

THE REALM OF FASHION.

New York City.—The waist with bolero effect and narrow full front is very generally becoming and is essentially smart. The attractive May

WOMAN'S FANCY WAIST.

Mantion mode illustrated is made from veiling in Russian blue trimmed with Russian lace, with front and under sleeves of embroidered chiffon. But the style is appropriate for almost all the seasons materials, abstracts wood crepe, harege, crepe, foulard and all the long list of soft silk and wools. The fitted lining closes at the centre front and consists of the usual pieces. On it are arranged the seamless back, the soft fronts and the full vest, which last is attached permanently to the right side and is hooked into place at the left. The fronts are extended to form the revers which meet the sailor collar that is joined to the neck, and the trimming is arranged to give a bolero effect. The sleeves are made over a fitted lining to which the full undersleeves are attached, the upper portions using an-may be done in applique. It is not well to have the flower designs on the bolero contrast decidedly with the background, the best results being obtained when the flowers and ground-work are in harmony.

To Freshen Up Old Crapes.
First unpick all stems and rub dust off with an old silk handkerchief. Then wind loosely around a broom handle, being careful that each piece is kept flat. Pin and lay the stick across a boiler half full of boiling water and let it steam for three or four hours, turning the stick occasionally so that each part may be thoroughly steamed. When done, rest the ends of the handle on two chairs so that nothing shall touch the crapes and let it stay the next day.

A Garland of Roses.
Trim your flat plateau of black chiffon or mousseline de soie with a garland of yellow roses. The common Scotch rose looks well. With a disk-shaped hat covered with black lace try a wreath of Marechal Niel roses with buds and the proper foliage. This makes a piece of millinery which will look cool on the hottest day of mid-summer. The spray or branch of yellow roses is also desirable if you do not wish an entire wreath.

The Open Circle.
In place of the square on the high rectangle, or oval shapes, we now buy circles of metal to thread with velvet or silk ribbon. These are worn differently at the throat or wrist, or as a trimming for the belt. The open circle is desirable for a "slide." It will also be seen on some of the new straw hats. Avoid the use of large buckles in millinery; if you can provide yourself with a small buckle.

The Milliners' Inclination.
Milliners incline to the use of two-tone or changeable taffeta ribbons for garnishing spring hats and bonnets.

SHIRT WAIST OF LATE DESIGN.

ished separately and slipped over the whole. As shown the lining beneath the full portions is white silk, but, if preferred, the foundation can be cut away leaving them transparent and allowing glimpses of the wrists.

To cut this waist for a woman of medium size three yards of material twenty-one inches wide, two and one-half yards, twenty-seven wide or one and one-half yards forty-four inches wide will be required, with one yard of chiffon, three-quarter yard all over lace and three-quarters of insertion to trim as illustrated.

Woman's Shirt Waist.
The shirt waist made with perpendicular bands of trimming is a well deserved favorite. It tends to produce the tapering long waist that is so fashionable and gives the effect of an exceedingly dressy blouse, while in reality, it is simplicity itself. The May Mantion example shown in the large engraving is peculiarly satisfactory and is adapted to all plain materials, silk, wool, cotton and linen. The original is of white batiste with trimming of valenciennes lace insertion and is unlined, the material being cut away beneath the lace. The waist is fitted by means of shoulder and under arm seams. The trimming is in modified bishop style, but open after the manner of the regulation shirt waist, and are finished with narrow stiff cuffs after the latest style. At the neck is a stock of the material, but a linen collar or ribbon can be substituted when preferred.

To cut this waist for a woman of medium size, three and five-eighths yards of material twenty-one inches wide, three and three-eighths yards twenty-seven inches wide and two and five-eighths yards thirty-two inches wide or one and seven-eighths yards forty-four inches wide will be required.

Summer Coats of Fausse Silk.
White cloth skirts are very much in the mode and will continue so until far into the summer. They are usually worn with white silk blouses and handsome stons, the stons of colored panne or cloths. Some of these stons are richly embroidered in oriental colorings, poppies or huge proportions being a favorite decoration. If one is at all skillful the embroidery may be done at home, and if there is not time to embroider the flowers solidly they

What could be more dainty than the changeable pale greens and dull raspberry pinks in these sheeny tafetas?

