

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing this Fatal Woman's Disease.

Of all the diseases known with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient soldon survives. Being fully aware of this, Mrs. Pinkham, early in her career, gave ex-mustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's lits - Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegretable Compound - was careful to see that it is contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. The Vegetable Compound acts in har-mony with the laws that govern the entire female system, and while there are many so called remedies for kidney troubles, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women. The following letters will show how marvellously successful it is :

Interventionally successful it is: leucorrhoea, failing of the womb, and kidney trouble. I also had a pain when standing or walking, and some-times there seemed to be balls of fire in front of me, so that I could not see for about twenty minutes. Felt as tired in the morning when I got up as if I had had no sleep for two weeks. Had fainting spells, was down-hearted, and would ere. "--MRS. BERTHA OPER, Second and Clayton Sts., Chester Pa.

Mournful Ending of a Brave People That Struggie Hard for Existence.

For more than 60 years the existence of the Boers has been the epic of continuous and immense adventure, in which nothing has been so amazing as which nothing has been so amazing as the last struggle and the final defeat. There is no such example of a hard and stubborn people, dimly led by des-tiny, in their flight from civilization, to revolve in a circle which brought them back at last face to face with the most overwhelming environment of all the ideas and forces of civilization, in the shape of the British empire. When the Dutch farmers resolved up-on their exodus from Cape Colony and

His Interests Protected The greatest impetus was given to the slave trade by the act of parliament of 1684, which legalized slavery in the North American colonies. This does not mean that slavery was unknown in what is now the United States before that time, because, as early as 1620, a Dutch man-of-war landed and sold 20 African negroes at Jamestown, Va. In 1626 the West India Company imported slaves from the West Indies to New York city—then New Amsterdam. The city itself owned shares in a slave ship, advanced money for its fitting out and shared in the profits of its voyages. This recognition and encouragement may account for the astounding fact the entire population of New York. The general prevalence of slavery is shown by the fact that, at this time, there were 67 slaves in New York's small suburb of Brooklyn, and that in London itself there were resident 20,000 slaves. Shaves were at that time pub-licly dealt in on the London Exchange, No wonder the traffic in human flesh was a recognized commerce, and that in 1771, the English alone sent to Africa 192 ships equipped for the trade and with a carrying capacity-of 47.146 slaves per trip.—Pearson's Magazine. In London, although street accidents In London, atthough street accidents are of much rarer occurrence than in the metropolis of the United States, we yet have danger spots which annually claim their appointed tale of victims. According to a high police official, London's "dead man's curve" is Chat-ham older situated to the post ham place, situated to the north of Blackriars bridge and at the junction of the Embankment, Bridge street and Queen Victoria street. This, notwith-standing opinions to the contrary, is by far the most dangerous crossing in London.—London Daily Mail.
