are here and parents should see that their children have perfect eyesight. Without it their studies are hard and progress slow. I will make a careful examination free for all calling on me, and tell them if they need glasses or not.

"What Shall We Do with the Boys?" at Assembly hall Friday evening, Nov. 2nd. There are six P. R. R. and N. C. R. engines in use on the Low Grade Division now. A noble line of boys' youths' and men's suits and overcoats at Shick & Wagner's. Special line of children's long-sleeve underwear from 10 cents up, at People's Bargain store. Johnston & Nolan are now selling a line of ladies' shoes for $1.50 that formerly sold for $2.50. An Italian who lives on Mable street had his left leg broken by a fall of coal in Big Soldier Friday. The "White Cap" foot ball team will go to Brookville Friday and play the high school team of that place. The Thomas barbershop has added another chair and is now better prepared to take care of the patrons of that shop. Pittsburg's brightest evening journal, The Daily News, has put on a new head-gear, which adds to the appearance of that paper. There will be a pie social at the Jenks school on Friday evening, October 19th. Proceeds for a school library. All are cordially invited. The Young Men's Reading Association room has been wired for electric lights. The room will be ready to be opened before long. Now is the time to get ladies' and children's underwear for fall and winter at prices to guarantee satisfaction to customers at the People's Bargain store. James Smith, of Grove Summit, whose son was killed by lightning during the summer, died Monday and will be buried in the Beechwoods cemetery this forenoon. It was announced that the Imperial foot ball team of DuBois would play the "Indians" at this place Thursday afternoon, but there was some misunderstanding about the matter and the DuBois boys did not arrive. The Women's Relief Corps initiated 10 new members last Friday evening. Mrs. Ed. Phillips and Mrs. Martin, members of the Corps who live at Big Soldier, furnished ice cream and cake to the members after the initiation.

The West Reynolds town council paid the Reynolds Electric Light Company's first bill last week. An Italian has rented the room next to Gooder's jewelry store, in Reynolds building, and will open a fruit store the first of next month. A cake and coffee supper will be given in the Salvation Army hall Monday evening of next week, October 22nd, to raise money to pay some back rent. The Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle met in parlors of Hotel Imperial Friday evening. There are thirty-five members in the Circle this year. Fred J. Butler, who has been at Tyler some time, has resigned there to accept a position as book-keeper for the Cowansville Mining Co., at Cowansville, Pa. Rashland & Leslie Theatrical Company was at the Reynolds opera house three nights of last week. The company went from here to New Bottlesville. Constable John H. Null, of Sykesville, arrested a fellow last week for breaking a boy's nose with a stone and the officer gave the fellow two much liberty and he skipped in double quick order. Harry, three-year-old son of Archibald and Kate Huntington, died Sunday with diphtheria and was buried in Beulah cemetery Monday afternoon. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Perry A. Reno. Captain J. M. Herman and wife and Cadet Bell, of Mendville, Salvation Army people, have been stationed at Reynoldsville for six months or a year, and are holding meetings on the street and in the Salvation Army hall every night. It is safe to say that the audience enjoyed Barlow and Wilson's Minstrels better than any other minstrel entertainment that has appeared in Atlanta for years.—Atlanta Constitution. At the Reynolds opera house Friday evening, October 19th. District Deputy Mrs. George Marshall, of Rathmel, installed the officers of the A. P. L. A. lodge at Rathmel last Thursday night. About thirty ladies of the Westville lodge drove to Rathmel to attend the meeting. After installation refreshments were served. Andrew Remoske and Caroline Wavoske, of this place, were married in the Catholic church at 8.00 a. m. Monday. Father Brady performed the marriage ceremony. The wedding party drove from church to Corwin's photograph gallery and had their pictures taken. Two men hired a livery rig at Sykesville last week to drive to Eleanor, where they got intoxicated, wrecked the buggy and did not return to Sykesville. The following day an officer went in search of the fellows and found them. It cost them $52.00 for damage to buggy, costs, &c. Quite a number of Republicans of this place were in Puxsuntawney Friday night to attend the Republican meeting and shake hands with Hon. M. S. Quay and Gov. Wm. A. Stone. Some of them drove to Puxsuntawney and others went on the excursion train that was run from Reynoldsville. William Mumford, son of Mrs. Eli Epler, returned recently from a trip to Texas. He also spent some time in Old Mexico and the territories. Mrs. Epler had not seen her son for 26 years until he dropped in here a few days ago. Mr. Mumford, who is a miner, expects to work at the Virginia mine. A large crowd attended the administrator's sale of George W. Henry's property near Panic last Friday. There were ninety-eight rigs around the premises at one time. Ex-sheriff E. C. Burns was auctioneer and he got a good price for everything that was sold. A. G. Milliren, of this place, is administrator. Charles Milliren was clerk. The sixteenth annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Clarion Presbytery, held in the Presbyterian church at Brookwayville on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, was well attended and was very interesting. The next meeting will be held at Marienville, Forest county. Mrs. G. Walter Palen, of this place, was elected a member of the executive committee, Secretary of Literature. Some young men, who seem to be devilishly inclined, have been tearing the hand railing off the sidewalk from Jackson street to silk mill, and if it can be learned who they are they should be punished for such work. It is dangerous to cross that sidewalk after night without a railing to protect the pedestrian, in fact when the sidewalk is covered with ice and snow and a strong wind is blowing it is dangerous for ladies to walk over it even in daylight. Charles J. Bangert, editor of the spiky Falls Creek Herald, was in town a short time Monday afternoon and he made THE STAR office a fraternal call. Charley started for Brookville on some important business and rushed from his office to catch the 5.00 p. m. train, forgetting the necessary papers to take with him to county seat, and when comfortably seated on the train he fumbled through eight or ten pockets and failing to find his documents he decided to stop here and wait for a train that would take him back to Falls Creek.

