing what he was doing he blurted out in a loud tone, "Well, well, well!

Every one at the table, including the quiet looking man, started, and the others, observing the direction of the speaker's gaze, turned their eyes also upon him of the quiet appearance to see what had caused the exclamation.

The man who had come in first was in the act of spreading sugar over a slice of buttered bread, and when be realized that all eyes were turned upon him he blushed like one detected in a helnous crime and almost fell off his chair. It took him a minute or two to recover, and then he said to the table in general:

"I used to get bread and butter and sugar for being good when I was a child, and enting it is a habit which I like to indulge in even yet. I know it isn't upon the restaurant bill of fare. but I couldn't resist the temptation."

"I must beg your pardon for my rude exclamation," replied the other man. "My mother used to put bread and butter and sugar in my lunchbox when I went to school as an S-year-old up in the country town where I was raised. and I haven't eaten any since my childhood, and I guess I'll join you in a piece now for the sake of old times." And he did .-- Bangor Whig.

CASHING DRAFTS ABROAD.

Easy Banking Methods Which Cause Americans Much Surprise.

"The continental banking methods are a great surprise to Americans." said a resident of New Orleans who has just returned from a trip abroad. "When I was in Paris last month, I met a friend one day who had an English draft for £100 on one of the largest banks in the city and wanted to get the money. He had nobody to identify him, but said, half jokingly. that he was going to try for it anyhow, and we went to the place together.

"We were shown up stairs to a large reception room set aside especially for customers, and presently a messenger came in and took the draft. About a dozen other people were also waiting in the room, and after a delay of about ten minutes a well dressed young gentleman came to the door and bawled out in a loud voice, 'Mr. John Smith!' My friend (call him John Smith for short) got up and was handed a bun-dle of bank notes. No questions were asked.

"I was astonished, and in going out I took occasion to ask the well dressed young gentleman whether the bank wasn't taking desperate chances doing business in that catch as catch can fashion. 'And why?' he inquired, opening his eyes. I tried to explain, and he shrugged his shoulders. 'We have never had any losses.' he said."-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Funeral Reform

At a meeting of the Baptist ministers in Pittsburg last week "Funeral Reform" received considerable attention. Rev. L. C. Barnes, D. D., thinks the present funeral custom demands some radical changes. He said: "There are a great many customs now in use at funerals that should be abolished. Many funerals of the present time are apt to appear to showy. All funerals should be as simple and impressive as possible. We have all, no doubt, attended funerals that were more or less like a show of some kind. Flowers at a funeral are very pretty and appropriate, but this custom can easily be overdone. There is a limit to all things, and it is had taste to have an over abundance of flowers to ornament the casket. It is not right that funerals should be held on Sonday. In late years we have had many Sunday funerals, but it is only a custom and could be easily given up. There are six other days in the week for burying the dead, and it is not necessary to take the Sabbath. I believe that there should be the utmost privacy about funerals. People are curicus. they are naturally so, and many persons go to view the dead prompted by mor bid curiosity. The relatives and the near friends of the decased should be the only ones to attend the services. I am decidedly in favor of music at funerals." Rev. Dr. Barnes added that he thought the time was not far off when the much-needed reforms in funerals.

New Kinzua Bridge.

Star.

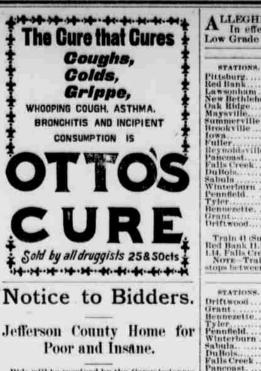

The work of tearing down the old Kinzua bridge preparatory to the erection of a heavy structure is now under full sway. A large force of men are working every day in the week, Sunday included, through all kinds of weather. The men are well paid, receiving fifty cents an hour and work eleven hours The work is hazardous and it will not be surprising if some one is hurt before it s completed. Already one man has had a narrow escape. He fell from a height of 100 feet, but caught a dangling rope and slid down on that. The friction burned his hand to the bone. Arrangements have been made for telegraphic communication with Bradford, so that in case of accident medical assistance can be quickly summoned .- Bradford
