J. H. Hughes, the undertaker, has purchased a hearse, which is certainly the finest hearse in this section. Mr. Hughes bought a pretty team of white horses and a new set of black harness and when the white horses and new hearse stood in front of Hughes' undertaking establishment Thursday morning to have a picture taken, passersby could not help but admire the turnout. yet not one person expressed a desire to ride in the new hearse. Mr. Hughes has also bought a lowering device which is away ahead of the old way of lowering caskets into the grave. The fact of the matter is Mr. Hughes has a modern undertaking establishment. He was reported in town that a boiler had has only been in the business a couple of years, but he is a pleasant gentleman, notwithstanding his grave business, and has become well known in this section.

On the first page of this issue will be found a picture of Mr. Hughes' new rig. The gentleman standing in front of the building is Mr. Hughes and the dignified looking fellow on the driver's seat is George Geisler.

Two New Voting Places.

At the April term of court Judge Reed appointed James B. Caldwell, Edward C. Burns and Dr. J. W. Foust as commissioners to inquire into the propriety of dividing Winslow township into new election districts. The commissioners have performed the work for which they were appointed and will make the following report to the court at the August term: That the township be divided into five districts with five voting places. The two new voting places are to be established at Sykesville and Soldier. The other three are to be at the same old places, Rathmel, Sandy Valley and the election house near J. J. Sutter's residence. Some of the Paradise people who now vote at the election house near this place will be in the Sykesville district. and some who have been voting at Rathmel will be in the Soldier district.

Handkerchief Bazaar.

The ladies of the Baptist church will hold a handkerchlef bazaar on Thursday, May 30th, in the opera house block from 10:00 a. m. to 10:00 p. m. There will be on sale handkerchieves of all kinds and sizes, aprons, dust caps and other useful articles, all at very attractive prices. Ice cream and cake, coffee and sandwiches will be served. Everybody welcome.
