ANNUAL EXCURSION.

State Editorial Ass'n Visits Pan-American.

A VERY DELIGHTFUL OUTING.

Sights at the Exposition, including The Midway—Trip to Niagara Falls.

The twenty-ninth annual outing of the Pennsylvania State Editorial Association was held at Buffalo, N. Y., the first week in June. The headquarters of the association was at the Alcazar, a new hotel erected a half block from the main entrance to the exposition. Tuesday morning Mark Bennett, superintendent of the press department of the Pan-American Exposition, met the editors in the parlors of the Alcazar and issued yellow passes to each member, good for entrance to grounds. The yellow card was also good for admittance to most all the Midway attractions. After receiving the passes the wielders of the quill started out to take in the much-talked-of and well advertised Pan-American Exposition.

It was our intention at first to write up the exposition in detail, but when we visited the big show and began to comprehend the magnitude of the undertaking and the amount of space it would require to print it, we immediately abandoned the thought of a general write up and will merely give a few facts about it, for we cannot pen a true idea or conception of the marvelous splendor of the exposition, electric fountains, etc., etc. These things must be seen to be appreciated. The grounds are beautifully laid out, and to see the exposition in all its architectural grandeur, one must go to the Triumphal Bridge, the sumptuous entrance to the Esplanade, and from that point, in all directions, you behold the beautiful buildings, which show the originality of effect so well carried out. The architecture is strictly American, and "yankee" genius has surprised the world. There are twenty large buildings for exhibits and eighty smaller ones situated on the three hundred and fifty acres of ground which the exposition covers. All the buildings present a view of appropriate decoration, with Spanish tints predominating. The color effect is harmonious. If you walk down the Esplanade where, it is claimed, 250,000 persons can find standing room at one time, you approach the Electric Tower, which is the finest structure on the grounds. The tower is 350 feet high. In front of the tower is the Grand Basin and the Court of Fountains. From a niche in the tower, 55 feet above the basin, a mighty torrent of water makes two leaps to the cascades where it bursts into sprays. The beauty of the scene is shown in the jets which throw back the water toward the niche and other jets spurt it high in the air. At night the colored electric lights convert it into showers of precious stones. The electric tower is illuminated with incandescent lamps—it is one mass of light. There is where you see the beauty of the display of electricity. It is beyond description. It is a sight worth visiting the Pan-American to see. All the power for generating the electricity and operating the machinery at the exposition is received from the stupendous power of the mighty Niagara Falls, which is 20 miles from Buffalo.

While all the exhibits were not ready for show when we were at the Pan-American, yet there was enough to keep a person busy for a month, and make their eyes tired, if they examine everything carefully. The Machinery and Transportation building, Electrical building, Manufacturer's and Liberal Arts building, and Agricultural building will require considerable time if you attempt to look at everything on exhibition in those buildings.

Wednesday afternoon the editorial party was taken to Niagara Falls by trolley line as guests of the Exposition Association, thanks to Mark Bennett. It was a most delightful trip, one that will not soon be forgotten by the editors. At the Falls a change of cars was made and the party was taken over to the Canadian side, up to the Horseshoe Falls, and after a few minutes stop to look at the beautiful and majestic scene, the journey was resumed down the celebrated George route to Queenston, where we crossed the river and made the return trip up the American side, close to the water's edge, past the whirlpool, rapids, etc.

Persons who visit the Pan-American that have never seen Niagara Falls, should not miss a trip to the Falls and the trolley ride down to Lewiston and back.

THE MIDWAY.

We visited the Midway, and with one or two exceptions, took in all the attractions in that noisy section of the exposition. There are 35 attractions on the Midway, but some of them were not open when we were there. We mention a few of the attractions.

"A Trip to the Moon" on the airship "Luna" is one of the most novel and pleasing features on the Midway. This unique trip is free from all discomforts of usual or commonplace travel. We reclined in an easy chair and listened to sweet strains of music while "Luna" soared off into boundless space. When within about 75 miles—more or less—of the moon, A. T. Blag was so enthused with the pleasure of the trip that he came near losing his equilibrium and falling overboard. Guides met our excursion party on the landing dock and showed us to the wonderful underground city of the Moon, with its palaces and shops and hordes of queer people and then on to the marvelous palace of the "Man in the Moon," where we were welcomed by His Majesty and entertained with a reveal of the "Maid of the Moon." The trip to the Moon will cost you 50 cents.

