GLASS NOTES

Gleaned From the "Commoner and Glassworker" and Other Sources.

Gray & Sons, of Palls Creek. Pa., re port a good rough plate demand.

But three furnaces are being operated by the National at Jeannette, Pa

The Star Glass Company will ship the first car of glass to New York to-day.

The Mannington (W. Va.) Glass Works will start on a union basis Oct 1. There will be a meeting of the stockholders of the Star Glass Company

October 4th. The office of R. W. Kuntz, bookkeeper for the Star Giass Company, has been moved from the Syndicate building. Main street, to a room in shipping department of glass plant. The two 6-pot window furnaces at Mannington, W. Va., are being built by Nicholls & Mathews, of Weisburg, W. Va. This firm are about ready to make puplic the plans of a new style continnous tank. Glass imports last week were distributed as follows: New York, $2,934 worth of bottles, 1,950 packages glassware, 43 cases plate, 2,135 boxes window, 64 cases mirror; Boston, 21,210 boxes window, Baltimore, 358 boxes window; Baltimore, 358 boxes window.

It is reported that East Brady, Pa., is to have a bottle works that will employ 125 hands with a monthly pay roll of $6,000. The works when completed will cost not over $25,000 and will be built by home capital.

The Mt. Jewett News says: "The glass factories are working full time and no spare places now. New men are coming in every day and vacant houses are filling up rapidly. Every body seems to be doing a fair business and new places of business are being opened up."

The blowers and gatherers now employed at the Star Glass plant met in Stoke's hall Saturday night and organized a new preceptory L. A. 300, K. of L., not the Hays faction. There are fifty-six members in this preceptory. They will meet every Saturday evening. The following officers were elected: Chief Preceptor. John Aurand; Assistant Preceptor, Ed. Shuster; Master Workman, William Cowant Recording Secretary, Harry Draper.

The Pittsburg Times of Sept. 21 says: "The new L. A. 300, window glass blowers and gatherers, has increased its membership to over 1,500 men during the present week. The men are drifting away from the Window Glass Workers Association, of which Simon Burns is president, and are accepting the scale and joining hands with the OUALITY IS ALWAYS FOUND other trades in the independent plants. The window glass flatteners have reported the only break in their ranks, which is given out in a circular letter issued by President George L. Cake. The men number four. They are named and Mr. Cake says that they broke away and went to work in the factory of the Camp Glass company at Smethport.

The Smethport Window Glass Company has been standing with the Independent Window Glass Manufacturers' association and refused to sign the scale of President Simon Burns. The result was the blowers and gatherers there refused to work. Yesterday the company secured a large number of blowers from the new L. A. 300 organization, who were at Kane, walting for the plants there to begin. The Smethport works then began blowing glass at once. They have a full force of flatteners and cutters also. A dispatch from Kane last night says that the combine factory there, which has 96 pots, has only 16 blowers at work and three flatteners. Throughout the entire district of Kane it is said that the independent manufac turers are working without a hitch and have all the men they need.'

The following communication signed by August Boulanger, general manager of the Star Glass Co. of this place, appeared in the Commoner and Glasscorker last week:

"After mature deliberation we signed the anti-Burns scale, because we considered that the right side to take in the pending controversy. The presence of a Burns representative in our town, and the liberal use of his fat pocketbook. had some effect upon the men whom I had under contract, and 18 of them showed the white feather and left us, but in spite of this we started with 18 blowers and a full crew of flatteners and We now have 32 blowers, making good money and all contented and happy.

In a long experience I have never seen better glass than we are turning out, and the fire not ten days old yet.

out, and the fire not ten days old yet. The first cylinder was good "first-quality" giass, and if anything, the quality improves as the fire goes on. Every department of the factory is now in operation and we look for a successful year.

We want it distinctly understood that this is an independent glass factory. Only men skilled in the four trades will be given place here, and from the tone of the conversation and the letters of the many blowers I have met, and who have written to me, I believe that every good sensible man in the four trades agrees with me." grees with me.

Last Wednesday morning the school had the pleasure of listening to a talk by the Hon. S. B. Elliott. Like his characteristic discussions it was as fresh as the flowers he brought from his garden with which to illustrate the points that he presented. He took for his theme the question, "Is Color a Substance?" He introduced it by speaking of a discussion that occurred in front of his residence between two passers-by one morning recently. The conclusion reached by the two, was: that color is as much a matter of fact when the moon fails to give her light and utter darkness covers the earth, as when the earth is enlivened and brightened by the noonday sun. Mr. Elliott then made the statement, that, color is not a substance, but is an effect produced on our nerves of sight by only certain ray of light coming to our eyes. This may be caused by a part only being allowed to come through a substance, or by a part being reflected back to our eyes from some body.

He then gave some very beautiful examples, using flowers brought from his garden. He first, however, gave the three primary colors and the four most common combinations, showing how all were separated by means of the

He first took a sunflower with a brown center, and showed how we see its vellow color of the outer circle, as that alone is reflected back to us after the flower has absorbed the other elements of light; of the brown center we get the brown as the unused part of the light reflected by that part of the plant.

The next flower presented for our inspection was the Zinnie. He indicated how its white reflected every element of light. Its orange-colored flowers reflected part of the red and part of the yellow, absorbing the rest. He continued further with his illustrations, using alamanda, feverfew, white and pink china asters, achyranthes, parti-colored begenias, and yellow and white abutilon. forming in all, a very pleasant trip through garden, science and color.

Mr. Elliott then went on to state 'tis possible, even probable and in fact it is certain that man may be able to determine the number of elements in the sun, to the number of forty or fifty, with as much certainty as we determine the color of a fine horse or a new dress. This is done by means of the spectroscope, and the knowledge of its use. Mr. Elliott's remarks were heartily received and upon the invitation of Prof. Lenkerd, made while Mr. Elliott was yet on the rostrum, he promised to further develop the subject of light and color at some early period by means of the school apparatus.

Clement Flynn started to school last Monday morning.

A merry-go-round has been in town for the last week and it seemed to attract the young ladies' attention, especially in the evening.

The young doctor has been neglecting his business when he ought to be at his office, but I guess the Boulevard has more or less of an attraction to most of the young people of the school.

Last week a couple of young damsels of the room fixed their pretty golden hair in some new fangled knot to try to make an impression upon the young men of the room, but their efforts proved futile.

Letter to Reynoldsville Hardware Co., Reynoldsville, Pa

Dear Sirs:-H. M. Hooker & Co., Cooperstown, N. Y., have sold Devee paint for 42 years. D. T. McGown, of that firm, built a house in %5 and painted Devoc, of course. The paint lasted ten vears.

A year or two later a neighbor built a bouse and painted it lead and oil. The neighbor's house was repainted twice in the same time.

This looks as if the neighbor's house was painted three times in eight or nine years, and McGown's once in ten years. We are not quite sure-we tell the tale as it comes to us.

It is enough to say that Devoe lead and zine lasts twice as long as lead and oil. Yours truly,