Woman's Princess Skirt.
The princess skirt makes a marked feature of the season's styles and bids fair to be exceedingly popular. It is graceful. It gives a slender effect. It combines with the short bolero to a nicety. It does away with the necessity for a belt. With it is free from many of the dangers and drawbacks of the princess gown. The May Mantion model shown has many advantages. It is simply shaped with five gores and can be so fitted with ease. It includes the graduated circular flounce at sides and back which means grace without any lessening in apparent height, but can be made without if so preferred. The original is made from cream serge, with trimming of fancy applique and is designed for wear with dainty shirt or full peasant waists, but all dress materials are appropriate for indoor wear and all suitings for the skirt in combination with the popular short Eton.

The skirt is carefully shaped and fits snugly about the hips the fullness at the back being laid in an inverted pleat, that it stitched flat some distance below the waist line. The bodice portion is cut with extreme care and is shaped on lines that are found to be most becoming. The flounce is narrower where it joins at the front and widens at the back where it falls in soft folds and forming a dem train. The closing is effected invisibly in centreback with hook and eyes that extend below the waist as far as the stitching.

To cut this skirt for a woman of medium size eleven yards of material twenty-one inches wide, nine yards twenty-seven inches wide, or six yards forty-four inches wide will be required.

TRADE HOLDS STEADY.
Demand is Strong in the Iron and Steel Business, and There is a Better Tone all around.

Dun's "Weekly Review of Trade" says: While the general business world has looked with amazement at the performance of the stock market, trade has maintained its even course, and there are many more points of gain than of loss. No sign of lessening demand is perceptible in any branch of the iron and steel industry. Mills are accepting contracts for the closing months of the year, and there is every indication that 1901 will surpass all records in the quantity of pig iron consumed by manufacturers. Though capacity has been wonderfully enlarged during the past few months, there are still many extensions and new plants contemplated. It is also probable that the customary summer repairs of furnaces and mills will be accomplished within a shorter period than usual, as contracts call for heavy deliveries right through the season. Permanence of prosperity in this industry is becoming more certain as there is less evidence of inflated prices. Regular quotations have not altered, except for bars and foundry pig iron, although all sorts of premiums are paid where prompt shipment is required.

Wheat, including flour, shipments for the week aggregate 4,098,693 bushels, against 4,494,035 bushels last week, 3,830,993 bushels in the corresponding week of 1900, 3,281,800 bushels in 1899 and 3,778,729 bushels in 1898. From July 1 to date this season wheat exports are 155,821,428 bushels, against 151,018,613 bushels last season and 188,348,800 bushels in 1898-99. Corn exports for the week aggregate 2,900,541 bushels, against 3,052,943 bushels last week, 4,361,591 bushels in this week a year ago, 3,724,954 bushels in 1899 and 3,557,000 bushels in 1898. From July 1 to date this season corn exports are 148,538,703 bushels, against 160,213,206 bushels last season and 131,289,673 bushels in 1898-99.

Business failures in the United States for the week number 188, against 189 last week, 182 in this week a year ago, 190 in 1899, 229 in 1898 and 222 in 1897. Canadian failures number 29, against 28 last week and 25 a year ago.

Bradstreet's says: It is hard to see how iron and steel trade conditions could be improved from the standpoint of the seller. Demand is large, prices are strong and in raw and finished lines the outlook is regarded as very satisfactory. The advances have been largely confined to finished products, the features being an advance of $2 per ton in plates at Chicago, and of $4 in steel hoop prices at Pittsburgh.

Species of Salt Water Fishes.
The number of species of fishes living habitually in the salt waters of the world can only be approximately estimated, probably about 10,000. Those classed as "shore fishes" live as a rule close to the surface and near the land, and are well known to the salt water angler in his outings as the weakfish, striped bass, kingfish, etc. Of the shore fishes there are about 4,000 species. The "pelagic fishes" or those which inhabit the upper waters of the seas, are relatively few in number. The "deep-sea fishes," which live in depths varying from 200 to 2,500 fathoms, cannot be even approximately estimated, as new species are being constantly discovered.—Field and Stream.
