ASLEEP ON RAILROAD.

Lewis Gire Delp Met a Horrible Death on Thursday Night.

Lewis G. Deip, of Sandy Valley, was killed by the eastbound night express on P. R. R. about one mile east of Rey-noldsville Thursday night, April 25th. The train is due here at 9:35 p. m., but it was a half hour late Thursday night and was running 35 to 40 miles an hour when the engine struck Delp, who was lying across the track asleep. The en-gineer did not see the man on track un-til within two car lengths of him and he til within two car lengths of him and he could not stop his train. The body was put in baggage car, brought back to Reynoldsville and put in baggage room until morning. The body was so terribly mangled—the head was savered from body—that even the friends of Delp did not know positively who it was until they found a letter in his pocket with his name on it. The body was taken to Priesters' undertaking rooms Friday morning and prepared for rooms Friday morning and prepared for purial and Saturday morning moved to his late home near Valley and on Sunday was buried in the Smith cemetery. Funeral services were held in the M. E. church at Sandy Valley Sunday forenoon, conducted by Rev. J. C. McEntire.

Lewis Delp was the son of Lewis Q. and Mary Delp. He was born December 7, 1808, making him 32 years, 4 months and 19 days old at time of his death. He leaves a wife and three small children in destitute circumtances. Delp, who was a woods was a strong man and a good worker, but he spent most of his hard earned money for whiskey. Thursday evening he sold or pawned his watch to Peter Baum for $4.00 and had been drinking before starting for home. It was re-ported around town Friday that he had a big roll of money Thursday evening and that two men had followed him up the track that night, and that there was a possibility he had been murdered and placed on the track to cover up the crime. All the money Delp had was and he spent that freely before starting for home. Several weeks ago Deli started home with two men from Valley and he laid down on the twice that night and had it not been for his companions would have met the same fate he did Thursday night.
