

THE MINERS' STRIKE IS AT AN END

DEMANDS GRANTED.

The Reading Company Concedes and Others Follow—An Early Resumption of Work Expected—The Miners Jubilant.

The great strike of the anthracite mine workers of Pennsylvania, which began September 17, practically ended Wednesday. When the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company and the Lehigh Valley Coal Company agreed to abolish the sliding scale in their respective regions and to grant an advance in wages of 10 per cent. net, the advance to remain in operation until April 1, 1901, or thereafter. This action meets the demands of the Scranton miners' convention. The decision was arrived at after a conference held in Philadelphia between representatives of the individual coal operators and the large coal carrying companies.

It is conceded that the result of the conference is a complete victory for the men. All the demands of their convention are accepted, and the operators go a little further in agreeing to maintain the wage advance after April 1.

The news from Philadelphia spread through the entire region with almost lightning rapidity. Everywhere satisfaction was expressed by the striking miners and others. It is confidently believed that the strike will be officially declared off this week, and that all the men will have a chance to return to work by Monday. President Mitchell informed all inquirers that the strike would be declared off by no one but the United Mine Workers' officials, and added that no mine workers should return to the mines until a notice to that effect is issued from labor headquarters.

The advance of 10 per cent. means an increased disbursement of $20,000 every month in Shenandoah alone.

Telegrams from Scranton, Pa., dated Thursday, say: Representatives of all the big coal mining companies met here this afternoon and decided to insist on the decrease in the price of powder being computed as part of the increase in wages to contract miners.

District President Nichols, of the United Mine Workers, says the mine workers' officials were directed to get a straight advance, and that another miners' convention will be necessary before the strike can be declared off, even though the officers were disposed to accede to the conditions that powder should figure in the present negotiations.

The operators' meeting this afternoon agreed to most notices extending the offer of 10 per cent. to April 1.

INTO A CROWDED CAR.

An Indianapolis Switch Engine Causes Injury and Perhaps Death.

At Indianapolis, Ind., a Lake Erie & Western railroad switch engine struck a street car at 10:25 o'clock Friday night. There were 21 passengers in the cars, and of this number 15 of them were more or less injured, some of them perhaps fatally.

The engine struck the front end of the car, carried it 20 feet, and finally threw it against a freight car standing on a side-track. The passengers were pinned down by the broken timbers. The doors could not be opened and the least injured people, in their mad rush to escape, trampled over those unable to help themselves. To add to the general confusion the steam from the engine enveloped the wrecked car, and it was with great difficulty the work of rescuing them was carried forward. At least half the passengers were women, and their screams and the crash awoke people living within two blocks of the scene of the accident.

AMERICA GREATEST WORLD'S POWER

HEADS THEM ALL.

Sir Robert Griffin, the Celebrated English Statistical Expert Bestows This Title Upon the United States.

One of the most notable speeches of last week was delivered by Sir Robert Griffin, the noted statistician and former president of the Statistical society, before the Manchester Statistical society, upon the European population of the world. He declared the growth of the United States compelled her recognition as the most powerful state in the world so far as population and resources were concerned. He pointed out that the United States really had a greater European population than any European state, for Great Britain's strength might be considered to be diminished rather than increased by the possession of large territories, while the units of the Russian population were so inferior that the pre-eminence of the United States is not questioned. According to Sir Robert, there are now only four great world powers, the United States, Great Britain, Russia and Germany, with France a doubtful fifth. He expressed the belief that the "Yellow peril" would vanish, as the yellow races were quickly being outnumbered by the European, which, in another century, should number nearly two thousand millions.

The letter mysteriously hints that plans are maturing among the armed rebels in the field and describes these as "best for the country." Bucanino declares that the letter is genuine.

The lumber was carried away in all directions. It is feared further loss of life has resulted in the country. A hard rain fell in the morning, commencing about 7 o'clock with light hail. The result will be considerable damage to the cotton crop remaining ungathered in this section.

Shortly after 12 o'clock Thursday morning, Fratus Warfield, a negro, 23 years of age, was taken from the county jail by a mob and hanged at Elkton, Ky. Tuesday the negro went to the home of a young white farmer, about three miles from Elkton, and finding no one at home but the wife and her little babe, attempted to frighten her into letting him into the house. He did not succeed in getting in, and after trying to break in the door and threatening to kill her, he went away.

In the encounter in the building the convicts had the advantage of numbers, but in the battle in the open the keepers rallied and finally retrieved much that had been lost, securing all but seven of the desperate fellows. These have not been caught.

A Big Canal Contemplated.

The latest and most important project on foot in England is the construction of a canal from Southampton to London. The surmise as to the far-reaching consequences such a step would entail is scarcely less interesting than the fact that, if it is accomplished, it is likely to be through the instrumentality of American capital. Coming on top of London's adoption of the American transit systems and the utilization of American money and brains, this latest project may well be said to cap the climax.

CLEANED DOWIE OUT.

Medical Students Drove Him From His London Lecture Hall.

Three hundred students from the London hospital created a riot in John Alexander Dowie's meeting in St. Martin's town hall Wednesday afternoon. The speaker took refuge in flight in order to escape bodily injuries. A free-for-all fight took place between the students and Dowie's followers, and many were severely injured. The police attacked the rioters in force and made many arrests.