Republican Rally. There will be a Republican rally at this place on Thursday, October 25th. The speeches will be made in Centennial hall. Surprise Party. About twenty of Miss Ollie Dunn's young friends gave her a surprise party last Friday evening. It was an old-fashioned taffy pulling and the boys and girls had a jolly time. McKinley and Roosevelt Club. A meeting of the Republicans of Reynoldsville and vicinity will be held this, Wednesday, evening, for the purpose of organizing a McKinley & Roosevelt Club. Everybody invited. Minstrels Friday Night. Barlow and Wilson's Minstrels gave a crisp and clean cut entertainment last night, to a large and fashionable audience. Every feature was new and clever. The olio of novelties was a series of very excellent specialties.—Pittsburg Dispatch. At Reynolds opera house Friday night. Tickets on sale at Stoke's drug store. Two Ribs Fractured. John Ross, who works at Big Soldier, was riding home from work after dark Thursday evening on his bicycle and was accidentally thrown off, fracturing two ribs on his left side. He was unconscious for a short time. His doctor informed him that one of the fractured ribs came very nearly puncturing his heart, which would have ended his earthly career. Free Oyster Supper. The Women's Relief Corps of this place will give a social Friday, October 20th, in G. A. R. hall to all old soldiers in this neighborhood. Veterans, don't forget the date and by attending you will have a good, hot oyster supper, also sandwiches, coffee, &c., as well as a musical and literary program. The Sons of Veterans are invited to unite with the Relief Corps in helping to make a pleasant evening for the soldiers. Logic and Eloquence. Dr. W. H. Dye, president of Western Reserve Seminary of West Fannington, Ohio, in speaking of Dr. Riker's lecture on "What Shall We Do With the Boys?" says: "The lecture was excellent in wit, thought and delivery, and made a fine impression on an appreciative audience. Dr. Riker ranks among the best on the platform; he is a delight to young people and all who hear him. His public efforts abound in wit, logic and eloquence." At Assembly hall Friday evening, Nov. 2nd. More Smoke Than Fire. Alex Watson resides on Jackson street, near company office, and yesterday afternoon his wife was at the store, returning home about three o'clock, when she found her home full of smoke, and naturally, she thought the house was afire and made the fact known. The fire bell soon brought Hope Hose Company out, but they had not gone far until they were notified that they were not needed. On searching for the cause of smoke Mrs. Watson found a piece of carpet smoldering in her pantry. First Trip to Pittsburg. Ninian Cooper, ex-tax collector of this borough and at present register, who has lived in this neck o' woods night unto 75 years, made his first trip to Pittsburg yesterday. Mr. Cooper keeps posted on political matters and the current events of the day, but he is not much of a traveler, however, we venture the assertion that Mr. Cooper would feel as much at home in Pittsburg yesterday as many a person who has been in that city frequently. He had the locality he proposed to travel well fixed in his mind and he would not bother many people, when he landed in the city, by asking for direction. Granted a Review. Over a year ago voters were appointed to view a public road from a point above Sandy Valley, in Winslow township, to a point near the McAninch residence in Washington township. The viewers reported favorable for opening the road, but did not allow damages to parties through whose land the road was to be opened. The Central Land and Mining Co. was not satisfied with the viewers' work, claiming that the company did not receive proper notification of the time of view, therefore, the matter was brought up at argument court and Judge Reed will allow a review, and new viewers will be appointed. James Howlett Dead. James Garfield Howlett, son of John and Helen Howlett, died at his home on Main street at 3.15 p. m., Friday, October 12th, after eighteen days of illness with typhoid fever. James was born in Reynoldsville June 23rd, 1880, making him 20 years, 3 months and 17 days old at time of death. The 18th day of last May James was married to Miss Elvira Harold. Funeral services were held at the residence at 2.00 p. m. Sunday, conducted by Rev. A. J. Meek, Ph. D., pastor of the Baptist church and interment was made in Beulah cemetery. The deceased was a member of Mazomania Tribe, No. 341, Improved Order of Red Men, which has a large membership, and the lodge attended the funeral in a body and had charge of the service at cemetery.

