And the Paper Proves It.

You have only to see Pittsburg Wall Paper to realize that the leading artists of the world conceived and executed these beautiful and decorative ideas. No other line of wall decorations have the uniform excellence of design and color effects. Every pattern is a beautiful work of art. Yet not too fine nor delicate for practical use. No matter what the quality, the same amount of judicious artistic sense has been exercised. The desired effect has always been attained—beauty and utility. The latest thing in headgear for horses is straw hats. It is claimed that the hat protects the horse's head from the heat of the sun. The hats are of the Filipino shape and have openings for the ears. In some places a sponge moistened with water is placed in the crown of the hat. Robinson & Mundorf were the first in this place to put the straw hats on their horses.

Last Wednesday evening the West Reynoldsville school board elected Miss Binnie McConaughy, of Marchand, Indiana county, as teacher for room No. 4, and Miss Florence E. Siggins, of Tidloite, for room No. 3. At a previous meeting Prof. John E. Good, of Smicksburg, was elected principal, and Miss Ethel Stuchell, of Indiana, was elected teacher for room No. 1, and Miss Maude Meek, of this place, room No. 2. This is the corps of teachers for West Reynoldsville schools for coming term.
Operated on Yesterday.
Dr. Howard Kaucher, son of John H. Kaucher, cashier of the First National bank of Reynoldsville, a resident physician in the Philadelphia Hospital of Philadelphia, was taken to the Medico-Chirurgical Hospital last week suffering with appendicitis. This was Howard's fourth attack. Mrs. Kaucher was called to Philadelphia last Wednesday evening on account of Howard's illness. Her son and daughter, Clifford and Laura, accompanied her.
Howard was operated on yesterday. The operation was a success.
Old Timers.
Charles Bardwell, of Bear Lake, Pa., and Elmore Carr, of Broken Bow, Neb., two gentlemen that resided in this neck of woods many years ago and were chums of "Uncle Ed." D. Seeley and some of the other boys of those days, were the guests of Mr. Seeley from Saturday until yesterday afternoon. The jokes and stories of the past, with a few fresh ones added, were retold and after the gentlemen departed "Uncle Ed." felt that he was a younger man than he was when they came. Their visit was an elixir of life to him.
Artists Picnic.
Miss Ella E. Seeley, the artist, and her pupils and a few friends—about a half hundred altogether—held a picnic near Ludwick's mill, Paradise, yesterday afternoon, and we presume the picturesqueness of the grove was sketched by many of the artists. The old mill and mill dam hardly would also likely be an inspiration to some genius in the party. All the picnickers were not artists by a long shot. Some of the party could not draw a picture on paper to save their lives, but they can draw on their imagination. The picnic was a success in every particular.
The Tent Leaked.
Millions, the clothiers, who moved their large stock of clothing from the Reynolds place to a large tent near THE STAR office over two months ago, on account of part of the tent giving out, had to make another move. This time they have moved into the opera house block, where they expect to remain until their new building is ready for occupancy. Rather than move all their clothing to the opera house block, they are selling off a lot of it at auction in the tent. A. H. King, of Erie, is the auctioneer. The auction was started Saturday and it is expected that it will be continued every evening this week.
Bride Wouldn't Say Yes.
A Polish wedding in the Catholic church at Big Soldier was abruptly stopped Monday morning when that part of the ceremony was reached where the bride should say yes. In this case the bride emphatically refused to say yes, and Father Wienker had to stop the ceremony. The woman's reason for refusing to say the all important "yes," was because she did not love the man. The intended groom and friends left the church disappointed, but he evidently was not discouraged and did not give up hope of claiming her as his bride, for inside of an hour they were at the church again, she said "yes," and the ceremony was finished.

Taken to Dixmont.
Jennie Whittaker, seventeen-year-old daughter of Titus Whittaker, was taken to the Dixmont Asylum Monday morning by Overseer of the Poor James Campbell. Mr. Whittaker and Mrs. Frank Hoffman accompanied Mr. Campbell and Jennie.
Got a School in DuBois.
Miss Hannah Stauffer, who has been a teacher in the West Reynoldsville schools a number of terms, was elected last Friday evening by the DuBois school board to fill one of the vacancies in the corps of teachers at that place. Miss Stauffer is an excellent instructor.

