

THE REALM OF FASHION.

New York City.—The silk bodices, lace trimmed, is in the height of style and is eminently well suited to both afternoon and evening wear. The chic

FANCY SHIRT WAIST.

May Manton model illustrated is both simple and elegant and is suitable alike to the odd bodice and the entire costume. The original is of white taffeta with cream guipure lace and is designed for wear with odd skirts, but Louise silk, crepe de Chine, panne and all the soft-finished silks are suitable, while countless materials might be suggested for the entire costume. Wool crepe is charming, etamine is fashionable. Albatross is much used and both linen and cotton materials of the finer sorts are in every way appropriate with trimming or needlework or lace as preferred.

The foundation is a fitted lining. On it are arranged the tucked vest front, the fronts proper and the back. The front is tucked to yoke depth and falls in soft folds below and the fronts proper are laid in three tucks each at the shoulders and drawn in slight gathers at the waist line. The lace trimming is cut in points and arranged to give a section or trimming. The material is transparent or nearly so, and looks as if it would go to pieces in the wash. What is the surprise of the possessor to see the fine collar return from the wash as good as new, without a weak or worn spot and as fresh as possible! Of course, the collar was not thrown into the tub of other household linens, but washed separately with warm, not hot, water and a lather of soap.

Lining Laces.

A new touch of elegance refers to the emplacements of lace which trim our sleeves and bodice. Instead of showing through the meshes of the lace the pieces are lined with either silk or linen of the same shade as the lace—beige, cream, ecru or string color, as the case may be. This looks rather cooler than if the color of the dress, presumably darker, showed through the interstices. It is considered rather more distinctive than if the lace were used over a "transparent."

The Small Boy's Waistcoats.

The vests of waistcoats of the small boy are gorgeous to behold. He may be as much of a little dandy as may be in red waistcoats of different designs, with red buttons of not only a different design, but different shade of red; there are tan waistcoats, all of these double-breasted, and little single-breasted waistcoats of white.

A Necessary Factor.

Narrow velvet ribbons and headings, in both black and white, have come to be such a necessary factor in nearly all summer gowns that it is scarcely possible to find a gown whose component parts they do not enter.

Woman's Tucked Shirt Waist.

The tucked shirt waist has an extended vogue, and is a well deserved favorite for all the thinner washable materials as well as for Albatross, wool crepe, similar wool fabrics and soft, simple silks. The May Manton walstcoat effect that is quite novel and smart. The sleeves are in bishop style with deep pointed cuffs of lace and the stock collar, also of lace, finishes the neck.

To cut this waist for a woman of medium size four yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, three yards thirty-two inches wide or one and five-eighths yard forty-four inches wide will be required, with seven-eighths yards of all-over lace to trim as illustrated.

Woman's Jacket.

The all-around, useful jacket that can be slipped on over any gown is essential both to comfort and correct dress. The original of the jaunty May Manton model illustrated in the large drawing is made of black cheviot, self-faced and tailor stitched, but black broadcloth and tan covert and mixtures are equally appropriate for the purpose, while the design is adapted also to the picturesque golf coat in red with green facings.

The fronts are fitted with single darts and are rolled back to form the revers. The back includes a centre seam, and broad under-arm gores and laps over below the waist line in regulation coat style. The neck is finished with the latest style collar that suggests the Aigon, but is turned down and meets the revers. The sleeves are two-seamed and flare over the hands, the outer seam being left open a few inches at the lower edge. As shown the jacket is worn open and reveals the waist beneath, but when desired it can be closed, either in the centre below the short revers or diagonally to the neck as preferred.

To cut this jacket for a woman of medium size two and a quarter yards of material thirty-two inches wide, one and seven-eighths yard forty-four inches wide or one and five-eighths yard fifty inches wide will be required.

Turn-Over Shoulder Collar.

more in demand than now is over shoulder collar of fine with insertions of needlework. Some are expensive, others reasonable. The collar with tiny lace requires no in-model shown is exceptionally becoming and eminently smart. The original is made of white linen lawn and is unlined, but all cotton and linen waisting materials are appropriate made in a similar manner, while wool and silk are eminently satisfactory made over the fitted lining. As illustrated the waist is worn with a collar of the material, stock, tie and belt of Liberty satin. The fronts are laid in narrow arms-eyes, the first three being continued to the waist line while the remainder are left free at pointed yoke depth to form soft folds below.

The sleeves are in bishop style tucked from the shoulders to within a few inches of the wrist, where they are let to form becoming puffs. The wrists are finished with straight pointed cuffs that lap over at the seam. At the neck is a deep straight collar finished with turn-over, or projection, portions.

AN INDIAN IN THE NAVY.

Chapman Schenandoah, an Oneida, is a Member of the Crew of the Atlanta.

To the United States cruiser Atlanta belongs the distinction of having in its crew Chapman Schenandoah, the only American Indian in the navy. He is an Oneida, and was born on the reservation twenty-nine years ago. He is the grandson of Schenandoah, "The Deer," who, in his day, was one of the most notable men of his tribe. At the age of eighteen Schenandoah could neither read nor write, but had a natural talent for mechanics, and after he had seen a steam engine for the first time he went to his home and built one out of such material as he could find. He became a student at Hampton Institute and after seven years of work was graduated, but remained at Hampton as an assistant in the machine shop.

