WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1900.

An independent local paper, published every Wednesday at Reynoldsville, Jefferson Co., Pa., devoted to the interests of Reynoldsville and Jefferson county. Non-political, will treat all with fairness, and will be especially friendly towards the laboring class. Communications intended for publication must be accompanied by the writer's name, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Interesting news items solicited. Advertising rates made known on application at the office in Freshlich-Henry Block, Longby communications and change of advertisements should reach this office by Monday noon.

Subscription price $1.00 per year in advance. Address all communications to C. A. Stephenson, Reynoldsville, Pa. Entered at the postoffice at Reynoldsville, Pa., as second class mail matter.

A Great Prize Offer.

We have a great prize offer to make the farmers of Jefferson county! By a special arrangement with the publishers of the Farm Journal, a most excellent farm paper that costs 50 cents a year, we are able to offer one year's subscription to THE STAR and FOUR years' subscription to the Farm Journal—the two worth $3.00—all for the small sum of $1.25. Of course this only applies to advance paying subscribers. We can furnish a few papers at this rate, and if you want them on these terms, you must act QUICKLY! Sample copies of the Farm Journal will be sent free on application. Address,

The Bravery of Woman

Was grandly shown by Mrs. John Dowling, of Butler, Pa., in a three years' struggle with malignant stomach trouble that caused distressing attacks of nausea and indigestion. All remedies failed to relieve her until she tried Electric Bitters. After taking it two months she wrote: "I am now wholly cured and can eat anything. It is truly a grand tonic for the whole system as I gained in weight and feel much stronger since using it." It aids digestion, cures dyspepsia, improves appetite, gives new life. Only 50c. Guaranteed, at H. Alex. Stoke's drug store.

Who Can Make Arrests?

In response to the question of what officers have the right to make arrests on warrants in Pennsylvania the following are named: A constable, chief-of-police (who is an ex-officio constable), sheriff and his deputies, county detective or a detective licensed by the court of quarter sessions, detectives appointed by the governor, or a citizen deputized as a constable when his name is entered on a warrant. Policemen within the city can arrest without warrants on seeing a breach of the peace committed, and can serve any criminal process because of the violation of city ordinances. A private citizen can also, without a warrant, arrest a person in the act of committing a felony or to prevent one. A bail piece can be served by any person deputized. Detectives can only be appointed by the governor and the courts.

A Few "Ifs."

If all waste paper were burned instead of being so often thrown carelessly down, the streets would appear much more attractive.

If no one would expectorate on the sidewalk, it would be less disgusting to the stomach of the pavement sweeper and the passer-by, and remove a fruitful source of contagion and disease.

If banana and orange rinds, also apple parings, were not lying in wait for the hurrying fat man and the lady with the baby and bundles, there might be fewer hurt feelings and broken bones, and by the same token less money for the medicine man.

If the boys who smoke cigarettes could see themselves a few years hence seeking employment, finding desirable doors closed against them, above the stern statement, "Cigarette Smokers Not Employed," perhaps they would deny themselves an indulgence brief and deadly.

If one might take a walk or drive of moderate length without having the ear pained by profanity it would seem like a foretaste of the millennium.—Ex.