Garbage Furnace Needed.
One of the things that Reynoldsville is very much in need of is a garbage furnace, and especially at this time of year. The town has a dumping ground, but that should be abandoned and a garbage furnace erected at once. We believe it would be the business of the Board of Health to look after this matter. If some responsible man was given the exclusive privilege of collecting garbage, he could build a furnace, buy cans and make money at it by charging each person a small amount for hauling the garbage away. This exclusive privilege can only be given by town council. There is complaint now about the present dumping ground, and there is a possibility that the place may have to be abandoned. Why not take some action at next meeting of town council to get a garbage collector and furnace? This is what the town should have, and we believe if the Board of Health and council will give the matter consideration we will get one.
Section 2 of ordinance No. 26, "For the Better Preservation of the Public Health," reads as follows: "No house refuse, offal, garbage, dead animals, decaying vegetable matter or organic waste substance of any kind shall be thrown on any street, road, ditch, gutter or public place within the limits of this borough, and no putrid or decaying animal or vegetable matter shall be kept in any house, cellar or adjoining outbuilding or grounds for more than twenty-four hours."
A garbage collector and furnace would enable the people to obey this ordinance.
Used Dynamite.
An attempt was made early Saturday morning to blow up the store of J. C. Harmon at Penfield with dynamite. The building was only partly wrecked. It will be remembered by the readers of THE STAR that two years ago the 3rd of this month, Harmon killed Ezekiel Hewitt in his store at Penfield, for which Harmon is now serving a term in prison. The DuBois Courier in giving an account of the attempted destruction of the store, says: "A representative of this paper visiting the community found the opinion prevalent that the attempt was a showing of bad blood, resulting from the killing of Ezekiel Hewitt two years ago."
A Gentle Gentleman.
Dr. J. Bell Neff, pastor of one of the large M. E. churches at Oil City, was in town several hours Monday. He was on his way to Sykesville to visit his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abner Reed. Mrs. Neff and other members of the family have been at Sykesville several weeks. Dr. Neff was 48 years old yesterday, but no one would suspect him to be that old were it not for the silvery hairs that are conspicuous. He is an eloquent preacher, a good lecturer, a jovial and genial gentleman. He is younger in spirit than he was 20 years ago.
Office Changes.
The first of the month a change will be made at the P. R. R. ticket and freight offices in this place. C. C. Postlethwait, of Valler, will take O. H. Johnston's place in the freight office. Mr. Johnston goes into the ticket office, and M. J. Farrell, who has been selling tickets for years, will look after the company's interests outside of the office, in the town and surrounding community. Mr. Farrell will still be known as agent. This is a deserved promotion for him and will not be so confining as his work has been in the past.

M. Hurd, whose death was recorded in the last issue of the Herald.—Falls Creek Herald.

A Runaway Locomotive.
Last Wednesday night an engine No. 214 with Thomas Kelly as engineer was coming from the round house to the yards to make up a train, yard engine No. 69 with engineer Hill at the throttle was going out. Both engines were running at from 12 to 15 miles an hour and neither engineer saw the other until the two were within a few rods of each other.
Both reversed their engines, and Kelly, thinking they were coming together, set the air brakes and jumped. The fireman and head brakeman also jumped, leaving the engine without anyone on board. In some unaccountable manner the throttle flew open and the engine started up the track at terrific speed.
The through train from Pittsburg had passed only a short time before and it was feared the runaway engine would overtake and wreck it. An engine was quickly gotten out and started in pursuit, and although it was run at full speed failed to overtake it. Word was telegraphed all along the line, and at Big Run a switch was thrown so as to run it into a siding where it was thought several cars were standing. Soon the engine came thundering along and dashed into the siding, but there were no cars to stop it, and out onto the main track it went again, passing through the siding in perfect safety. At Cramer Station, 11 miles from here the engine came to a standstill, the fire having gone out. No damage was done and no one was injured save the engineer, who sprained his ankle badly.—Punxsutawney Republican.

Ideal Picnic.
The Brookville M. E. Sunday school held a picnic up the North Fork yesterday, and C. C. Benscoter, Esq., superintendent of the school, in speaking to the editor of THE STAR about it before the picnic was held, said: "It will be the most ideal picnic in history. Conveyed in open cars for ten miles in the forest, among blooming laurels and rhododendrons, beds of fern and picturesque hillsides, denuded of their tall timber trees, to a spot on the banks of the North Fork shaded by giant trees in which the Indians basked and drilled their papooses how to shoot."

MET A TERRIBLE DEATH.
Levi Heidrick Instantly Killed by Accidental Discharge of a Gun.
The people of Brookville were thoroughly shocked Saturday afternoon when the news spread through town that Levi Heidrick, a prominent citizen of the county seat, had met a terrible death at his home by the accidental discharge of a shot gun. Mr. Heidrick and R. M. Matson were to leave on the 2:00 p. m. train Saturday for Westboro, Wis., where they have large interests in timber. Mr. and Mrs. Matson had taken dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Heidrick and the ladies were to accompany their husbands as far as Pittsburg, Mr. Heidrick went up stairs after dinner to get a suit of clothes that he had decided to take along with him. There was a shot gun standing behind a trunk, in front of the door of the clothes press that Mr. Heidrick went to get his suit out of, and the supposition is that he took hold of the gun and in lifting it over the trunk the gun was discharged, the contents of gun entering Mr. Heidrick's abdomen, killing him instantly. When Mr. Matson and the other inmates of the house heard the explosion they ran up stairs, but the death angel was there before them. Mr. Heidrick was about 56 years old. He was in the mercantile business at DuBois for a time and afterwards entered into the lumber business. He moved to Brookville eight or nine years ago, having large lumber interests at that place. Some three years ago Mr. Heidrick disposed of his lumber interests at Brookville and then organized, and was a heavy stockholder, in the company that built the large woolen mills at Brookville. Funeral services were held at his late residence in Brookville Monday evening.
Dr. James Conway, pastor of Brookville Presbyterian church, and Rev. J. Vernon Bell, pastor of DuBois Presbyterian church, conducted the funeral services. The attendance was very large. The floral tribute was the largest and finest seen in Brookville for years.
Dr. W. B. Alexander, Fred A. Alexander, Dr. Harry B. King, Alex. Riston, Dr. De Vere King, Dr. John H. Murray, George W. Sykes, Harry Sykes and Miss Agnes Riston, of this attended the services Monday evening. The body was taken to East Brady Tuesday morning for burial.

"The railroad seems to be in a moribund state," remarked one of our citizens the other day. "It is said that when the capitalists who were to back the road learned of the great number of dogs in the place and the extraordinary value placed upon them by their owners, the project was abandoned. It would break up any road to pay for the ones that would get in the way of the cars."—Clarion Republican.