When the war with Spain broke out he enlisted in the navy and served at first as a fireman on the San Francisco and later on the New York under Captain Chadwick. He was mustered out of the volunteer service when the war was over, but re-enlisted at once and was assigned to the Atlanta, on which vessel he is at present.

The Indian sailor is described by his friends as a fine, stalwart fellow of whom his tribesmen have good cause to feel proud.—New York Herald.

Cup Defenders Worthless for Cruising. Very few people realize how utterly worthless for all purposes except racing is the ordinary cup defender. As a matter of fact craft of this kind are not entitled to be called "yachts" at all. They are racing machines pure and simple. This year, more than ever before, they have reached the limit.

The two boats now being built to defend the cup are enormously expensive to construct, equally costly to keep in commission and worthless for cruising purposes or for any of the uses to which the ordinary yacht is put. They have no cabin room and require enormous crews. We print herewith a midship section of the Independence, showing the interior of the Boston cup defender in her widest and deepest part. Here there is not room for a man to stand up below the deck.

The distance between the floor of the yacht and the deck is hardly more than a man's height. This, however, would not be so bad if it were not for the braces and cross beams which cut up the interior of the yacht from stem to stern. Steel braces cut up the cabin room at angles of forty-five degrees every few feet. It is impossible for two men to walk abreast inside the yacht anywhere between the bow and stern.

Under these circumstances the construction of a cabin or of comfortable quarters for the crew is impossible. All that the inside of the modern racing machine is good for is, therefore, to store spare sails, blocks, spars, tarpaulins, etc. With a boat of this kind, requiring a large crew, it is impossible to go on a cruise, no matter how much her sail area may be reduced, for there would be no comfortable quarters below deck.

The old fashioned yacht, on the other hand, was most comfortable for the owner and his guests and the crew, and indeed the pleasantest part of the craft was below deck, where a cozy cabin with ample room afforded every facility for enjoyment of life.—New York Herald.

Truth Will Out.

A bookstall clerk at a big London terminal was recently deputed to write a label for a bundle of detective stories. The label was duly written and affixed to the books. It was then discovered that intending purchasers were informed that the books consisted of "Defective stories by well-known writers."

Gray Hair

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for over thirty years. It has kept my scalp free from dandruff and has prevented my hair from turning gray."—Mrs. F. A. Soule, Billings, Mont.

There is this peculiar thing about Ayer's Hair Vigor—it is a hair food, not a dye. Your hair does not suddenly turn black, look dead and lifeless. But gradually the old color comes back,—all the rich, dark color it used to have. The hair stops falling, too. $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

Up-to-Date Methods of Escovites.

According to a St. Petersburg correspondent Russia is taking up the question of wireless telegraph with remarkable energy, and the successful results of the Popoff system have induced the Minister of Marine to further extend its use. Accordingly now all lighthouses in the Black Sea will be provided with Popoff apparatus and will on one hand be able to communicate with the coast, and on the other with the warships in the immediate vicinity. Recently 200 complete pieces of apparatus were shipped to Vladivostok and Port Arthur in order to fit out the Russian warships in the Pacific with wireless telegraph, and, further, to connect the two towns mentioned by means of stations along the Korean coast.

It is expected in the near future oranges will be grown in Washington as palatable as those of Florida. The trees are now bearing, but the fruit will not be ripe until fall, so the real flavor cannot be determined. The experiment has been carried on by H. J. Weber, an expert in plant breeding who obtained hybrid from 12 of the hardest oranges known in the world, and the prospects are promising.

Preliminary reports of the Austrian census taken on December 31 last give the population of Austria as 26,107,304 and that of Hungary as 20,293,531. The total population of the Empire, including Bosnia and Herzegovina, is probably about 47,000,000, an increase of a little over 9 per cent since 1880. The population of Vienna is 1,635,447 and that of Budapest, 729,383.

It is wise to keep Garfield Headache Powders on hand, they are good for so many common ailments—headaches, neuralgia, nerve, sleeplessness, sick stomach, etc. They cure but never harm. Give them a trial.

Fate of a Once Powerful People.

In a dozen years more the Ava-Supis, the most interesting primitive tribe in the southwest, will probably have disappeared from the face of the earth, writes a correspondent in the New York Post. The tribal traditions have it that there were once over four thousand five hundred Ava-Supis, and that they were worthy antagonists of the war-like Apaches. Now there are less than one hundred and twenty, and they are miserably poor and pitifully uncomplaining amid their misfortunes. Kit Carson believed there were about three thousand Ava-Supis when he scouted in the Southwest in the 40's. Formerly the tribe had great bands of horses and herds of cattle and were peaceful masters of Northern Arizona, except where the more powerful and war-like Navajos ranged. Now the dejected survivors live in a narrow canon made by erosion among the sandstone rocks, about sixty miles northwest of William station, on the Santa Fe railroad.

Bad Breath

Undigested, decaying food remnants, in the mouth and stomach, giving off pestiferous gases, are the cause of that awful breath, so repulsive as to cause a halt in friendship, affection, love,—any form of intimacy. Nobody can stand its overpowering stench, and it is a cause of terrible misery to those afflicted and their dear ones. There is only one way to cure it—disinfect the digestive canal with CASCARETS! Clean it out, keep it clean, let CASCARETS stimulate the lining of mouth and stomach, and put it in shape to work naturally and properly. Nothing but CASCARETS will bring about the desired result. BE SURE YOU GET THEM!