In the evening the students tried to rush the platform. They threw chairs at Dowie, who called upon the police and fled by a side door. The police fought their way in and endeavored to expel the rioters, arresting a number. Fighting was then resumed, sticks and chairs being used as weapons. The students tried to rescue those under arrest. Ultimately more police were summoned and the hall was cleared. The committee of St. Martin's town hall will consult with a police representative as to the advisability of allowing further meetings.

Sufferer Can See Though His Optic Lies On His Cheek.

During the night his screams awakened other members of the family. It was found that the wax had drawn the eyeball clear out of the socket upon the cheek. Physicians were hastily summoned. They were afraid to heat the wax to remove it, for fear of injuring the sight. After hours of work the wax was removed, but the eyeball refused to again go to its place. He could see out of the eye that lay upon his cheek when the other was closed. The unfortunate man has to be kept under the influence of morphine continually.

He says the fatal shots were fired from within the city building, but does not more definitely fix the responsibility. TO MAINTAIN CHINA'S OPEN DOOR

ANGLO-GERMAN AGREEMENT.

The Compact is an Outcome of the Policy Outlined by the United States—Diplomats Are Highly Pleased.

Great surprise was created in foreign diplomatic circles when the announcement was made that England and Germany had formed an alliance to maintain the open door in China and prevent the dismemberment of the great empire. It is generally admitted that Lord Salisbury, who has hitherto taken little part openly in the Chinese question, was instrumental in bringing about the agreement.

On every hand the move is admitted to be rational and helpful. It is expected to clear away the cloud of international suspicion which has hindered a clear view of the exigencies of the Chinese situation and threatened a peaceful settlement of difficulties. Germany, by the agreement, comes in for an equal share of good intent in China.

There has been no attempt to disguise the fact that the alliance is directed against Russia, whose actions in the continued occupation of Manchuria have aroused suspicion.

The United States first declared for the preservation of the Chinese empire as an entity. One after another of the powers has come to our position. The Japanese legation approves of the step and Minister Wu is enthusiastic. He says: "This is a most important movement, and I hope it will lead to a complete settlement. The agreement is exactly in line with the American position, to which all of the governments have their adherence. But coming at this time from two such powerful nations, the agreement ought to exert a strong influence toward a settlement."

AMEUSHED IN THE HILLS.

How Captain Shields and His Men Were Captured—Their Rescue.

Full details are now at hand as to the capture of Captain Devereaux Shields and his party by the insurgents in the Island of Mindanao last month and their experiences prior to their rescue by General Luther R. Hare.

Captain Shields and his party, while operating north of Torrijos, were taken in ambush in the steep hills. They attempted to cut their way to the coast, but became subjected to the enemy's four-sided fire. Captain Shields being shot twice and badly wounded.

After four had been killed and five wounded, being out of ammunition, the command surrendered through a misunderstanding of themselves to 25 insurgent riflemen and 1,000 Bolomen. The rebels separated their prisoners into small parties and conveyed them, heavily guarded, to impassable volcanic mountains.

General Hare gave the rebels one week to surrender the prisoners and the latter's rifles. The rebels perceived that it was only a question of time when the release of their prisoners would be effected, and they opened up communications with General Hare which resulted in the handing over of the captives.

KILLED BY BANK ROBBERS.

Town Marshal Shot and a Strang Force Pursuing the Murderers.

The safe of the Farmers Bank at Bronough, this county, was blown open with nitro-glycerine Friday night. All the money in the bank, $1,625, was taken.

Town Marshal William Moran heard the heavy explosion and stepped out of his door. Just as he did so, one of the robbers shot the marshal in the center of his head, killing him instantly.

Shortly after the shooting two men in a wagon were seen to drive rapidly out of town. Citizens wired Sheriff Ewing, who sent them a message to deputize every man possible to pursue the robbers. This was done. If the robbers are captured they will probably be lynched.

India's Famine Record.

The viceroy, Lord Curzon, says that the famine had affected a quarter of the population of India, and that 2,000,000 were still receiving relief. He expressed the hope that in a month these would return to their homes. He said that 500,000 deaths were traceable to the famine, and that the loss of crops was £50,000,000, plus some millions for loss of cattle. It would never be known how many were affected by the calamity among the hill peoples and wandering tribes, while the alms distributed were unprecedented. He said the cotton crop was worth £13,000,000 on the ground.

The deputies started for the jail with the elder and a crowd followed, throwing stones and clubs. Deputy Sheriff Bell and Kessler were struck by stones and severely injured. They reached the jail and Kessler was locked up and several deputies placed on guard. A crowd soon collected around the jail, while other crowds are scouring the city for the hidden elders, equipped with tar and feathers.

SLAIN BY THE EMPRESS.

Former Chinese Minister at Washington Has Been Beheaded.

When the empress dowager supplanted the emperor two years ago he was banished to Nebradoo, but through the intervention of the American and British ministers his punishment was commuted to banishment in the distant province of Kashgaria. The empress dowager, taking advantage of the late reign of terror at Peking and knowing Chang's influence with the emperor, ordered his execution by decapitation.