Reynoldsville Hunters Out. Sunday afternoon Frank J. Black, proprietor of Hotel McConnell, and Frank A. McConnell, proprietor of Frank's Tavern, drove over into Indiana county so as to be in the woods early Monday morning to hunt squirrels and pheasants. Alex Riston, George Hughes, James Irving, Jack O'Hare and James Hughes drove over to what is called the "wilderness," in Clearfield county, Sunday afternoon to be ready to hunt squirrels and pheasants early Monday morning. Ed. O'Rielly, Father Ed. Delecoll, A. M. Woodward, W. H. Ford, Charles Alman and Henry Shields were in the "wilderness" of Clearfield county the first of this week hunting. John A. Welsh and Charles Grubbs went to the "wilderness" yesterday to hunt. Welsh says he expects to sit in the buggy and have Grubbs drive the squirrels in for him to shoot. Jno. H. Wagner and Ward Eason, of the Shick & Wagner dry goods store, went to Worthville the first of the week to spend several days hunting. John Welsh says that Eason told him they were going to hunt red squirrels. Rev. Harshaw Has Resigned. Rev. James G. Harshaw, a Methodist Episcopal minister who was pastor of the Emerickville charge several years and was transferred to the Beechtree charge three or four years ago, has tendered his resignation as pastor at Beechtree and has accepted the appointment to Clayton, northeastern part of New Mexico. Rev. Harshaw starts for his new field of labor on 29th inst. The Brockwayville Record, in speaking of Rev. Harshaw's work at Beechtree says: "Mr. Harshaw has done much good work and is a tower of strength to his people. He was especially successful in revival work and it will be hard to find a divine to fill the place as he filled it. His departure from this field will be deeply regretted." We are personally acquainted with Mr. Harshaw and his estimable wife, and know that the little bouquet presented by the Record does not contain one rose too many, for they are both deserving of the highest praise. Mr. Harshaw is a hard worker, and yet always congenial, and Mrs. Harshaw is a noble christian lady, with a sweet disposition, and is a great help to her husband in his work. Presiding Elder Smith will move Rev. Joel Smith from Bellview to Beechtree to take Rev. Harshaw's place, and move Rev. George Collier from Sigel to Bellview and leave Sigel to be supplied for the present. There is a young man in Ohio whom Dr. Smith expects to appoint to the Sigel charge. Old Folks' Day. The special service held in the M. E. church Sunday morning, under the auspices of the Epworth League, was certainly an oasis in the life of a number of old people of Reynoldsville. It was called "old folks' day," and all persons in town over sixty years old were invited to attend the service. There were some present who were over eighty years old. Those who could not walk were taken to and from the church in carriages provided by the League. A committee of young ladies stood in the vestibule of the church and pinned a pretty bouquet of carnations on the bosom of all the old people who attended the services. Another committee acted as ushers and escorted the grandfathers and grandmothers to seats reserved for them. A number of rocking chairs were provided for the use of old people. The church was nicely decorated, in fact a special effort was made to make it a pleasant and profitable hour for all who attended. The choir was prepared for the occasion. Mrs. Reno sang a solo. Rev. Reno preached an excellent sermon from this text: "At evening time it shall be light."