In the Moorish Palace and Panopticon will be found several hundred magnificent tableaux, wonderfully and marvelously executed, representing scenes and events in every country on the face of the globe. The figures are full life size, the dress, uniforms, and features are the exact counterparts of the originals, whilst the modeling is so artistic that the effect is often startling. It was in this palace that Roman E. Koehler, editor of the Donora American, bumped up against a mirror and politely removed his hat and apologized to the gentleman with whom he had collided—himself.

Chiquita, the smallest living adult, is certainly a curiosity. She is 31 years old, is 26 inches tall, and weighs 18½ pounds. You will find her near Bostock's animal show.

In the Esquimaux village you will find a representation of their everyday life, including sports, dances and ceremonies.

At the "Indian Congress," at head of Midway, will be found 42 different typical tribes of North American Indians. While at the Pan-American the Indians live in their primitive way, in tepees, wickiups and adobe houses, and afford the public a rare opportunity for the study of their traits and characteristics, habits, sports and pastimes, their rites, ceremonies and dances. Their method of warfare is demonstrated in sham battles.

Bostock's Zoological Garden, or trained wild animal show, is one of the best attractions on the Midway. The exhibition given with 18 lions in a steel caged arena in the centre of the large building, is worth the price of admission. The collection of wild animals is very large, and the manner in which some of them are trained is wonderful. There are several large cages of monkeys at Bostock's. Frank J. Black bought a quart of peanuts and spent a half day—at least a half hour—feeding the monkeys. It was at this place we had our first ride on the back of an elephant.

Don't miss Roitair's "House Upside Down." In it you will find original conceptions, including a large and elaborate illusion palace.

In the Japanese village you will get an illustration of life in Japan, sports and amusements. The Japanese actors and actresses give almost continuous performance in the theatre.

In "Venice in America" you will see an illustration of life in Venice, also hear a singing troupe of street musicians from Naples.

Typical scenes of Southern life before the war can be witnessed by visiting the "Old Plantation." There is where you will find the laughing negro.

Space will not permit comment on all the attractions on the Midway, however, the following are worth going to see: Wild Water Sports, Philippine Village and Theatre, Johnstown Flood, Bonner, the trained horse, Hawaiian Village and Theatre, Dreamland, where there is a mirror maze and illusions, Infant Incubator, a drawing attraction, Darkness and Dawn, where you get a glimpse of hades, Hawaiian Volcano, Esau, the missing link. A sacred oasis on the Midway is the great religious spectacular, Christ on Calvary, and a reproduction of Jerusalem.

It will cost about $9.00 to take in the entire Midway.

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility but, "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Only 50c, at H. Alex. Stoko's drug store.

Paradise.

Wanted—A first-class cook at the Gibson and Cochran boarding house.

Mrs. John Dougherty visited relatives at Brockwayville last week.

John M. Strouse and Westover Little were in Indiana county several days last week.

Park Reynolds and Tom Cathers attended Pomona Grange at Content last Wednesday.

Mrs. Kate Kemerer, of Greensburg, visited her aunt, Mrs. Allen Cathers, part of last week.

W. A. Sheesley and sons, James and Fred, were trout fishing part of last week near Scotch Hill.

Mrs. Maria Saxton, of Reynoldsville, passed through Paradise last Thursday on her way to Smithport to visit her son, Thomas.

The following Epworth League officers were elected last Tuesday evening for the next six months: President, Noah Syphrit; 1st vice-president, Jim Rudolph; 2nd vice-president, Ruth Cathers; 3rd vice-president, Susie Dougherty; 4th vice-president, Scott Syphrit; secretary, Millie Sheesley; treasurer, Jim Sheesley; organist, Susie Dougherty.

Ed. M. Hillis is working in Reynolds-ville.

A swarm of bees passed through Paradise last Wednesday.

Lost—Somewhere between the Gibson saw mill and Winslow, a black silk umbrella. Finder will be suitably rewarded by returning the same to Joe Cochran.

The farmers of this community are busy plowing for buck-wheat.

Quite a number of the Hornstown people attended the public sale near Hazen on Friday.

A Good Thing.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in medicine. It quickly cures Coughs, Colds and all Lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price, 75 cts. For sale at H. Alex. Stoko's drug store. Get Green's Prize Almanac.

Talk about a friend indeed, well, you just tell somebody about Clydesdale Ointment and you can push your feet under the board in his house any old time. Clydesdale binds friendship to stay. Druggists sell it, 25c.