Another Mother Gone. Mrs. H. C. Deible Died in Philadelphia Thursday Night—Buried Here Sunday. Mrs. Henry C. Deible, of this place, died in the private hospital of Dr. W. W. Kane in Philadelphia at 11.50 p. m., October 11, 1900. Mrs. Deible had gone to Philadelphia the week before to have an operation performed for cancer, and little did she or her friends think, after consultation with the doctors, that the operation, which was performed Monday of last week, would so quickly end her earthly career. Mr. Deible, who was in Philadelphia, returned home before the operation because the doctor assured him there was no danger from the operation. Wednesday night Mr. Deible received word that his wife was in a critical condition and Thursday he started for Philadelphia, arriving at the hospital about three hours before she died. Mrs. Deible knew her husband when he arrived and was able to talk to him. Among other things she said: "I lived in Jesus and will die in Jesus." Mr. Deible left Philadelphia Friday night with the mortal remains of his beloved companion, arriving here on the 8.38 a. m. train Saturday. It was a sad home-coming. Stalwart men—members of the Masonic lodge—met Mr. Deible at the station and were so deeply touched with the husband's grief that tears were seen to drop from many cheeks. Funeral services were held in the Baptist church Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. A. J. Meek, Ph. D., pastor, and notwithstanding the inclement weather the church was not large enough to accommodate all who wanted to pay the last tribute of respect to a noble woman whom they highly esteemed. The Masonic brethren had charge of the funeral. Rev. Meek's text was selected from Rev. 14: 12, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them." Mrs. Deible had joined the Baptist church when about fourteen years old and had ever after lived a consistent christian life, always ready to labor in the Master's vineyard, and this gave the pastor a noble and worthy christian subject to comment upon. He spoke in glowing terms of Mrs. Deible's life at home and in the church, and those who knew her best did not think the pastor's praise was more than the deceased deserved. The funeral tributes were beautiful. Ball of Honor and Star were from sisters of the deceased, another from Tenuis Club, wreath from Masonic lodge and a bunch of flowers from officials of the Star Glass Company. The mortal remains of this devoted wife and loving mother were buried in the Reynoldsville Cemetery. Mrs. Deible's maiden name was Josephine Loree. She was born in New York state December 6th, 1852, making her almost 48 years old at time of death. Was married to Henry C. Deible in Warren, Pa., October 4th, 1877, and immediately came with him to Reynoldsville where she ever after resided. She is survived by her husband and four children, Gertrude, Eugene, Lucille and Herman. The following out of town relatives attended the funeral: Mrs. John Deible, Mrs. Martin Lauffer, Mrs. G. G. Gruber, Mrs. John Lay, of Warren, and Miss Bessie Head, of Youngsville, Pa. Foot Ball Game Yesterday. The Imperial foot ball team of DuBois came to this place yesterday to play a game with the "Indians" and were badly defeated. The score was 22-0. At the finish of the first half the score was 6-0. DuBois team put in three new men for the last half and Reynoldsville put in two, which was not necessary, for the "Indians" could have defeated the visiting club even after it was "loaded."

Mrs. Jennie Moreley, of Andover, Ohio, Gordon Howlett, of Sterling Run, and Mrs. Milton Sloppy, of DuBois, were here to attend the funeral of their nephew, James Howlett, who was buried Sunday.

Death Brings About a Reunion. In 1861 George Howlett, of this place, responded to the call for soldiers and went to the front leaving five motherless children, three girls and two boys, Jennie, Julia, John, Mary and Gordon Howlett. In May, 1862, George Howlett was killed at the battle of Fair Oaks, Va., and the orphan children were scattered and were never all together at one time since then until they met here to attend the funeral of James Howlett. Mrs. Jennie Morely lives at Andover, Ohio, John Howlett, poor overseer of this borough, and Mrs. Julia Reynolds reside at this place, Mrs. Mary Sloppy lives in DuBois and Gordon Howlett lives at Sterling Run. Robinson's. Would be particularly pleased to show you their new fall styles of dress and street footwear. They are so beautiful that a man, even a shoe man, cannot describe them; you must see and feel them. Hope we will have the pleasure soon. Found What He Wanted. Two DuBois chaps were in town yesterday looking for trouble and they found it. Both of them attacked Will Hellbeck, porter at Hotel Imperial, but some town boy pulled one off and Will trimmed the other fellow in short order. Card of Thanks. Words are inadequate to express our heartfelt thankfulness to the friends and neighbors who were so exceedingly kind and sympathetic after the death of our beloved one. H. C. DEIBLE AND FAMILY.
